Railroad Crossover At West Pittsburg Is Being Completed

At a point in West Pittsburg near the underpass that leads to the Garland Manufacturing Company, two major trunk lines are joined now, the Baltimore and Ohio and the New York Central Railroads. The crossover connection which will permit B. and O. trains to run into Pittsburgh over the P. and L. E. is completed and at 12:01 a. m. Monday, service over the crossover will start.

A large gang of workmen is engaged in putting the finishing touches on the mile or more of connecting track, ashes are being tamped under the ties, and the engineers are seeing that the grade established is made uniform. The level of the B. and O. tracks is higher than that of the P. and L. E. but the ascent from the P. and L. E. has been made so gradual that it is imperceptible in places.

Other improvements along with the crossover have been made. The old bridge at West Pittsburg is being eliminated and a bridge is being constructed over the tracks, that will provide proper clearance and a new highway is being constructed back into the main street of West Pittsburgh.

The entire project is a skillful piece of engineering done in unusually short time and links two giant railroad systems together.

POISON FAILS TO END LIFE

Youth Recovering After Announcing He Had Taken Poison Concoction

JOHN L. BAUER

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 28.—Tannic Acid ,a counteracting agent, and a stomach pump, today had foiled the alleged suicide attempt of John L. Bauer, 21-year-old Millvale, Pa., amateur chemist, who laughed at death after he drank a potion of the deadly poison ricin.

The question of why he tried to end his life remained a mystery today. He walked into Relief Hospital Wednesday night and calmly announced he would be dead in 20 hours. He told authorities it was because he lacked funds to go to Brazil to study entomology.

His mother, at her home in Millvale, Pa., said her son had been experimenting for years in an effort to concoct a Ponce De Leon formula against old age. Another son, Martin Bauer, Jr., visited his brother at the hospital.

Relief Only For Those Deserving Roosevelt Says

President Addresses 600 In Washington Assembled For Welfare Work

(International News Service)

This dictum was laid down by President Roosevelt today in addressing the 600 delegates to the 1934 mobilization for human needs who assembled on the south grounds of the white house under the leadership of Newton D. Baker.

The federal giverniment has the duty of public relief only after the communities and the states have exhausted their resources and facilities, the president reminded his audience.

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Sept. 28.—Search for the murderer of little 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher, Detroit, suddenly switched to southern Ohio and Kentucky today as Akron and Detroit detectives left Akron on what they said was the "hottest tip" yet received in the nation-wide hunt.

Police also learned that a couple, answering the same description, later turned up a trucking headquarters here and inquired about getting a ride to Calhoun, Ky.

Detectives admitted they were working on the theory that the pair went to Youngstown from Detroit and, learning from newspapers that the chase was getting "hot", fled that city.

What appears to be a case of incendiarism occurred on the East Side Thursday night when the garage of John Kukkola of 1506 Thorpe street, was burned to the ground and his automobile and a flock of chickens roosting inside the garage were destroyed. The loss was approximately $500.

Mr. and Mrs. Kukkola and their family had retired before 11 o'clock. Shortly before that Mrs. Kukkola said she heard some one tramping along side the house. At 11:30 flames broke out in the garage and in a few moments were beyond any control. Their car had been placed in the garage at 8:30 in the evening.

The fire department was called but could do nothing more than prevent the fire from spreading. The garage and its contents were entirely destroyed by the flames, the remains of the car being merely a pile of twisted smoking metal.

No insurance was carried on the car and the tenants do not know whether insurance is carried on the garage by the owner, John Ukkone, who resides in Simons, O.

Last Day To Register Is Saturday, October 6

One week from tomorrow, Saturday, October 6, is the last day for citizens of New Castle to register to vote at the election on November 6. It will be the third registration day, and those voters who do not register on that day, and who did not register on the previous two days, will be listed as the "Forgeting Voters" on election day.

The election this year is vitally important. Voters of New Castle will cast their ballots for a Governor, a Lieutenant-Governor, a Secretary of Internal Affairs, a United States Senator, a Judge of the Superior Court, a Congressman and a member of the General Assembly.

In addition there is a possibility that the voters may be asked to vote at a special election on a $3,750,000 bond issue project for a municipal light plant. An ordinance is pending in the legislative hopper of city council which would require a vote of the people before it would be passed finally. Voters would have to be registered to vote at any special election called.

New Castle has a potential voting population of about 20,000. Thus far there are not more than 6,000 voters registered. The unregistered vote is more than enough to carry the election if all the 6,000 voted one way.

No tax receipts are needed to register. All a voter does is present himself at the polls at the proper hours and he is registered without any more formality.

Hauptmann Be Tried In New York

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

New York, Sept. 28.—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx has "no definite idea" whether more than one person was involved in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and murder and, he announced today, the matter of when Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the tight-lipped suspect, will be brought to trial "is still undecided."

Hauptmann, glum and as taciturn as ever, was allowed to remain in his cell in the county jail this morning, staring moodily at the bars, as Foley and his assistants continued their examination of persons who might provide information of significance.

The district atorney said that, insofar as he knew, the New Jersey authorities have not yet requested Hauptmann be extradited for trial on the kidnaping and murder charges. But when they make such a request, Foley is ready to turn the prisoner over to Jersey "at once."

At 11:30 flames broke out in the garage and in a few moments were beyond any control. Their car had been placed in the garage at 8:30 in the evening.

The fire department was called but could do nothing more than prevent the fire from spreading. The garage and its contents were entirely destroyed by the flames, the remains of the car being merely a pile of twisted smoking metal.

No insurance was carried on the car and the tenants do not know whether insurance is carried on the garage by the owner, John Ukkone, who resides in Simons, O.

Last Day To Register Is Saturday, October 6

One week from tomorrow, Saturday, October 6, is the last day for citizens of New Castle to register to vote at the election on November 6. It will be the third registration day, and those voters who do not register on that day, and who did not register on the previous two days, will be listed as the "Forgeting Voters" on election day.

The election this year is vitally important. Voters of New Castle will cast their ballots for a Governor, a Lieutenant-Governor, a Secretary of Internal Affairs, a United States Senator, a Judge of the Superior Court, a Congressman and a member of the General Assembly.

In addition there is a possibility that the voters may be asked to vote at a special election on a $3,750,000 bond issue project for a municipal light plant. An ordinance is pending in the legislative hopper of city council which would require a vote of the people before it would be passed finally. Voters would have to be registered to vote at any special election called.

New Castle has a potential voting population of about 20,000. Thus far there are not more than 6,000 voters registered. The unregistered vote is more than enough to carry the election if all the 6,000 voted one way.

No tax receipts are needed to register. All a voter does is present himself at the polls at the proper hours and he is registered without any more formality.

Football Tonight

The New Castle senior high school football team plays the last home night game of the season at Taggart stadium tonight. The Charleroi class AA team is the opponent. The score will be bulletined by quarters at The News as usual, and progress of the game will be given by phone. The News call is 4000.

Relief Only For Those Deserving Roosevelt Says

President Addresses 600 In Washington Assembled For Welfare Work

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Relief only for those who need it.

This dictum was laid down by President Roosevelt today in addressing the 600 delegates to the 1934 mobilization for human needs who assembled on the south grounds of the white house under the leadership of Newton D. Baker.

The federal givernment has the duty of public relief only after the communities and the states have exhausted their resources and facilities, the president reminded his audience.

Obvious Waste

With obvious reference to charges of waste and inefficiency in the administration of relief, Mr. Roosevelt said:

Suspension of the registrations of McFeaters' four trucks and trailers was asked of the Department of Revenue.

Hunt For Pair In Detroit Case Leads Into Ohio

Believe Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich May Be Headed For Kentucky

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Sept. 28.—Search for the murderer of little 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher, Detroit, suddenly switched to southern Ohio and Kentucky today as Akron and Detroit detectives left Akron on what they said was the "hottest tip" yet received in the nation-wide hunt.

A truck driver early today told police here that late last night he gave two hitch-hikers, closely fitting the descriptions of Merton W. Goodrich and his wife of Detroit, suspects in the attack-murder of the Gallaher girl, a ride in his truck.

Police also learned that a couple, answering the same description, later turned up a trucking headquarters here and inquired about getting a ride to Calhoun, Ky.

Detectives admitted they were working on the theory that the pair went to Youngstown from Detroit and, learning from newspapers that the chase was getting "hot", fled that city.

Railroad Crossover At West Pittsburg Is Being Completed

At a point in West Pittsburg near the underpass that leads to the Garland Manufacturing Company, two major trunk lines are joined now, the Baltimore and Ohio and the New York Central Railroads. The crossover connection which will permit B. and O. trains to run into Pittsburgh over the P. and L. E. is completed and at 12:01 a. m. Monday, service over the crossover will start.

A large gang of workmen is engaged in putting the finishing touches on the mile or more of connecting track, ashes are being tamped under the ties, and the engineers are seeing that the grade established is made uniform. The level of the B. and O. tracks is higher than that of the P. and L. E. but the ascent from the P. and L. E. has been made so gradual that it is imperceptible in places.

Other improvements along with the crossover have been made. The old bridge at West Pittsburg is being eliminated and a bridge is being constructed over the tracks, that will provide proper clearance and a new highway is being constructed back into the main street of West Pittsburgh.

The entire project is a skillful piece of engineering done in unusually short time and links two giant railroad systems together.

POISON FAILS TO END LIFE

JOHN L. BAUER

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 28.—Tannic Acid ,a counteracting agent, and a stomach pump, today had foiled the alleged suicide attempt of John L. Bauer, 21-year-old Millvale, Pa., amateur chemist, who laughed at death after he drank a potion of the deadly poison ricin.

The question of why he tried to end his life remained a mystery today. He walked into Relief Hospital Wednesday night and calmly announced he would be dead in 20 hours. He told authorities it was because he lacked funds to go to Brazil to study entomology.

His mother, at her home in Millvale, Pa., said her son had been experimenting for years in an effort to concoct a Ponce De Leon formula against old age. Another son, Martin Bauer, Jr., visited his brother at the hospital.

New York Hears Report Second Arrest Is Made

New Development In Lindbergh Case Is Rumored In New York

NO CONFIRMATION AS YET RECEIVED

Hauptmann Remains In Cell As Probe Of Case Is Being Continued

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.— On the possibility he may know something concerning the passing of Lindbergh ransom money, a man—said to be a friend of Bruno Richard Hauptman—was taken this afternoon to the district attorney's office in the Bronx by a department of justice man, a New York State trooper and a New York City policeman.

This development followed on the heels of a report that a man had been arrested. It was stated at the office of the department of justice, however, that nobody had been arrested —that he merely was to be interrogated.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.— Four Department of Justice agents today were reported to have taken another man into custody in connection with the Lindbergh case.

The arrest was said to have been made at Second avenue and 84th street in Upper Manhattan.

No immediate confirmation of the report could be obtained from police headquarters or the precinct police station in the vicinity.

Residents in the neighborhood were also unable to confirm the report.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

New York, Sept. 28.—District Attorney Samuel J. Foley of the Bronx has "no definite idea" whether more than one person was involved in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and murder and, he announced today, the matter of when Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the tight-lipped suspect, will be brought to trial "is still undecided."

Hauptmann, glum and as taciturn as ever, was allowed to remain in his cell in the county jail this morning, staring moodily at the bars, as Foley and his assistants continued their examination of persons who might provide information of significance.

The district atorney said that, insofar as he knew, the New Jersey authorities have not yet requested Hauptmann be extradited for trial on the kidnaping and murder charges. But when they make such a request, Foley is ready to turn the prisoner over to Jersey "at once."

Trial Date Uncertain

When Hauptmann will be tried in New York on the extortion indictment Foley did not know because, he explained, he must first confer with the defendant's lawyer, James

RICHBERG GIVEN IMPORTANT POST

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt's recovery machinery assumed a closer harmony today with the appointment of a "Recovery Cabinet," succeeding to the belligerent one man rule of Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson.

Besides naming the "Recovery Cabinet," the president created a National Industrial Recovery board, succeeding Johnson's temporary executive board. Members of this latter board represent capital, labor and the consumer.

In creating the "Recovery Cabinet," which he termed the Industrial Emergency committee, the president named Donald R. Richberg, director of the board of six. This committee is charged with the "problems of relief, public works, labor disputes and industrial recovery, together with allied problems of agriculture recovery."

This board, in addition to Richberg, will include Interior Secretary Ickes, Labor Secretary Perkins, Administrator of Agricultural Adjustment, Chester C. Davis; Administrator of Federal Emergency Relief, Harry L. Hopkins, and the chairman of the National Industrial Recovery board.

See Possible Suicide Aim By Hauptmann

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Suspicion that Bruno Richard Hauptmann planned either an attempt to escape from his cell in the Bronx county jail or to commit suicide entered the minds of the authorities this afternoon when it was discovered that the Lindbergh suspect had held out a spoon from his lunch tray. When found, the spoon had been broken into four parts.

Sheriff John Hanley and other jail officials became agitated when they first learned the spoon was missing.

When search of Hauptmann failed to disclose the spoon they called in plumbers.

The plumbers found the spoon cleverly hidden in the simple plumbing fixtures of the cell. The spoon had been broken into four pieces. One piece was shaped in the form of a crude hook. Another piece had been flattened and sharpenede.

Fire Destroys East Side Garage

What appears to be a case of incendiarism occurred on the East Side Thursday night when the garage of John Kukkola of 1506 Thorpe street, was burned to the ground and his automobile and a flock of chickens roosting inside the garage were destroyed. The loss was approximately $500.

Mr. and Mrs. Kukkola and their family had retired before 11 o'clock. Shortly before that Mrs. Kukkola said she heard some one tramping along side the house. At 11:30 flames broke out in the garage and in a few moments were beyond any control. Their car had been placed in the garage at 8:30 in the evening.

The fire department was called but could do nothing more than prevent the fire from spreading. The garage and its contents were entirely destroyed by the flames, the remains of the car being merely a pile of twisted smoking metal.

No insurance was carried on the car and the tenants do not know whether insurance is carried on the garage by the owner, John Ukkone, who resides in Simons, O.

DUAL TRAGEDY LAID TO SCORNED LOVE

Youth Kills Girl And Self

Tragedy Occurs In Washington, Pa., On Thursday Evening — Suitor Rejected

GIRL SHOT DOWN WALKING STREET

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Tales of unrequitted love . . . love that could not be scorned . . . described the tragedy that engulfed the home of 23-year-old Josephine Behner here today

Miss Behner was fatally shot on a street here last night by her rejected suitor, William Ewing, who then took his own life, while she walked in the company of another friend, Robert O'Neil, a boarder at the Behner home. She died from the shotgun wound in Washington hospital this morning.

At the time the tragedy was enacted, constables were seeking Ewing on a surety of the peace charge preferred by the young woman.

Laid In Wait

Ewing, a former bus driver, evidently laid in waiting for the girl he loved, police said. His automobile was parked on a street Miss Behner usually took while going home from work. As she walked along this route, a shot rang out and Miss Behner dropped seriously wounded.

Police said Ewing then jumped into his automobile and drove to another section of the city. Stopping the machine, he walked into the middle of a street, drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his temple.

PRESIDENT NAMES RECOVERY BOARD

dicial phrases of the NRA is still to be appointed. With this board functioning, the president's plan of having his industrial recovery machine under three heads—Administrative, Legislative and Judicial—will have been completed.

The naming of Richberg and Miss Perkins to important posts in the "Recovery Cabinet," brought observers to recall that it was the labor secretary and the former Chicago labor attorney who carried the fight against Johnson's policies to the president. Others in vital posts in the NRA, who offered resignations to Johnson when he demanded "personal loyalty," and who have received new posts under the current setup are Leon Henderson, economic adviser, and Blackwell Smith, legal adviser.

Members Of Board

The members of the recovery board are:

Clay Williams, vice president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, Winston-Salem, N. C., chairman of the department of commerce business advisory and planning council and a member of the NRA industrial Advisory board.

A. D. Whiteside, president of Dun and Bradstreet, and a former assistant recovery administrator, in charge of finance codes.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Association of Clothing Workers, and a member of the Labor Advisory board. He subscribes to the theory of craft unions as opposed to the present federation policy of trades unions.

Leon C. Marshall, economist of Johns Hopkins university, a member on the staff of the Brookings Institution and a former member of the old Wagner Labor board.

Walton Hamilton, law professor at Yale, a Brookings staff member, a member of the Consumers Advisory Council and executive director of the NRA council of nine representing industry, labor and consumers.

Mr. Roosevelt also recognized the work of Henderson, chief of the present NRA Planning and Advisory board, and named him economic adviser to the Recovery board. Smith, who has been acting as NRA legal counsel during Richberg's leave of absence, has been named legal adviser. Henderson and Smith were designated by the president to serve as ex-officio members of the board.

The recovery board is directed by the president's order "to promulgate administration policies, to appoint, employ, discharge, fix the compensation, define the duties and direct the conduct of the personnel necessary for its administration and to exercise all those powers heretofore conferred by executive board upon the administator for industrial recovery."

The board, according to the president's decree, "shall elect from its members a chairman and an executive secretary."

Under the new formation, President Roosevelt hopes to obtain a closer co-ordination of all departmental branches and to eliminate the friction which had developed between Johnson and other members of the president's political family.

NEW YORK HEARS REPORT SECOND ARREST IS MADE

M. Fawcett. The latter has stated he will require at least two weeks to prepare the defense.

Other than Hauptmann there is no other person "definitely under suspicion," according to Foley although he and his men are investigating "all possible leads."

The district attorney submitted to a lengthy interview this morning. It went as follows:

Q.—How many persons, Mr. Foley, are involved in this crime?

A.—I have no definite idea. It could be only one, and it might be that several were involved.

Q.—Federal agents have said a mysterious "stoop-shouldered man" was in St. Raymond's cemetery on the night Dr. John F. Condon, the Lindbergh intermediary, paid over the $50,000 ransom. Did Colonel Lindberg, who was at the cemetery that night, say this "stoop-shouldered man" was there?

A.—Colonel Lindbergh did not say so.

The district attorney was asked if he had said Hauptmann went up the ladder at the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping.

"I did not—I have no reason to believe so," Foley replied.

"Mr. Foley, I told the newspaper men that man could have been Hauptmann."

Foley nodded affirmatively and said: "Yes, it could have been Hauptmann."

Woman In Case?

Q.—Has a woman been involved in this case?

A.—(By Foley). I don't know of any particular woman. We haven't had a clue leading to a woman.

The district attorney said yes, his men were working on the "Hunters Island angle" of the case but "nothing particular has turned up there." It was on this island, in the region of the Bronx, that Hauptmann went on outdoor parties with his men and women friends. The island is being searched for clues.

Q.—Will Hauptmann be arraigned next Monday in West Farms court?

A.—I don't think that will be necessary.

(Hauptmann has been taken to the West Farms court for arraignment and the case put over until October 1, pending action of the Bronx county grand jury. In the meantime the grand jury indicted the prisoner for extortion and, later arraigned, he was held in $100,000 bail.)

District Attorney Foley was asked if New Jersey had requested the extradition of Hauptmann for trial on kidnaping and murder charges.

"In spite of the reports which have been circulated they haven't made any such request as far as I know," Foley replied. "We are working in perfect accord with the New Jersey authorities. I have no information as to when the application will be made. When it is made we will be glad to turn Hauptmann over to New Jersey at once."

Q.—When will Hauptmann be tried in New York for extortion?

A.—I have to talk that over with Defense Attorney Fawcett. However, the trial will be as soon as the best interests of the case dictate.

Examine Gun.

Q.—Where is the gun found in Hauptmann's garage?

A.—It has been sent to the ballistic department for examination.

Q.—Had the gun been fired?

A.—I don't know.

The district attorney was then asked if there were any other persons other than Hauptmann under suspicion. He replied that there was "no definite person" but that all angles were being investigated.

Q.—What is Dr. Condon's status? (The reporters pointed out that there had been many rumors concerning "Jafsie").

A.—He is a citizen witness.

A.—(Emphatically). Certainly not.

State Troopers Are Given Call To Bridgeport

Sheriff Calls State Troopers When Strike Disorders Become Unmanageable

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Sept. 28.—Close on the heels of new outbreaks of violence at the James Lees and Sons Company plant here today Sheriff Haseltine Lever, of Montgomery county, called upon state troopers for assistance.

Today's disorders, like those of the past several days, began when workers attempted to enter the plant despite the strike being waged because of alleged discrimination against employes who walked out of the mills in answer to the National Textile strike call.

Before police dispersed the strikers and strike sympathizers, several persons were severely beaten. None, however, required hospital attention.

Few Enter Mill

Since the operators reopened the mills last Monday, only about 25 workers have entered the plant daily. The mill employs 1800 workers.

Throughout the national textile strike, the Lees' mills were the storm center of violence in the Eastern Pennsylvania sector. Several persons were injured during disorders and state troopers were finally compelled to take over policing of the plant.

When the operators closed the mills, the state troopers were withdrawn.

Throughout last night and early today the homes of several nonstrikers were stoned. Although considerable damage was done, no one was injured, police reported.

Freighter Pulls Through Storm

Coal Freighter Badly Listing From Tons Of Water —Limps Into Port

(International News Service)

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 28.—Dramatic was the account of how 21 men miraculously escaped disaster in one of the most severe autumn gales experienced on Lake Erie in years, unfolded here today when S. S. Saskodoc, 416-foot Paterson Steamship Company coal freighter, limped into the harbor eleven hours overdue, listing so sharply to port that the deck on that side barely cleared the water.

Having fought tempestuous winds and high seas for seventeen hours, the crew was in a state of exhaustion when they finally reached port. More than 100 tons of their 7,500 tons of soft coal had been washed into the lake and several tons of water had found its way into the hold, causing the ship to list at an angle of 25 degrees.

Only the expert seamanship and calmness of Captain Robert J. Wilson, said the crew, had averted what all had believed would be a disaster.

Steering Aparatus Jams

At 1 p. m. yesterday, off Long Point, rough seas caused the steering apparatus to jam.

Huge waves shifted the deck load and caused part of it to wash into the lake. With hatches open, large quantities of water entered the hold, listing the boat to port until its deck was but three feet out of the water.

As his ship began to sink lower and lower in the water, at the same time taking a crazy tilt, Captain Wilson gave orders to have all lifeboats in readiness for a hasty departure. Lifebelts were placed within easy reach of the men, who remained however, at their various posts.

Somebody asks: "Why is it that so many young girls marry old men?" It's because the old men have more dollars than they have sense.

Roosevelt Now Heads Recovery Program In U. S.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Reorganized and shaken up from stem to stern, the battered NRA started off on a new track today with one man still at the helm. But instead of explosive Hugh S. Johnson the single individual who now dominates the recovery ship is President Roosevelt himself.

More than ever before, Mr. Roosevelt has taken it upon himself to direct the course of NRA and determine its policies.

The actual administrative work of NRA will be conducted by a board, drawn largely from existing personnel, but on which there is one new face, that of S. Clay Williams, whose long experience in business and finance is calculated to give business confidence in the board's administration.

Behind the administrative board, however, looms the policy board, made up of and dominated by those who strenuously and, as it proved victoriously, opposed General Johnson's blustery tactics. This board will lay down broad policies, subject, of course, to Mr. Roosevelt's approval. And the director of this board is Donald R. Richberg, who emerges from the scramble of recent months as a sort of supercabinet officer, with more authority, actual and implied, than is possessed by any member of the cabinet.

DUAL TRAGEDY LAID TO SCORNED LOVE

Youth Kills Girl And Self

GIRL SHOT DOWN WALKING STREET

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Tales of unrequitted love . . . love that could not be scorned . . . described the tragedy that engulfed the home of 23-year-old Josephine Behner here today

Miss Behner was fatally shot on a street here last night by her rejected suitor, William Ewing, who then took his own life, while she walked in the company of another friend, Robert O'Neil, a boarder at the Behner home. She died from the shotgun wound in Washington hospital this morning.

At the time the tragedy was enacted, constables were seeking Ewing on a surety of the peace charge preferred by the young woman.

Laid In Wait

Ewing, a former bus driver, evidently laid in waiting for the girl he loved, police said. His automobile was parked on a street Miss Behner usually took while going home from work. As she walked along this route, a shot rang out and Miss Behner dropped seriously wounded.

Police said Ewing then jumped into his automobile and drove to another section of the city. Stopping the machine, he walked into the middle of a street, drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his temple.

dicial phrases of the NRA is still to be appointed. With this board functioning, the president's plan of having his industrial recovery machine under three heads—Administrative, Legislative and Judicial—will have been completed.

The naming of Richberg and Miss Perkins to important posts in the "Recovery Cabinet," brought observers to recall that it was the labor secretary and the former Chicago labor attorney who carried the fight against Johnson's policies to the president. Others in vital posts in the NRA, who offered resignations to Johnson when he demanded "personal loyalty," and who have received new posts under the current setup are Leon Henderson, economic adviser, and Blackwell Smith, legal adviser.

Members Of Board

The members of the recovery board are:

Clay Williams, vice president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, Winston-Salem, N. C., chairman of the department of commerce business advisory and planning council and a member of the NRA industrial Advisory board.

A. D. Whiteside, president of Dun and Bradstreet, and a former assistant recovery administrator, in charge of finance codes.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Association of Clothing Workers, and a member of the Labor Advisory board. He subscribes to the theory of craft unions as opposed to the present federation policy of trades unions.

Leon C. Marshall, economist of Johns Hopkins university, a member on the staff of the Brookings Institution and a former member of the old Wagner Labor board.

Walton Hamilton, law professor at Yale, a Brookings staff member, a member of the Consumers Advisory Council and executive director of the NRA council of nine representing industry, labor and consumers.

Mr. Roosevelt also recognized the work of Henderson, chief of the present NRA Planning and Advisory board, and named him economic adviser to the Recovery board. Smith, who has been acting as NRA legal counsel during Richberg's leave of absence, has been named legal adviser. Henderson and Smith were designated by the president to serve as ex-officio members of the board.

The recovery board is directed by the president's order "to promulgate administration policies, to appoint, employ, discharge, fix the compensation, define the duties and direct the conduct of the personnel necessary for its administration and to exercise all those powers heretofore conferred by executive board upon the administator for industrial recovery."

The board, according to the president's decree, "shall elect from its members a chairman and an executive secretary."

Under the new formation, President Roosevelt hopes to obtain a closer co-ordination of all departmental branches and to eliminate the friction which had developed between Johnson and other members of the president's political family.

NEW YORK HEARS REPORT SECOND ARREST IS MADE

M. Fawcett. The latter has stated he will require at least two weeks to prepare the defense.

Other than Hauptmann there is no other person "definitely under suspicion," according to Foley although he and his men are investigating "all possible leads."

The district attorney submitted to a lengthy interview this morning. It went as follows:

Q.—How many persons, Mr. Foley, are involved in this crime?

A.—I have no definite idea. It could be only one, and it might be that several were involved.

Q.—Federal agents have said a mysterious "stoop-shouldered man" was in St. Raymond's cemetery on the night Dr. John F. Condon, the Lindbergh intermediary, paid over the $50,000 ransom. Did Colonel Lindberg, who was at the cemetery that night, say this "stoop-shouldered man" was there?

A.—Colonel Lindbergh did not say so.

The district attorney was asked if he had said Hauptmann went up the ladder at the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping.

"I did not—I have no reason to believe so," Foley replied.

"Mr. Foley, I told the newspaper men that man could have been Hauptmann."

Foley nodded affirmatively and said: "Yes, it could have been Hauptmann."

Woman In Case?

Q.—Has a woman been involved in this case?

A.—(By Foley). I don't know of any particular woman. We haven't had a clue leading to a woman.

The district attorney said yes, his men were working on the "Hunters Island angle" of the case but "nothing particular has turned up there." It was on this island, in the region of the Bronx, that Hauptmann went on outdoor parties with his men and women friends. The island is being searched for clues.

Q.—Will Hauptmann be arraigned next Monday in West Farms court?

A.—I don't think that will be necessary.

(Hauptmann has been taken to the West Farms court for arraignment and the case put over until October 1, pending action of the Bronx county grand jury. In the meantime the grand jury indicted the prisoner for extortion and, later arraigned, he was held in $100,000 bail.)

District Attorney Foley was asked if New Jersey had requested the extradition of Hauptmann for trial on kidnaping and murder charges.

Q.—When will Hauptmann be tried in New York for extortion?

A.—I have to talk that over with Defense Attorney Fawcett. However, the trial will be as soon as the best interests of the case dictate.

Examine Gun.

Q.—Where is the gun found in Hauptmann's garage?

A.—It has been sent to the ballistic department for examination.

Q.—Had the gun been fired?

A.—I don't know.

DUAL TRAGEDY LAID TO SCORNED LOVE

Youth Kills Girl And Self

GIRL SHOT DOWN WALKING STREET

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Tales of unrequitted love . . . love that could not be scorned . . . described the tragedy that engulfed the home of 23-year-old Josephine Behner here today

Miss Behner was fatally shot on a street here last night by her rejected suitor, William Ewing, who then took his own life, while she walked in the company of another friend, Robert O'Neil, a boarder at the Behner home. She died from the shotgun wound in Washington hospital this morning.

At the time the tragedy was enacted, constables were seeking Ewing on a surety of the peace charge preferred by the young woman.

Laid In Wait

Ewing, a former bus driver, evidently laid in waiting for the girl he loved, police said. His automobile was parked on a street Miss Behner usually took while going home from work. As she walked along this route, a shot rang out and Miss Behner dropped seriously wounded.

Police said Ewing then jumped into his automobile and drove to another section of the city. Stopping the machine, he walked into the middle of a street, drew a revolver and fired a bullet into his temple.

dicial phrases of the NRA is still to be appointed. With this board functioning, the president's plan of having his industrial recovery machine under three heads—Administrative, Legislative and Judicial—will have been completed.

The naming of Richberg and Miss Perkins to important posts in the "Recovery Cabinet," brought observers to recall that it was the labor secretary and the former Chicago labor attorney who carried the fight against Johnson's policies to the president. Others in vital posts in the NRA, who offered resignations to Johnson when he demanded "personal loyalty," and who have received new posts under the current setup are Leon Henderson, economic adviser, and Blackwell Smith, legal adviser.

Members Of Board

The members of the recovery board are:

Clay Williams, vice president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, Winston-Salem, N. C., chairman of the department of commerce business advisory and planning council and a member of the NRA industrial Advisory board.

A. D. Whiteside, president of Dun and Bradstreet, and a former assistant recovery administrator, in charge of finance codes.

Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Association of Clothing Workers, and a member of the Labor Advisory board. He subscribes to the theory of craft unions as opposed to the present federation policy of trades unions.

Leon C. Marshall, economist of Johns Hopkins university, a member on the staff of the Brookings Institution and a former member of the old Wagner Labor board.

Walton Hamilton, law professor at Yale, a Brookings staff member, a member of the Consumers Advisory Council and executive director of the NRA council of nine representing industry, labor and consumers.

Mr. Roosevelt also recognized the work of Henderson, chief of the present NRA Planning and Advisory board, and named him economic adviser to the Recovery board. Smith, who has been acting as NRA legal counsel during Richberg's leave of absence, has been named legal adviser. Henderson and Smith were designated by the president to serve as ex-officio members of the board.

The recovery board is directed by the president's order "to promulgate administration policies, to appoint, employ, discharge, fix the compensation, define the duties and direct the conduct of the personnel necessary for its administration and to exercise all those powers heretofore conferred by executive board upon the administator for industrial recovery."

The board, according to the president's decree, "shall elect from its members a chairman and an executive secretary."

Under the new formation, President Roosevelt hopes to obtain a closer co-ordination of all departmental branches and to eliminate the friction which had developed between Johnson and other members of the president's political family.

NEW YORK HEARS REPORT SECOND ARREST IS MADE

M. Fawcett. The latter has stated he will require at least two weeks to prepare the defense.

Other than Hauptmann there is no other person "definitely under suspicion," according to Foley although he and his men are investigating "all possible leads."

The district attorney submitted to a lengthy interview this morning. It went as follows:

Q.—How many persons, Mr. Foley, are involved in this crime?

A.—I have no definite idea. It could be only one, and it might be that several were involved.

Q.—Federal agents have said a mysterious "stoop-shouldered man" was in St. Raymond's cemetery on the night Dr. John F. Condon, the Lindbergh intermediary, paid over the $50,000 ransom. Did Colonel Lindberg, who was at the cemetery that night, say this "stoop-shouldered man" was there?

A.—Colonel Lindbergh did not say so.

The district attorney was asked if he had said Hauptmann went up the ladder at the Lindbergh home the night of the kidnaping.

"I did not—I have no reason to believe so," Foley replied.

Charles Brodie, one of Foley's assistants, who has been acting as spokesman for the district attorney's office, interjected:

"Mr. Foley, I told the newspaper men that man could have been Hauptmann."

Foley nodded affirmatively and said: "Yes, it could have been Hauptmann."

Woman In Case?

Q.—Has a woman been involved in this case?

A.—(By Foley). I don't know of any particular woman. We haven't had a clue leading to a woman.

The district attorney said yes, his men were working on the "Hunters Island angle" of the case but "nothing particular has turned up there." It was on this island, in the region of the Bronx, that Hauptmann went on outdoor parties with his men and women friends. The island is being searched for clues.

Q.—Will Hauptmann be arraigned next Monday in West Farms court?

A.—I don't think that will be necessary.

(Hauptmann has been taken to the West Farms court for arraignment and the case put over until October 1, pending action of the Bronx county grand jury. In the meantime the grand jury indicted the prisoner for extortion and, later arraigned, he was held in $100,000 bail.)

District Attorney Foley was asked if New Jersey had requested the extradition of Hauptmann for trial on kidnaping and murder charges.

"In spite of the reports which have been circulated they haven't made any such request as far as I know," Foley replied. "We are working in perfect accord with the New Jersey authorities. I have no information as to when the application will be made. When it is made we will be glad to turn Hauptmann over to New Jersey at once."

Q.—When will Hauptmann be tried in New York for extortion?

A.—I have to talk that over with Defense Attorney Fawcett. However, the trial will be as soon as the best interests of the case dictate.

Examine Gun.

Q.—Where is the gun found in Hauptmann's garage?

A.—It has been sent to the ballistic department for examination.

Q.—Had the gun been fired?

A.—I don't know.

The district attorney was then asked if there were any other persons other than Hauptmann under suspicion. He replied that there was "no definite person" but that all angles were being investigated.

Q.—What is Dr. Condon's status? (The reporters pointed out that there had been many rumors concerning "Jafsie").

A.—He is a citizen witness.

Q.—Do you consider him an important witness?

A.—(Emphatically). Certainly not.

State Troopers Are Given Call To Bridgeport

Sheriff Calls State Troopers When Strike Disorders Become Unmanageable

(International News Service)

BRIDGEPORT, Pa., Sept. 28.—Close on the heels of new outbreaks of violence at the James Lees and Sons Company plant here today Sheriff Haseltine Lever, of Montgomery county, called upon state troopers for assistance.

Today's disorders, like those of the past several days, began when workers attempted to enter the plant despite the strike being waged because of alleged discrimination against employes who walked out of the mills in answer to the National Textile strike call.

Before police dispersed the strikers and strike sympathizers, several persons were severely beaten. None, however, required hospital attention.

Few Enter Mill

Since the operators reopened the mills last Monday, only about 25 workers have entered the plant daily. The mill employs 1800 workers.

Throughout the national textile strike, the Lees' mills were the storm center of violence in the Eastern Pennsylvania sector. Several persons were injured during disorders and state troopers were finally compelled to take over policing of the plant.

When the operators closed the mills, the state troopers were withdrawn.

Throughout last night and early today the homes of several nonstrikers were stoned. Although considerable damage was done, no one was injured, police reported.

Freighter Pulls Through Storm

Coal Freighter Badly Listing From Tons Of Water —Limps Into Port

(International News Service)

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Sept. 28.—Dramatic was the account of how 21 men miraculously escaped disaster in one of the most severe autumn gales experienced on Lake Erie in years, unfolded here today when S. S. Saskodoc, 416-foot Paterson Steamship Company coal freighter, limped into the harbor eleven hours overdue, listing so sharply to port that the deck on that side barely cleared the water.

Having fought tempestuous winds and high seas for seventeen hours, the crew was in a state of exhaustion when they finally reached port. More than 100 tons of their 7,500 tons of soft coal had been washed into the lake and several tons of water had found its way into the hold, causing the ship to list at an angle of 25 degrees.

Only the expert seamanship and calmness of Captain Robert J. Wilson, said the crew, had averted what all had believed would be a disaster.

Steering Aparatus Jams

At 1 p. m. yesterday, off Long Point, rough seas caused the steering apparatus to jam.

Huge waves shifted the deck load and caused part of it to wash into the lake. With hatches open, large quantities of water entered the hold, listing the boat to port until its deck was but three feet out of the water.

As his ship began to sink lower and lower in the water, at the same time taking a crazy tilt, Captain Wilson gave orders to have all lifeboats in readiness for a hasty departure. Lifebelts were placed within easy reach of the men, who remained however, at their various posts.

Somebody asks: "Why is it that so many young girls marry old men?" It's because the old men have more dollars than they have sense.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Sarcasm is what you remember you should have said after the other fellow has had the best of the argument and gone home.

Wrote "Jafsie's" Name Here

District Attorney Foley points to place on panel board taken from closet in Bruno Hauptmann's home on which suspect admits he wrote Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon's address and telephone number. Hauptmann explained he was "interested in case like everyone else." Attempt had been made to erase writing. (Central Press)

Roosevelt Now Heads Recovery Program In U. S.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Reorganized and shaken up from stem to stern, the battered NRA started off on a new track today with one man still at the helm. But instead of explosive Hugh S. Johnson the single individual who now dominates the recovery ship is President Roosevelt himself.

More than ever before, Mr. Roosevelt has taken it upon himself to direct the course of NRA and determine its policies.

The actual administrative work of NRA will be conducted by a board, drawn largely from existing personnel, but on which there is one new face, that of S. Clay Williams, whose long experience in business and finance is calculated to give business confidence in the board's administration.

Behind the administrative board, however, looms the policy board, made up of and dominated by those who strenuously and, as it proved victoriously, opposed General Johnson's blustery tactics. This board will lay down broad policies, subject, of course, to Mr. Roosevelt's approval. And the director of this board is Donald R. Richberg, who emerges from the scramble of recent months as a sort of supercabinet officer, with more authority, actual and implied, than is possessed by any member of the cabinet.

Police cars operated in various parts of the city last night in the hope of apprehending drivers who fractured ordinances pertaining to auto laws here.

It is said that about a score were arrested. The machines operated from 4 p. m. yesterday until 6 a. m. today.

Two of the four cars in the department were assigned to watching drivers and to answering other calls.

No New Changes Being Planned

New Industrial Emergency Committee Will Not Make Sweeping Policy Change

RICHBERG MAKES STATEMENT TODAY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28— The country, under the new recovery set up, will be assured against sudden or sweeping changes of policy, Donold R. Richberg, director of the new industrial emergency committee declared today.

Richberg asserted that under the reorganization the NRA will continue to operate as heretofore, with the exception that broad questions of general policy, such as price-fixing, etc., will be determined by the IEC, with the approval of President Roosevelt.

The IEC will determine general policy and the NRA the PWA, the AAA and other recovery units will administer it.

"The most important service the NRA can render at present in my opinion," he said, "is to give the country assurance against sudden, sweeping changes of policy."

DROUGHT IS WASHED OUT

WHAT has become of the drought news? Only a few weeks ago the newspapers and newsreels were full of it. The answer is: Washed out by heavy rains.

Rain; not just a drizzle nor merely a shower, but rain that fills cellars, converts dry creek beds into raging torrents and soaks the soil down to the deepest roots has fallen in the areas which had been drought stricken. So the reader finds flood news where there had been accounts of dust storms, thirsty livestock and desperate farmers.

Rain was a long time coming to the new "Sahara" in the Middle West, but it did not come too late to save their little world for thousands of families. Hope, green fields, some harvested crops, and plans for the future are theirs, where a month or so ago there was only despair.

What capital is to the financier, orders to the manufacturer, votes to the politician and food to the starving body, rain is to the farmer. Frosts, floods, old-fashioned winters and heat he can survive but against drought he is powerless.

The farmer's wish for 1935 is that there shall be no prolonged dry speels and enough growing weather to provide just enough food to meet the demand. That would be Utopia for the tiller of the soil.

MORE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Alarmed by the sharp increase in motor vehicle fatalities and accidents caused by drivers under the influence of liquor, the safety forces in this end of the state are preparing to "bear down" on drunken drivers according to an announcement today by George E. Clarkson, manager of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and sponsors of Everybody's Safety Drive.

In summarizing available records, the National Safety Council, Chicago, of which the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council of Pittsburgh is the local division, estimates that "had been drinking drivers" have increased 20 per cent this year throughout the country as a whole and in the larger cities the increase has been as much as 50 per cent. For the first six months in Pennsylvania, accidents involving drunken drivers increased 70 per cent, there being 912 accidents as compared to 539 during the corresponding period last year.

In order to bring the matter to a head promptly," said Mr. Clarkson, "a very important meeting will be held in Pittsburgh next Wednesday, at which time representatives of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol, the Better Traffic Committee, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, the district attorney, delegations from the Allegheny County Bar Association and the Allegheny County Medical Society, police, traffic officials and traffic court magistrates will get together to work out a plan to obtain convictions.

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council at the present time is engaged in a spirited anti-accident campaign in connection with Everybody's Safety Drive and is asking 'everyone to lend a hand.'

A NEW QUEEN OF THE SEAS

It is a long distance in time and circumstance from the first of the Cunard liners—the Britannia of 1840, with a length of 207 feet and a tonnage of 1154—to the magnificent vessel which was launched on the Clyde this week. Sponsored by Queen Mary, who gave her own name to the ship, contrary to the usual Cunard nomenclature, this rival of La Normandie of the French Line, practically of the same size and presumably of the same speed, is over a thousand feet long, with a gross tonnage of about 73,000. The river was barely wide enough to float her, even with one bank dredged; but the feat was accomplished without a hitch.

Both ships, with every device of construction and of furnishings imaginable, are out to take the blue ribbon of the sea from the Rex, which only lately took it from the German liners Bremen and Europa. It is, perhaps, chiefly a competition in prestige. Doubtless the companies believe that the enormous expenditure will be justified by the event. Yet for some years it has been felt that the day of the huge and costly liners was over and that the fast and almost equally luxurious cabin liners, like the Manhattan, the Lafayette and the Britannic, were the popular ships, not only of the present, but also of the future.

The old Arizona of the defunct Guion Line began the race for the blue ribbon. After her came the Etruria and Umbria, reducing the record to less than six days, and then the City of New York and the City of Paris of the Inman Line, later taken over by the American Line as the New York and the Philadelphia. But none of them, though celebrated in their day, held their supremacy long. Germany entered the contest with great success, and during the last few years Italy joined the race with the Rex and Conte de Savoia.

There is still a question whether these great liners bring as much profit as prestige to their owners. But there must be some profit in them, else they would not continue to be built. It is clear, none the less, that many ocean travelers are not able to afford them. How large is the class than can do this may be demonstrated when the Queen Mary and La Normandie enter the service.

Another sign of perfect health is the relief you feel when you get away from the ailing.

And if men were paid to play golf, they'd soon be striking for 16 holes or something.

Still, the young person you fell in love with probably seemed just as silly to your parents.

Alas! By the time you're old enough to read health advice, you're so shopworn it doesn't help.

After all, wealth just enables you to pay high for some service that a poor man does for himself.

The final proof of veracity is to accept the eager stranger's hand without pretending to remember him.

You can tell a heathen country. It is one where they kidnap missionaries instead of millionaires.

We believe, until Mr. Hoover's magazine article was published, Al Smith held the record for high pay for literary effort. We are curious, therefore, to know the word rate Mr. Hoover received and suppose the information soon will be forthcoming.

CITY CAT IN THE COUNTRY

We took our cat to the high mountains—and at first he didn't like it....What was the idea, anyway, of taking a decent, well behaved city cat into the country, into so many strange sights and sounds and swells. It was outrageous and we ought to be reported to the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals....Such actions. Such unfeeling disregard for his happiness.... He was miserable and he hated us. ....When he was inside the cabin he paced up and down like a caged tiger and insisted on getting out. And when we let him out, he meowed at the door and clamored to be inside again..And that wasn't all, either. It was cold those first days and the wind blew off the mountain tops and it snowed, and all the land was covered three inches deep with funny white stuff. ....When he walked in it he had to lift each hind leg and shake it off before he set in down again and whenever he did that, those human beings laughed at him and his dignity was sorely insulted....Such a business!

But the sun came out and the wind died down and he saw little striped chipmunks on every rock and birds scolded him from the tops of trees and a red headed woodpecker drummed a military march from the dead tree every morning and—that cat came alive again. Speedily he ceased to be a city pussy, and became a mountain cat. A stalking, hunting, contriving, slinking, joyous cat that kept us busy warning chipmunks and little birds that he was on the trail...He didn't like that, either but he accepted it as one of the handicaps of living with human beings....His worst moment was that day when he chased a chipmunk up a tree and it didn't occur to him that HE too, could climb a tree. So he crouched at the base of the tree and swished his angry tail like a dog and did nothing at all but wait for that chattering chipmunk to come down again. And even a baby chipmunk knows better than that.

But now he's happier than he ever was in the city. This, he seems to say, is where I really belong, here among the pines and the granite rocks and the clean, sweet breezes, and I don't care if I never go back to that city of gasoline exhaust and clanging noises and that basement where you shut me up at night.... I'm a happy, hunting predatory mountain cat, I am, and I never want to be a pusillanimous city cat again. Not me!

But, just the same he's going back.

ACCEPT WHAT YOU CANNOT AVOID

You grumble too much over inconveniences.

It is too hot or too cold, or you object to the smell of the new paint.

You object to changes made in your room, forgetting that life is progressive and things wear better if relocated.

Why not be sensible and philosophical and accept what you cannot avoid.

Most of the conditions of which you complain do not amount to much.

You become unnecessarily perturbed.

You wonder at persons who can accept conditions as they come.

You think that one must be too dumb or too prosaic to be affected by anything about him.

Instead he merely exhibits common sense.

He is not knocking his head against a stone wall as you do.

You might get much more out of your life if you were less affected by small, irritating disturbances.

There are so many annoyances in every life that if you permit little things to disturb you, you keep yourself constantly agitated.

The best way to keep cool is to keep calm.

DESPAIR AND DOUBT

Despair and Doubt are failure's men.
They talk of dangers nigh.
Like ghosts they rise before man's eyes
His soul to terrify.
If in his mind he gives them room
They'll shroud his thoughts in ghastly gloom.
They'll steal his courage and his wit
And frighten him before he's hit.

But Hope and Faith are victory's men
Who sing a rousing song.
As best they can they'll cheer a man
And urge him to be strong.
They'll counsel: Pay the battle's cost.
While still you fight you haven't lost!
The fighting heart may gain the cup,
But no one wins by giving up!

So give no space to fretful doubt;
No room to dark despair.
He's friended best in every test
When hope and faith are there.
Despair and doubt make men afraid.
And none fights well when he's dismayed.
But who to hope and faith clings fast

A Great Reporter's Opinion Handwriting Doubtful Evidence Prince Likes American Women

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—One of the greatest reporters of the present time is Damon Runyon. He not only is a great reporter, he is a deep student of human nature, as his very popular fiction stories and motion picture plays attest.

Damon Runyon has covered murder cases for years — the biggest cases.

"Is Bruno Richard Hauptmann guilty?" I asked Runyan casually as I was about to write this column.

Runyon thought a moment, then remarked: "Of the kidnaping itself, I don't know."

"But the handwriting?"

"Handwriting comparisons will not stand up in court. You can get handwriting experts to prove anything—or to disprove anything."

"Hauptmann is a peculiar man, isn't he?"

Runyon assented. "Think of the terrific pressure under which he has been for a week or more while police have questioned him. Not many men could withstand that without cracking."

The whole Lindbergh case, from beginning to end, has bred one unusual figure after another. It has even spread its tragedy — through suicide. It has changed laws, it has made and broken reputations, and now it has reached across the ocean —to Germany.

"Truth," remarks Runyon, great fictionist, "always is stranger than fiction. If the Lindbergh story had been written as fiction, it would have been dismissed as 'incredible' and 'too fantastic'."

PRINCE LIKES AMERICANS

The Prince of Wales is dancing often these days with an American young woman—Mrs. Ernest A. Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson was one of the best known debutanes of Baltimore some years ago. She was of the banker-railroad Warfields. Her friends call her Wally. Her first name is Wallis. Mrs. Simpson, according to her friends, often has explained why. Her parents desired a boy. A girl was born. The parents gave her a name as close to a boy's as possible.

But it is with feminine charm and beauty that the girl who "disappointed" her parents has made great social conquests.

Mr. Simpson is in business in London. Thus, Mrs. Simpson's conquests became international.

At Biarritz, ultra-fashionable French watering place, she apparently is a reigning figure — with a future king inviting her to dance and to tea at his beautiful chateau, Mont-o-Mer.

The Prince of Wales formerly danced with Lady Furness, who as one of the three beautiful and socially prominent daughters of the late U. S. Consul General Morgan, at Brussels, had "Europe at her feet". Her sister married Reginold Vanderbilt, who died leaving a pittance—for a Vanderbilt. Lady Furness occupies a leading place in the social life of Paris.

ITALY

Our advices from Italy are interesting—and reassuring, as to European peace.

Our informant has been a close observer.

Mussolini, realizing the isolated position geographically of Italy, sits boisterously on a fence, playing one country against another—but always making certain that he will be able to continue to sit on the fence.

Italy is in sore straits financially. It is kept going—so the informant says — by "this human dynamo — Mussolini.

Mussolini, however, is his own bookkeeper. No national balances are published. What the state spends, what the state takes in is a secret to everybody except Musselini and the directors of the Bank of Italy.

Some day, of course, there will have to be a reckoning on that—when the budget gets too far out of balance.

* * *

FRANCE

France also is in sore straits. Remaining on the gold standard, with the other large countries of the world off, has been a costly undertaking.

Foreign trade has declined, tourists avoid Paris because of the high cost of the franc and prices, shops are empty.

A more liberal government—probably even a radical cabinet—is likely to gain power.

That new cabinet then would reduce the ratio of gold content in the franc — a compromise against going off the gold standard altogether.

* * *

ENGLAND

England — at least, London — is enjoying prosperity and gay life.

The low cost of the pound brings an influx of tourists.

Shops are doing well, people have an air of confidence.

"Why?" I asked my informant.

"The English have confidence in the stable qualities of English bankers, and of the conservative foresight of those who direct finances," my informant opined.

"Besides," he added, "England had its depression earlier than America —and it put its nose to the grindstone to get out of it."

England, not the United States, remains the great capitalist stronghold. British conservatives are world-minded, and are socially-minded. They will hold power the longest.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Jack Lait, another great American reporter and an authority on the gangster, has just returned from Europe.

He tells of being "surrounded by 19 prime ministers" at the League of Nations who demanded to know what kind of a man Dillinger was. And—they asked, further—would this Huey Long conquer America as he had conquered New Orleans?

TROUBLES OF PACIFISTS.

The Church of England has been thrown into a controversy since it was learned that part of the pension money for retired clergyman is being paid by one of the biggest armament factories in the world, Vickers, Ltd.

It was a shocking discovery to the aged ministers, many of whom had preached hundreds of sermons against war, to learn they were being supported in part by war munitions makers.

It all happened because an institution, taken over by the pension board of the church, owned shares of stock in the Vickers concern amounting to 10,000 pounds. Now the question is, what to do with this armament stock.

It is almost as bad as that "Tainted Money" which threw the American Church into such a furore a few years ago.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28

The World War Day-by-Day—Sept. 28, 1914—German strategy now had three purposes: to take Antwerp and capture the Belgium army, thus preventing a junction of the Belgians with their Allies, and ending attacks on the German rear; to move south through a gap between Lille and the English Channel, taking the Channel ports; and finally to offset the advantages gained by the Allies in the Battle of the Marne by a real victory north of Amiens.

Antwerp was a thorn in the German side that had to be removed. In the days when every German soldier was needed in France, a corps had to be kept in Belgium to protect the German lines of communication from being cut by the Belgian field army in Antwerp. At the moment of the Battle of Charleroi, Belgians made a sortie and almost reached Louvain. Again, while the Battle of the Marne was raging, a second Belgian army had held up German bound for and needed in the south until the critical days of the retreat to the Aisne were passed.

The Germans had to have Antwerp.

Before its forts, in trenches long prepared, stood the whole Belgian field army. All the magic engineers could perform under the conditions had been put into the defenses. All the courage of brave men fighting with their backs to the wall was in the Belgian hearts. But here the superiority of the gun over the fort, of the mechanic over the engineer, was to be demonstrated.

The big guns with which the Germans destroyed the fortifications of Leige and Namur were turned now upon Antwerp. Many of these guns were of the 42-centimeter type, meaning in inches that its caliber (the diameter of its muzzle), was 16½ inches. For a long time Allied officers could not credit that a mobile gun of such power could really exist! The Allies had nothing comparable with them.

This 42-centimeter weapon was like a howitzer, that is, it did not fire its projectile with a fairly flat trajectory as the rifled cannon do, but discharged it by so-called high-angled fire—it was pointed toward the sky and thus sent its shell flying in a great arc. A comparatively small charge was needed, just enough to propel a huge shell through the air. It was not the speed of the shell which did the damage, but the high explosive in the shell itself.

Transportation of howitzers of this size was so difficult that they could be used for seige purposes only, and the original German sweep through Belgium was slowed up because of the necessity of bringing up the howitzers with horses. "Steam wagons," a new kind of automobile, were tried unsuccessfully.

On the 28th, the bombardment of Antwerp was begun.

DROUGHT IS WASHED OUT

WHAT has become of the drought news? Only a few weeks ago the newspapers and newsreels were full of it. The answer is: Washed out by heavy rains.

Rain; not just a drizzle nor merely a shower, but rain that fills cellars, converts dry creek beds into raging torrents and soaks the soil down to the deepest roots has fallen in the areas which had been drought stricken. So the reader finds flood news where there had been accounts of dust storms, thirsty livestock and desperate farmers.

Rain was a long time coming to the new "Sahara" in the Middle West, but it did not come too late to save their little world for thousands of families. Hope, green fields, some harvested crops, and plans for the future are theirs, where a month or so ago there was only despair.

What capital is to the financier, orders to the manufacturer, votes to the politician and food to the starving body, rain is to the farmer. Frosts, floods, old-fashioned winters and heat he can survive but against drought he is powerless.

The farmer's wish for 1935 is that there shall be no prolonged dry speels and enough growing weather to provide just enough food to meet the demand. That would be Utopia for the tiller of the soil.

MORE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Alarmed by the sharp increase in motor vehicle fatalities and accidents caused by drivers under the influence of liquor, the safety forces in this end of the state are preparing to "bear down" on drunken drivers according to an announcement today by George E. Clarkson, manager of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and sponsors of Everybody's Safety Drive.

In summarizing available records, the National Safety Council, Chicago, of which the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council of Pittsburgh is the local division, estimates that "had been drinking drivers" have increased 20 per cent this year throughout the country as a whole and in the larger cities the increase has been as much as 50 per cent. For the first six months in Pennsylvania, accidents involving drunken drivers increased 70 per cent, there being 912 accidents as compared to 539 during the corresponding period last year.

In order to bring the matter to a head promptly," said Mr. Clarkson, "a very important meeting will be held in Pittsburgh next Wednesday, at which time representatives of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol, the Better Traffic Committee, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, the district attorney, delegations from the Allegheny County Bar Association and the Allegheny County Medical Society, police, traffic officials and traffic court magistrates will get together to work out a plan to obtain convictions.

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council at the present time is engaged in a spirited anti-accident campaign in connection with Everybody's Safety Drive and is asking 'everyone to lend a hand.'

A NEW QUEEN OF THE SEAS

It is a long distance in time and circumstance from the first of the Cunard liners—the Britannia of 1840, with a length of 207 feet and a tonnage of 1154—to the magnificent vessel which was launched on the Clyde this week. Sponsored by Queen Mary, who gave her own name to the ship, contrary to the usual Cunard nomenclature, this rival of La Normandie of the French Line, practically of the same size and presumably of the same speed, is over a thousand feet long, with a gross tonnage of about 73,000. The river was barely wide enough to float her, even with one bank dredged; but the feat was accomplished without a hitch.

Both ships, with every device of construction and of furnishings imaginable, are out to take the blue ribbon of the sea from the Rex, which only lately took it from the German liners Bremen and Europa. It is, perhaps, chiefly a competition in prestige. Doubtless the companies believe that the enormous expenditure will be justified by the event. Yet for some years it has been felt that the day of the huge and costly liners was over and that the fast and almost equally luxurious cabin liners, like the Manhattan, the Lafayette and the Britannic, were the popular ships, not only of the present, but also of the future.

The old Arizona of the defunct Guion Line began the race for the blue ribbon. After her came the Etruria and Umbria, reducing the record to less than six days, and then the City of New York and the City of Paris of the Inman Line, later taken over by the American Line as the New York and the Philadelphia. But none of them, though celebrated in their day, held their supremacy long. Germany entered the contest with great success, and during the last few years Italy joined the race with the Rex and Conte de Savoia.

There is still a question whether these great liners bring as much profit as prestige to their owners. But there must be some profit in them, else they would not continue to be built. It is clear, none the less, that many ocean travelers are not able to afford them. How large is the class than can do this may be demonstrated when the Queen Mary and La Normandie enter the service.

Another sign of perfect health is the relief you feel when you get away from the ailing.

And if men were paid to play golf, they'd soon be striking for 16 holes or something.

Still, the young person you fell in love with probably seemed just as silly to your parents.

Alas! By the time you're old enough to read health advice, you're so shopworn it doesn't help.

After all, wealth just enables you to pay high for some service that a poor man does for himself.

The final proof of veracity is to accept the eager stranger's hand without pretending to remember him.

You can tell a heathen country. It is one where they kidnap missionaries instead of millionaires.

We believe, until Mr. Hoover's magazine article was published, Al Smith held the record for high pay for literary effort. We are curious, therefore, to know the word rate Mr. Hoover received and suppose the information soon will be forthcoming.

CITY CAT IN THE COUNTRY

We took our cat to the high mountains—and at first he didn't like it....What was the idea, anyway, of taking a decent, well behaved city cat into the country, into so many strange sights and sounds and swells. It was outrageous and we ought to be reported to the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals....Such actions. Such unfeeing disregard for his happiness.... He was miserable and he hated us. ....When he was inside the cabin he paced up and down like a caged tiger and insisted on getting out. And when we let him out, he meowed at the door and clamored to be inside again..And that wasn't all, either. It was cold those first days and the wind blew off the mountain tops and it snowed, and all the land was covered three inches deep with funny white stuff. ....When he walked in it he had to lift each hind leg and shake it off before he set in down again and whenever he did that, those human beings laughed at him and his dignity was sorely insulted....Such a business!

But the sun came out and the wind died down and he saw little striped chipmunks on every rock and birds scolded him from the tops of trees and a red headed woodpecker drummed a military march from the dead tree every morning and—that cat came alive again. Speedily he ceased to be a city pussy, and became a mountain cat. A stalking, hunting, contriving, slinking, joyous cat that kept us busy warning chipmunks and little birds that he was on the trail...He didn't like that, either but he accepted it as one of the handicaps of living with human beings....His worst moment was that day when he chased a chipmunk up a tree and it didn't occur to him that HE too, could climb a tree. So he crouched at the base of the tree and swished his angry tail like a dog and did nothing at all but wait for that chattering chipmunk to come down again. And even a baby chipmunk knows better than that.

But now he's happier than he ever was in the city. This, he seems to say, is where I really belong, here among the pines and the granite rocks and the clean, sweet breezes, and I don't care if I never go back to that city of gasoline exhaust and clanging noises and that basement where you shut me up at night.... I'm a happy, hunting predatory mountain cat, I am, and I never want to be a pusillanimous city cat again. Not me!

But, just the same he's going back.

ACCEPT WHAT YOU CANNOT AVOID

You grumble too much over inconveniences.

It is too hot or too cold, or you object to the smell of the new paint.

You object to changes made in your room, forgetting that life is progressive and things wear better if relocated.

Why not be sensible and philosophical and accept what you cannot avoid.

Most of the conditions of which you complain do not amount to much.

You become unnecessarily perturbed.

You wonder at persons who can accept conditions as they come.

You think that one must be too dumb or too prosaic to be affected by anything about him.

Instead he merely exhibits common sense.

He is not knocking his head against a stone wall as you do.

You might get much more out of your life if you were less affected by small, irritating disturbances.

There are so many annoyances in every life that if you permit little things to disturb you, you keep yourself constantly agitated.

The best way to keep cool is to keep calm.

DESPAIR AND DOUBT

Despair and Doubt are failure's men.
They talk of dangers nigh.
Like ghosts they rise before man's eyes
His soul to terrify.
If in his mind he gives them room
They'll shroud his thoughts in ghastly gloom.
They'll steal his courage and his wit
And frighten him before he's hit.

But Hope and Faith are victory's men
Who sing a rousing song.
As best they can they'll cheer a man
And urge him to be strong.

They'll counsel: Pay the battle's cost.
While still you fight you haven't lost!
The fighting heart may gain the cup.
But no one wins by giving up!

So give no space to fretful doubt;
No room to dark despair.
He's friended best in every test
When hope and faith are there.
Despair and doubt make men afraid,
And none fights well when he's dismayed.
But who to hope and faith clings fast
Will hold off failure to the last.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—One of the greatest reporters of the present time is Damon Runyon. He not only is a great reporter, he is a deep student of human nature, as his very popular fiction stories and motion picture plays attest.

Damon Runyon has covered murder cases for years — the biggest cases.

"Is Bruno Richard Hauptmann guilty?" I asked Runyan casually as I was about to write this column.

Runyon thought a moment, then remarked: "Of the kidnaping itself, I don't know."

"But the handwriting?"

"Handwriting comparisons will not stand up in court. You can get handwriting experts to prove anything—or to disprove anything."

"Hauptmann is a peculiar man, isn't he?"

Runyon assented. "Think of the terrific pressure under which he has been for a week or more while police have questioned him. Not many men could withstand that without cracking."

The whole Lindbergh case, from beginning to end, has bred one unusual figure after another. It has even spread its tragedy — through suicide. It has changed laws, it has made and broken reputations, and now it has reached across the ocean —to Germany.

"Truth," remarks Runyon, great fictionist, "always is stranger than fiction. If the Lindbergh story had been written as fiction, it would have been dismissed as 'incredible' and 'too fantastic'."

PRINCE LIKES AMERICANS

The Prince of Wales is dancing often these days with an American young woman—Mrs. Ernest A. Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson was one of the best known debutanes of Baltimore some years ago. She was of the banker-railroad Warfields. Her friends call her Wally. Her first name is Wallis. Mrs. Simpson, according to her friends, often has explained why. Her parents desired a boy. A girl was born. The parents gave her a name as close to a boy's as possible.

But it is with feminine charm and beauty that the girl who "disappointed" her parents has made great social conquests.

Mr. Simpson is in business in London. Thus, Mrs. Simpson's conquests became international.

At Biarritz, ultra-fashionable French watering place, she apparently is a reigning figure — with a future king inviting her to dance and to tea at his beautiful chateau, Mont-e-Mer.

The Prince of Wales formerly danced with Lady Furness, who as one of the three beautiful and socially prominent daughters of the late U. S. Consul General Morgan, at Brussels, had "Europe at her feet". Her sister married Reginold Vanderbilt, who died leaving a pittance—for a Vanderbilt. Lady Furness occupies a leading place in the social life of Paris.

ITALY

Our advices from Italy are interesting—and reassuring, as to European peace.

Our informant has been a close observer.

Mussolini, realizing the isolated position geographically of Italy, sits boisterously on a fence, playing one country against another—but always making certain that he will be able to continue to sit on the fence.

Italy is in sore straits financially. It is kept going—so the informant says — by "this human dynamo — Mussolini.

Mussolini, however, is his own bookkeeper. No national balances are published. What the state spends, what the state takes in is a secret to everybody except Mussolini and the directors of the Bank of Italy.

Some day, of course, there will have to be a reckoning on that—when the budget gets too far out of balance.

* * *

FRANCE

France also is in sore straits. Remaining on the gold standard, with the other large countries of the world off, has been a costly undertaking.

Foreign trade has declined, tourists avoid Paris because of the high cost of the franc and prices, shops are empty.

A more liberal government—probably even a radical cabinet—is likely to gain power.

That new cabinet then would reduce the ratio of gold content in the franc — a compromise against going off the gold standard altogether.

* * *

ENGLAND

England — at least, London — is enjoying prosperity and gay life.

The low cost of the pound brings an influx of tourists.

Shops are doing well, people have an air of confidence.

"Why?" I asked my informant.

"The English have confidence in the stable qualities of English bankers, and of the conservative foresight of those who direct finances," my informant opined.

"Besides," he added, "England had its depression earlier than America —and it put its nose to the grindstone to get out of it."

England, not the United States, remains the great capitalist stronghold. British conservatives are world-minded, and are socially-minded. They will hold power the longest.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Jack Lait, another great American reporter and an authority on the gangster, has just returned from Europe.

He tells of being "surrounded by 19 prime ministers" at the League of Nations who demanded to know what kind of a man Dillinger was. And—they asked. further—would this Huey Long conquer America as he had conquered New Orleans?

TROUBLES OF PACIFISTS.

The Church of England has been thrown into a controversy since it was learned that part of the pension money for retired clergyman is being paid by one of the biggest armament factories in the world, Vickers, Ltd.

It was a shocking discovery to the aged ministers, many of whom had preached hundreds of sermons against war, to learn they were being supported in part by war munitions makers.

It all happened because an institution, taken over by the pension board of the church, owned shares of stock in the Vickers concern amounting to 10,000 pounds. Now the question is, what to do with this armament stock.

It is almost as bad as that "Tainted Money" which threw the American Church into such a furore a few years ago.

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28

The World War Day-by-Day— Sept. 28, 1914—German strategy now had three purposes: to take Antwerp and capture the Belgium army, thus preventing a junction of the Belgians with their Allies, and ending attacks on the German rear; to move south through a gap between Lille and the English Channel, taking the Channel ports; and finally to offset the advantages gained by the Allies in the Battle of the Marne by a real victory north of Amiens.

Antwerp was a thorn in the German side that had to be removed. In the days when every German soldier was needed in France, a corps had to be kept in Belgium to protect the German lines of communication from being cut by the Belgian field army in Antwerp. At the moment of the Battle of Charleroi, Belgians made a sortie and almost reached Louvain. Again, while the Battle of the Marne was raging, a second Belgian army had held up German bound for and needed in the south until the critical days of the retreat to the Aisne were passed.

The Germans had to have Antwerp.

Before its forts, in trenches long prepared, stood the whole Belgian field army. All the magic engineers could perform under the conditions had been put into the defenses. All the courage of brave men fighting with their backs to the wall was in the Belgian hearts. But here the superiority of the gun over the fort, of the mechanic over the engineer, was to be demonstrated.

The big guns with which the Germans destroyed the fortifications of Leige and Namur were turned now upon Antwerp. Many of these guns were of the 42-centimeter type, meaning in inches that its caliber (the diameter of its muzzle), was 16½ inches. For a long time Allied officers could not credit that a mobile gun of such power could really exist! The Allies had nothing comparable with them.

This 42-centimeter weapon was like a howitzer, that is, it did not fire its projectile with a fairly flat trajectory as the rifled cannon do, but discharged it by so-called high-angled fire—it was pointed toward the sky and thus sent its shell flying in a great arc. A comparatively small charge was needed, just enough to propel a huge shell through the air. It was not the speed of the shell which did the damage, but the high explosive in the shell itself.

Transportation of howitzers of this size was so difficult that they could be used for seige purposes only, and the original German sweep through Belgium was slowed up because of the necessity of bringing up the howitzers with horses. "Steam wagons," a new kind of automobile, were tried unsuccessfully.

On the 28th, the bombardment of Antwerp was begun.

DROUGHT IS WASHED OUT

WHAT has become of the drought news? Only a few weeks ago the newspapers and newsreels were full of it. The answer is: Washed out by heavy rains.

Rain; not just a drizzle nor merely a shower, but rain that fills cellars, converts dry creek beds into raging torrents and soaks the soil down to the deepest roots has fallen in the areas which had been drought stricken. So the reader finds flood news where there had been accounts of dust storms, thirsty livestock and desperate farmers.

Rain was a long time coming to the new "Sahara" in the Middle West, but it did not come too late to save their little world for thousands of families. Hope, green fields, some harvested crops, and plans for the future are theirs, where a month or so ago there was only despair.

What capital is to the financier, orders to the manufacturer, votes to the politician and food to the starving body, rain is to the farmer. Frosts, floods, old-fashioned winters and heat he can survive but against drought he is powerless.

The farmer's wish for 1935 is that there shall be no prolonged dry speels and enough growing weather to provide just enough food to meet the demand. That would be Utopia for the tiller of the soil.

MORE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Alarmed by the sharp increase in motor vehicle fatalities and accidents caused by drivers under the influence of liquor, the safety forces in this end of the state are preparing to "bear down" on drunken drivers according to an announcement today by George E. Clarkson, manager of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council and sponsors of Everybody's Safety Drive.

In summarizing available records, the National Safety Council, Chicago, of which the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council of Pittsburgh is the local division, estimates that "had been drinking drivers" have increased 20 per cent this year throughout the country as a whole and in the larger cities the increase has been as much as 50 per cent. For the first six months in Pennsylvania, accidents involving drunken drivers increased 70 per cent, there being 912 accidents as compared to 539 during the corresponding period last year.

In order to bring the matter to a head promptly," said Mr. Clarkson, "a very important meeting will be held in Pittsburgh next Wednesday, at which time representatives of the Pennsylvania State Highway Patrol, the Better Traffic Committee, the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council, the district attorney, delegations from the Allegheny County Bar Association and the Allegheny County Medical Society, police, traffic officials and traffic court magistrates will get together to work out a plan to obtain convictions.

The Western Pennsylvania Safety Council at the present time is engaged in a spirited anti-accident campaign in connection with Everybody's Safety Drive and is asking 'everyone to lend a hand.'

But the sun came out and the wind died down and he saw little striped chipmunks on every rock and birds scolded him from the tops of trees and a red headed woodpecker drummed a military march from the dead tree every morning and—that cat came alive again. Speedily he ceased to be a city pussy, and became a mountain cat. A stalking, hunting, contriving, slinking, joyous cat that kept us busy warning chipmunks and little birds that he was on the trail...He didn't like that, either but he accepted it as one of the handicaps of living with human beings....His worst moment was that day when he chased a chipmunk up a tree and it didn't occur to him that HE too, could climb a tree. So he crouched at the base of the tree and swished his angry tail like a dog and did nothing at all but wait for that chattering chipmunk to come down again. And even a baby chipmunk knows better than that.

But now he's happier than he ever was in the city. This, he seems to say, is where I really belong, here among the pines and the granite rocks and the clean, sweet breezes, and I don't care if I never go back to that city of gasoline exhaust and clanging noises and that basement where you shut me up at night.... I'm a happy, hunting predatory mountain cat, I am, and I never want to be a pusillanimous city cat again. Not me!

But, just the same he's going back.

ACCEPT WHAT YOU CANNOT AVOID

You grumble too much over inconveniences.

It is too hot or too cold, or you object to the smell of the new paint.

You object to changes made in your room, forgetting that life is progressive and things wear better if relocated.

Why not be sensible and philosophical and accept what you cannot avoid.

Most of the conditions of which you complain do not amount to much.

You become unnecessarily perturbed.

Yon wonder at persons who can accept conditions as they come.

You think that one must be too dumb or too prosaic to be affected by anything about him.

Instead he merely exhibits common sense.

He is not knocking his head against a stone wall as you do.

You might get much more out of your life if you were less affected by small, irritating disturbances.

There are so many annoyances in every life that if you permit little things to disturb you, you keep yourself constantly agitated.

The best way to keep cool is to keep calm.

DESPAIR AND DOUBT

Despair and Doubt are failure's men.
They talk of dangers nigh.
Like ghosts they rise before man's eyes
His soul to terrify.
If in his mind he gives them room
They'll shroud his thoughts in ghastly gloom.
They'll steal his courage and his wit
And frighten him before he's hit.

But Hope and Faith are victory's men
Who sing a rousing song.
As best they can they'll cheer a man
And urge him to be strong.

They'll counsel: Pay the battle's cost.
While still you fight you haven't lost!
The fighting heart may gain the cup,
But no one wins by giving up!

So give no space to fretful doubt;
No room to dark despair.
He's friended best in every test
When hope and faith are there.
Despair and doubt make men afraid,
And none fights well when he's dismayed.
But who to hope and faith clings fast
Will hold off failure to the last.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—One of the greatest reporters of the present time is Damon Runyon. He not only is a great reporter, he is a deep student of human nature, as his very popular fiction stories and motion picture plays attest.

Damon Runyon has covered murder cases for years — the biggest cases.

"Is Bruno Richard Hauptmann guilty?" I asked Runyan casually as I was about to write this column.

Runyon thought a moment, then remarked: "Of the kidnaping itself, I don't know."

"But the handwriting?"

"Handwriting comparisons will not stand up in court. You can get handwriting experts to prove anything—or to disprove anything."

"Hauptmann is a peculiar man, isn't he?"

Runyon assented. "Think of the terrific pressure under which he has been for a week or more while police have questioned him. Not many men could withstand that without cracking."

The whole Lindbergh case, from beginning to end, has bred one unusual figure after another. It has even spread its tragedy — through suicide. It has changed laws, it has made and broken reputations, and now it has reached across the ocean —to Germany.

"Truth," remarks Runyon, great fictionist, "always is stranger than fiction. If the Lindbergh story had been written as fiction, it would have been dismissed as 'incredible' and 'too fantastic'."

PRINCE LIKES AMERICANS

The Prince of Wales is dancing often these days with an American young woman—Mrs. Ernest A. Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson was one of the best known debutanes of Baltimore some years ago. She was of the banker-railroad Warfields. Her friends call her Wally. Her first name is Wallis. Mrs. Simpson, according to her friends, often has explained why. Her parents desired a boy. A girl was born. The parents gave her a name as close to a boy's as possible.

But it is with feminine charm and beauty that the girl who "disappointed" her parents has made great social conquests.

Mr. Simpson is in business in London. Thus, Mrs. Simpson's conquests became international.

At Biarritz, ultra-fashionable French watering place, she apparently is a reigning figure — with a future king inviting her to dance and to tea at his beautiful chateau, Mont-e-Mer.

The Prince of Wales formerly danced with Lady Furness, who as one of the three beautiful and socially prominent daughters of the late U. S. Consul General Morgan, at Brussels, had "Europe at her feet". Her sister married Reginold Vanderbilt, who died leaving a pittance—for a Vanderbilt. Lady Furness occupies a leading place in the social life of Paris.

ITALY

Our advices from Italy are interesting—and reassuring, as to European peace.

Our informant has been a close observer.

Mussolini, realizing the isolated position geographically of Italy, sits boisterously on a fence, playing one country against another—but always making certain that he will be able to continue to sit on the fence.

Italy is in sore straits financially. It is kept going—so the informant says — by "this human dynamo — Mussolini.

Mussolini, however, is his own bookkeeper. No national balances are published. What the state spends, what the state takes in is a secret to everybody except Mussolini and the directors of the Bank of Italy.

Some day, of course, there will have to be a reckoning on that—when the budget gets too far out of balance.

* * *

FRANCE

France also is in sore straits. Remaining on the gold standard, with the other large countries of the world off, has been a costly undertaking.

Foreign trade has declined, tourists avoid Paris because of the high cost of the franc and prices, shops are empty.

A more liberal government—probably even a radical cabinet—is likely to gain power.

ENGLAND

England — at least, London — is enjoying prosperity and gay life.

The low cost of the pound brings an influx of tourists.

Shops are doing well, people have an air of confidence.

"Why?" I asked my informant.

"The English have confidence in the stable qualities of English bankers, and of the conservative foresight of those who direct finances," my informant opined.

"Besides," he added, "England had its depression earlier than America —and it put its nose to the grindstone to get out of it."

England, not the United States, remains the great capitalist stronghold. British conservatives are world-minded, and are socially-minded. They will hold power the longest.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Jack Lait, another great American reporter and an authority on the gangster, has just returned from Europe.

He tells of being "surrounded by 19 prime ministers" at the League of Nations who demanded to know what kind of a man Dillinger was. And—they asked, further—would this Huey Long conquer America as he had conquered New Orleans?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TROUBLES OF PACIFISTS.

The Church of England has been thrown into a controversy since it was learned that part of the pension money for retired clergyman is being paid by one of the biggest armament factories in the world, Vickers, Ltd.

It was a shocking discovery to the aged ministers, many of whom had preached hundreds of sermons against war, to learn they were being supported in part by war munitions makers.

It all happened because an institution, taken over by the pension board of the church, owned shares of stock in the Vickers concern amounting to 10,000 pounds. Now the question is, what to do with this armament stock.

It is almost as bad as that "Tainted Money" which threw the American Church into such a furore a few years ago.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28

The World War Day-by-Day— Sept. 28, 1914—German strategy now had three purposes: to take Antwerp and capture the Belgium army, thus preventing a junction of the Belgians with their Allies, and ending attacks on the German rear; to move south through a gap between Lille and the English Channel, taking the Channel ports; and finally to offset the advantages gained by the Allies in the Battle of the Marne by a real victory north of Amiens.

Antwerp was a thorn in the German side that had to be removed. In the days when every German soldier was needed in France, a corps had to be kept in Belgium to protect the German lines of communication from being cut by the Belgian field army in Antwerp. At the moment of the Battle of Charleroi, Belgians made a sortie and almost reached Louvain. Again, while the Battle of the Marne was raging, a second Belgian army had held up German bound for and needed in the south until the critical days of the retreat to the Aisne were passed.

The Germans had to have Antwerp.

Before its forts, in trenches long prepared, stood the whole Belgian field army. All the magic engineers could perform under the conditions had been put into the defenses. All the courage of brave men fighting with their backs to the wall was in the Belgian hearts. But here the superiority of the gun over the fort, of the mechanic over the engineer, was to be demonstrated.

The big guns with which the Germans destroyed the fortifications of Leige and Namur were turned now upon Antwerp. Many of these guns were of the 42-centimeter type, meaning in inches that its caliber (the diameter of its muzzle), was 16½ inches. For a long time Allied officers could not credit that a mobile gun of such power could really exist! The Allies had nothing comparable with them.

This 42-centimeter weapon was like a howitzer, that is, it did not fire its projectile with a fairly flat trajectory as the rifled cannon do, but discharged it by so-called high-angled fire—it was pointed toward the sky and thus sent its shell flying in a great arc. A comparatively small charge was needed, just enough to propel a huge shell through the air. It was not the speed of the shell which did the damage, but the high explosive in the shell itself.

Transportation of howitzers of this size was so difficult that they could be used for seige purposes only, and the original German sweep through Belgium was slowed up because of the necessity of bringing up the howitzers with horses. "Steam wagons," a new kind of automobile, were tried unsuccessfully

On the 28th, the bombardment of Antwerp was begun.

PROBE CHARGE OF SALE OF BABIES

Hollywood To Have Probe Of Accusation Babies Are Sold At Birth

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28.—Rheba Crawford Splivalo, state director of public welfare, today hurled the sensational charge that many unwed mothers in Hollywood had been forced to sell their new born babies to pay physicians' fees.

"Fourteen and 15-year-old unwed mothers are the usual victims," of the Hollywood "Baby Bazaar," according to Mrs. Splivalo, the one time "Angel of Broodway."

Doctors Sell Babies

Discussing a report on "baby sales" filed with acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Mrs. Splivalo said that the child-mothers were trapped between the greed of unscrupulous doctors and the overwhelming desire of childless couples for babies.

The board of medical examiners meanwhile ordered the launching of a searching investigation into charges by Miss Elizabeth Owens, state department of social welfare worker, that several California doctors have been "selling" babies to obtain fees from indigent mothers.

She said the babies are "bought and sold for $50 to $200 each."

Miss Owens, supervisor of adoptions, made the charge in her report to Gov. Merriam. She asserted that the doctors unable to obtain their fees from financially poor mothers, arrange for adoption of newly born infants and stipulate with foster parents that medical charges will be paid.

PROBE CHARGE OF SALE OF BABIES

Hollywood To Have Probe Of Accusation Babies Are Sold At Birth

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28.—Rheba Crawford Splivalo, state director of public welfare, today hurled the sensational charge that many unwed mothers in Hollywood had been forced to sell their new born babies to pay physicians' fees.

"Fourteen and 15-year-old unwed mothers are the usual victims," of the Hollywood "Baby Bazaar," according to Mrs. Splivalo, the one time "Angel of Broodway."

Doctors Sell Babies

Discussing a report on "baby sales" filed with acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam, Mrs. Splivalo said that the child-mothers were trapped between the greed of unscrupulous doctors and the overwhelming desire of childless couples for babies.

The board of medical examiners meanwhile ordered the launching of a searching investigation into charges by Miss Elizabeth Owens, state department of social welfare worker, that several California doctors have been "selling" babies to obtain fees from indigent mothers.

She said the babies are "bought and sold for $50 to $200 each."

Miss Owens, supervisor of adoptions, made the charge in her report to Gov. Merriam. She asserted that the doctors unable to obtain their fees from financially poor mothers, arrange for adoption of newly born infants and stipulate with foster parents that medical charges will be paid.

East Brook Boy Is Medal Winner

Wins Oratory Contest At W. C. T. U. Convention Thursday Night

COUNTY SESSIONS MOST INSPIRING

The fiftieth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Lawrence county was well attended for the afternoon and evening sessions in the Central Presbyterian church Thursday.

At the morning session Mrs. W. G. Wilkins was again named president; Mrs. Margaret McClure, New Wilmington, vice president; Mrs. Ida May Allison, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Peebles, recording secretary and Mrs. J. B. McClaren, treasurer.

Mrs. O. D. Taylor conducted the devotionals for the session after luncheon after which a most impressive memorial service was held for the ten members who departed this life during the past year. Mrs. Laura Coates was in charge of this with Mrs. Sarah Clark singing a most beautiful vocal number.

Kittanning Woman Speaks

Mrs. Paul McKendrick of Kittanning spoke on "Cleaning Up the Motion Pictures" after which the oldest member of the county, and honorary president, Mrs. S. E. McCleary, who is approaching her 91st birthday gave reminiscences of the early days of the W. C. T. U. and thrilled her audience with her accounts of the pioneer struggles. Miss Margaret Walker also spoke on the years while she was president of the Union.

Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise, Dubois, state vice president, gave a most inspirational talk on "Forward March" urging the women not to give up the fight for right. Mrs. W. K. Ramsey closed the afternoon session with prayer and the official board had a conference.

Young People In Charge

The evening session was in the form of "Youth's Night" with Miss Mabel Kocher leading the devotionals and the opening singing by the Y. P. B. chorus. Miss Margaret Peebles spoke on "We Do Our Part" and Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise again spoke, using as her theme "To the Youth" urging them on to clean lives and upright ideals.

The Gold Medal contest created a great deal of interest as the five contestants gave their orations. Omar Fink, of East Brook was the winner with his oration on "Mockery". The other contestants were Mae Boggs and Gertrude Jones of Ellwood City; Edgar Nagel and Robert Liebendorfer of Wurtemburg. Judges were the Rev. C. H. Heaton, Robert Strickler and Mrs. Merle Davis.

The Harlansburg Y. P. B. entertained with musical numbers and the convention came to a close with Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central church, pronouncing the benediction.

Accidents Show Slight Increase

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—Industrial accidents for the first eight months of 1934 increased 14.9 per cent over the corresponding period of 1933, the Department of Labor and Industry reported today.

The increase, however, was not as great as the boost in industrial employment or working time. Industrial employment, figures showed, was up 17.8 per cent from the first eight months of 1933 and working time was 37.8 per cent higher.

A total of 786 fatal accidents and 63,355 non-fatal accidents were reported to the end of August as compared with 659 fatal and 55,176 non-fatal accidents in the period last year.

Home Loans Over Million Dollars In Lawrence Co.

Up over the one million dollar mark went the total of Home Owners Loans for Lawrence county today. Shortly before noon sufficient authorizations for bonds came in to make the grand total for the county $1,009,871.74 and the dead line of October 1 for such a figure has been beaten by two days.

The one million total reflects credit upon the manager of the bureau here, Don F. McGrew. When he assumed charge April 1 there had been less than $200,000 in loans granted. All of the balance have been secured by him and his associates.

Long Discusses His Case With Attorney

Two Courses Open To Man Who Was Convicted On Conspiracy Charges

Roxie Long, who with his wife was convicted of conspiracy to defraud, will probably decide today whether or not he will ask for a new trial and also as to what action he will take in the remaining charges against him. He held a conference in the county jail this forenoon with Attorney Samuel Clark during which the situation was discussed. Roxie could ask a new trial on the case on which he has been convicted and also for separate trials in the remaining cases, or he could enter pleas and be sentenced at once.

East Brook Boy Is Medal Winner

COUNTY SESSIONS MOST INSPIRING

The fiftieth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Lawrence county was well attended for the afternoon and evening sessions in the Central Presbyterian church Thursday.

At the morning session Mrs. W. G. Wilkins was again named president; Mrs. Margaret McClure, New Wilmington, vice president; Mrs. Ida May Allison, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Peebles, recording secretary and Mrs. J. B. McClaren, treasurer.

Mrs. O. D. Taylor conducted the devotionals for the session after luncheon after which a most impressive memorial service was held for the ten members who departed this life during the past year. Mrs. Laura Coates was in charge of this with Mrs. Sarah Clark singing a most beautiful vocal number.

Kittanning Woman Speaks

Mrs. Paul McKendrick of Kittanning spoke on "Cleaning Up the Motion Pictures" after which the oldest member of the county, and honorary president, Mrs. S. E. McCleary, who is approaching her 91st birthday gave reminiscences of the early days of the W. C. T. U. and thrilled her audience with her accounts of the pioneer struggles. Miss Margaret Walker also spoke on the years while she was president of the Union.

Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise, Dubois, state vice president, gave a most inspirational talk on "Forward March" urging the women not to give up the fight for right. Mrs. W. K. Ramsey closed the afternoon session with prayer and the official board had a conference.

Young People In Charge

The evening session was in the form of "Youth's Night" with Miss Mabel Kocher leading the devotionals and the opening singing by the Y. P. B. chorus. Miss Margaret Peebles spoke on "We Do Our Part" and Mrs. Lillian N. Trezise again spoke, using as her theme "To the Youth" urging them on to clean lives and upright ideals.

The Gold Medal contest created a great deal of interest as the five contestants gave their orations. Omar Fink, of East Brook was the winner with his oration on "Mockery". The other contestants were Mae Boggs and Gertrude Jones of Ellwood City; Edgar Nagel and Robert Liebendorfer of Wurtemburg. Judges were the Rev. C. H. Heaton, Robert Strickler and Mrs. Merle Davis.

The Harlansburg Y. P. B. entertained with musical numbers and the convention came to a close with Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central church, pronouncing the benediction.

Accidents Show Slight Increase

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—Industrial accidents for the first eight months of 1934 increased 14.9 per cent over the corresponding period of 1933, the Department of Labor and Industry reported today.

The increase, however, was not as great as the boost in industrial employment or working time. Industrial employment, figures showed, was up 17.8 per cent from the first eight months of 1933 and working time was 37.8 per cent higher.

A total of 786 fatal accidents and 63,355 non-fatal accidents were reported to the end of August as compared with 659 fatal and 55,176 non-fatal accidents in the period last year.

Home Loans Over Million Dollars In Lawrence Co.

Up over the one million dollar mark went the total of Home Owners Loans for Lawrence county today. Shortly before noon sufficient authorizations for bonds came in to make the grand total for the county $1,009,871.74 and the dead line of October 1 for such a figure has been beaten by two days.

The one million total reflects credit upon the manager of the bureau here, Don F. McGrew. When he assumed charge April 1 there had been less than $200,000 in loans granted. All of the balance have been secured by him and his associates.

Roxie Long, who with his wife was convicted of conspiracy to defraud, will probably decide today whether or not he will ask for a new trial and also as to what action he will take in the remaining charges against him. He held a conference in the county jail this forenoon with Attorney Samuel Clark during which the situation was discussed. Roxie could ask a new trial on the case on which he has been convicted and also for separate trials in the remaining cases, or he could enter pleas and be sentenced at once.

Hauptmann Once Communist Ally

Lindbergh Suspect Once Tried To Get Out Of Jail Through Communist Friend

RECORD SHOWN TO DETECTIVE

By HERMANN HOCHBAUM
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

BAUTZEN, Saxony, Sept. 29.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann tried, through his mother, to smuggle a note out of Bautzen jail, asking a communist member of the Reichstag to help him dodge finishing his sentence for burglary, police records shown to Detective Arthur Johnson of New York revealed today.

Police Chief Albert Schaller met the American at the station, and they went immediately to the Red Brick jail, Hauptmann's "home" in 1919, where Johnson was given copies of three reports covering the extortion suspect's past.

These records showed that his mother once visited the jail and brought Hauptmann some clothing. On her way out, police caught her with a note addressed to the Communist Deputy Ruehle. Police asserted that this proved Hauptmann had communist connections, which he hoped to use to gain his liberty.

Victim's Death Recalls First Kidnaping Case

(International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 21.—Colorado's first kidnaping for ransom was related here by the death of Robert Matson Perry, 50, railroad and coal mining executive.

It was in 1918, when Perry was foreman of a mine at Oak Creek, Colo., that two armed men abducted him at the point of a gun and forced him to trudge 20 miles into desolate mountain country. There they threatened to kill him if he did not write a note to his father, the late Samuel M. Perry, demanding $18,000 in gold.

Perry wrote the note. His captors fell asleep. He released himself, seized their rifles and shot one of the kidnapers, George Kastegranes, when the latter drew a revolver.

The other kidnaper, James Karaseounis, fled, and Perry made his way to the nearest ranch house and safety.

Kastegranes shot himself to death, and Karaseounis was later captured and sent to the penitentiary.

Perry died at Rochester, Minn., following an operation.

They'd better not get rid of Johnson. The idea of Caesar's circus was to keep people from thinking about their troubles.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Climaxing one of the weirdest "house of horrors" cases in Pittsburgh history, medical officials today were to decide on the sanity of the four Gutowskies, two of whom were found chained in their home.

Dr. Daniel E. Sable, chief city surgeon, launched the mental examination as Stanley and John Gutowski were held for court after police found moonshine in their home.

Grace Gutowski, 52, and Alex, 50, were under observation at a hospital here, after police found both chained because, the arrested men said "they were both crazy."

Hauptmann Once Communist Ally

RECORD SHOWN TO DETECTIVE

By HERMANN HOCHBAUM
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

BAUTZEN, Saxony, Sept. 29.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann tried, through his mother, to smuggle a note out of Bautzen jail, asking a communist member of the Reichstag to help him dodge finishing his sentence for burglary, police records shown to Detective Arthur Johnson of New York revealed today.

Police Chief Albert Schaller met the American at the station, and they went immediately to the Red Brick jail, Hauptmann's "home" in 1919, where Johnson was given copies of three reports covering the extortion suspect's past.

These records showed that his mother once visited the jail and brought Hauptmann some clothing. On her way out, police caught her with a note addressed to the Communist Deputy Ruehle. Police asserted that this proved Hauptmann had communist connections, which he hoped to use to gain his liberty.

Visiting Judge C. M. Culver fixed the crime as second degree murder before sentencing. Arendas, son of a former Wall constable, was charged with fatally shooting Constable Martin Pluter, 38, who had succeeded Arendas' father.

King's Daughters Tri-County Meeting

Women Of Mercer, Venango And Lawrence Counties Meet In First Methodist Church

The annual tri-county conference of the King's Daughters met Thursday in the First Methodist church of this city with a splendid representation from each county. The organization is one of religious and charitable projects, doing noble work for underpriveleged children and finding homes for the aged.

Mrs. W. A. Mayberry extended greetings to the women and Mrs. S. M. Rearic led the devotional opening after which reports were given from the various counties, showing the organization had been most active in its work the past year.

At the election Mrs. S. M. Rearic of this city was named president for the coming year.

The noon hour was featured by a most appetizing lunch served by the First Methodist women and a most interesting, inspiring talk was given by Dr. Norris A. White.

Mrs. G. W. Crider of Franklin, led the devotional period which opened the afternoon session and a solo was sung by Gladys Fulkerson Moorhead, accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Miner, after which the speaker of the afternoon was introduced, Mrs. Carrie Jeffery Roberts who gave a splendid talk on "Faithfulness in Service."

The program closed with plans made to meet next year in Oil City and a duet by Mrs. J. C. Miner and Gladys Moorhead.

Victim's Death Recalls First Kidnaping Case

(International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 21.—Colorado's first kidnaping for ransom was related here by the death of Robert Matson Perry, 50, railroad and coal mining executive.

It was in 1916, when Perry was foreman of a mine at Oak Creek, Colo., that two armed men abducted him at the point of a gun and forced him to trudge 20 miles into desolate mountain country. There they threatened to kill him if he did not write a note to his father, the late Samuel M. Perry, demanding $18,000 in gold.

Perry wrote the note. His captors fell asleep. He released himself, seized their rifles and shot one of the kidnapers, George Kastegranes, when the latter drew a revolver.

The other kidnaper, James Karaseounis, fled, and Perry made his way to the nearest ranch house and safety.

Kastegranes shot himself to death, and Karaseounis was later captured and sent to the penitentiary.

Perry died at Rochester, Minn., following an operation.

NEW LEGISLATURE FACES HUGE TAX OBLIGATION

Bigger Problem Than Ever Before

Two Year Need For State May Reach Huge Total Of $355,000,000

NEW LIABILITIES TO BE CONFRONTED

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—Taxation, the old legislative bugaboo, will be back again to plague and haunt the regular session of the legislature convening next January as never before.

Even before the harassed legislators answer the roll call they will face the task of providing the sum of $240,688,000 exclusive of future relief costs to meet the budget for the 1935-1937 biennium and deficiencies in the present 1933-1935 budget.

If relief costs continue apace, with the state now providing an average of $5,000,000 a month as its share, the legislature may be called upon to furnish an additional $120,000,000 for the next biennium.

Need Huge Sum.

Added together, these sums aggregate $355,563,000, an all-time record in the history of the commonwealth.

To meet this enormous outlay the legislature can look forward to estimated revenues of between $150,000,000 and $160,000,000 and profits from the state liquor stores which may aggregate as much as $20,000,000 for the biennium.

The difference, members of the legislature are now willing to admit, must be made up with new taxes.

In fixing the 1935-1937 budget the legislature will be unable to look forward to such on recurring items as the $9,000,000 surplus at the beginning of the present biennium; $9,500,000 from the sale of the Delaware river bridge bonds; $25,000,000 from the 1933 relief bond issue; $13,000,000 from the liquor floor tax.

New Needs Faced.

It will face, however, such new liabilities as $32,000,000 for interest and sinking fund charges on the $25,000,000 relief bond issue and the $50,000,000 soldiers' bonus bond issue; an estimated $16,000,000 for old age pensions; an estimated $2,500,000 for blind pensions, and $14,313,000 which the special session borrowed from special state funds for relief purposes and which must be repaid before December 31, 1935.

Interrogated on the floor of the house during the special session, Rep. Morton J. Witkin of Philadelphia, who introduced the "taxless relief program" in the legislature, was asked by Rep. Norbert J. Fitzgerald, Democratic floor leader, where it was proposed to obtain the money to make the replacement of funds borrowed from the motor license and other funds.

"New taxes, I suppose," was Witkins' only reply.

Oppose New Taxes.

Any attempt to levy new taxes is sure to meet with violent opposition from taxpayers, business men and other organized groups.

The utilities, upon whom the Democrats sought to levy new taxes during the last special session, are girding for the fray.

Yet the new legislature, no longer facing re-election as were the members at the special session, may be more willing to levy new imposts.

State Treasurer Charles A. Waters estimates that $154,000,000 will be needed during the 1935-1937 biennium for the ordinary expenses of government. The sum of $20,000,000, it is estimated, will be needed to finance relief until the end of the present biennium May 31, 1935, for which no provision has yet been made. Added to this, the interest and sinking fund requiremnets, repayment of the relief borrowings, blind and old age pensions produce a grand total of $240,688,000.

The vast majority of the members of the house and half the membership of the senate are now engaged in stumping for their re-elections. But they are worried no less by their own candidacies than by the spectre of new taxation, if representative comments during the special session can be taken as a fair indication.

More Lindbergh ransom money has been found in the house occupied by Hauptmann. At first detectives thought their prisoner had merely seized the opportunity to extort money from Colonel Lindbergh. Now they believe they have the actual kidnaper.

With this criminal, involving a matter important to the nation, great care is taken by authorities to avoid any rough" methods of obtaining evidence or a confession, such as have sometimes been employed in "third degree" proceedings.

Violence inflicted on the prisoner might, later, tend to weaken all evidence against him, in the opinion of the court, and detectives want "a clear, clean case."

For that reason they are proceeding along "psychological lines."

You have read of the plan to put a crying child outside the prisoner's cell that its weeping might touch his heart and conscience (if any) and bring forth a confession.

Those in charge of the case now believe that the prisoner is suffering from a mild form of dementia praecox, with "delusion of grandeur."

Detectives humor him, it is alleged, even to the extent of assuring him that he is "the greatest man in the world, almost equal to God Himself."

The hope is that gratifying the man's insane vanity may cause him to talk.

It might also defeat the "ends of justice" if too clear a case of insanity were made out.

The law does not permit execution of the insane.

Psycho-analysts and other wise ones that watch Hauptmann, who does not know that he is watched, reported yesterday that he had wept through the preceding night, also that he "cringed" when he heard cheers for Colonel Lindbergh, arriving to testify before the Bronx Grand Jury, that indicted Hauptmann for extortion.

The West German Beobachter, most important Nazi newspaper in Western Germany, says all the fuss made in America about the arrest of Hauptmann is based on the fact that Hauptmann is a German. The sapient editor observes, "The fact that the criminal comes from Germany is being utilized for an anti-German campaign of vast proportions." Have you noticed that anti-German campaign?

The Beobachter says, also, that if the criminal "had been a Jew, all the psycho-analysts and philanthropists in the world would have united and made of the criminal an honorable man."

Nazism seems to have a damaging effect on the editorial intellect.

The talking "movies" made pictures of Mrs. Hauptmann and her baby, ten months old, presumably

More Lindbergh ransom money has been found in the house occupied by Hauptmann. At first detectives thought their prisoner had merely seized the opportunity to extort money from Colonel Lindbergh. Now they believe they have the actual kidnaper.

With this criminal, involving a matter important to the nation, great care is taken by authorities to avoid any rough" methods of obtaining evidence or a confession, such as have sometimes been employed in "third degree" proceedings.

Violence inflicted on the prisoner might, later, tend to weaken all evidence against him, in the opinion of the court, and detectives want "a clear, clean case."

For that reason they are proceeding along "psychological lines."

You have read of the plan to put a crying child outside the prisoner's cell that its weeping might touch his heart and conscience (if any) and bring forth a confession.

Those in charge of the case now believe that the prisoner is suffering from a mild form of dementia praecox, with "delusion of grandeur."

Detectives humor him, it is alleged, even to the extent of assuring him that he is "the greatest man in the world, almost equal to God Himself."

The hope is that gratifying the man's insane vanity may cause him to talk.

It might also defeat the "ends of justice" if too clear a case of insanity were made out.

The law does not permit execution of the insane.

Psycho-analysts and other wise ones that watch Hauptmann, who does not know that he is watched, reported yesterday that he had wept through the preceding night, also that he "cringed" when he heard cheers for Colonel Lindbergh, arriving to testify before the Bronx Grand Jury, that indicted Hauptmann for extortion.

The West German Beobachter, most important Nazi newspaper in Western Germany, says all the fuss made in America about the arrest of Hauptmann is based on the fact that Hauptmann is a German. The sapient editor observes, "The fact that the criminal comes from Germany is being utilized for an anti-German campaign of vast proportions." Have you noticed that anti-German campaign?

The Beobachter says, also, that if the criminal "had been a Jew, all the psycho-analysts and philanthropists in the world would have united and made of the criminal an honorable man."

Nazism seems to have a damaging effect on the editorial intellect.

NEW LEGISLATURE FACES HUGE TAX OBLIGATION

Bigger Problem Than Ever Before

Two Year Need For State May Reach Huge Total Of $355,000,000

NEW LIABILITIES TO BE CONFRONTED

By SYDNEY H. EIGES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—Taxation, the old legislative bugaboo, will be back again to plague and haunt the regular session of the legislature convening next January as never before.

Even before the harassed legislators answer the roll call they will face the task of providing the sum of $240,688,000 exclusive of future relief costs to meet the budget for the 1935-1937 biennium and deficiencies in the present 1933-1935 budget.

If relief costs continue apace, with the state now providing an average of $5,000,000 a month as its share, the legislature may be called upon to furnish an additional $120,000,000 for the next bienniurn.

Need Huge Sum.

Added together, these sums aggregate $355,563,000, an all-time record in the history of the commonwealth.

To meet this enormous outlay the legislature can look forward to estimated revenues of between $150,000,000 and $160,000,000 and profits from the state liquor stores which may aggregate as much as $20,000,000 for the biennium.

The difference, members of the legislature are now willing to admit, must be made up with new taxes.

In fixing the 1935-1937 budget the legislature will be unable to look forward to such on recurring items as the $9,000,000 surplus at the beginning of the present biennium; $9,500,000 from the sale of the Delaware river bridge bonds; $25,000,000 from the 1933 relief bond issue; $13,000,000 from the liquor floor tax.

New Needs Faced.

It will face, however, such new liabilities as $32,000,000 for interest and sinking fund charges on the $25,000,000 relief bond issue and the $50,000,000 soldiers' bonus bond issue; an estimated $16,000,000 for old age pensions; an estimated $2,500,000 for blind pensions, and $14,313,000 which the special session borrowed from special state funds for relief purposes and which must be repaid before December 31, 1935.

Interrogated on the floor of the house during the special session, Rep. Morton J. Witkin of Philadelphia, who introduced the "taxless relief program" in the legislature, was asked by Rep. Norbert J. Fitzgerald, Democratic floor leader, where it was proposed to obtain the money to make the replacement of funds borrowed from the motor license and other funds.

"New taxes, I suppose," was Witkins' only reply.

Oppose New Taxes.

Any attempt to levy new taxes is sure to meet with violent opposition from taxpayers, business men and other organized groups.

The utilities, upon whom the Democrats sought to levy new taxes during the last special session, are girding for the fray.

Yet the new legislature, no longer facing re-election as were the members at the special session, may be more willing to levy new imposts.

State Treasurer Charles A. Waters estimates that $154,000,000 will be needed during the 1935-1937 biennium for the ordinary expenses of government. The sum of $20,000,000, it is estimated, will be needed to finance relief until the end of the present biennium May 31, 1935, for which no provision has yet been made. Added to this, the interest and sinking fund requiremnets, repayment of the relief borrowings, blind and old age pensions produce a grand total of $240,688,000.

The vast majority of the members of the house and half the membership of the senate are now engaged in stumping for their re-elections. But they are worried no less by their own candidacies than by the spectre of new taxation, if representative comments during the special session can be taken as a fair indication.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Good work!

The General Assembly held the shortest and least expensive session on record—winding up its work in the short space of seven legislative days. With a minimum of oratory and a maximum of action, the General Assembly approved the plan I submitted to it to provide funds for Pennsylvania's share of the relief burden until the next regular session can act.

Of course everyone knows the problem of raising money for relief is not yet solved. What was done by the General Assembly was merely emergency action to meet a desperate situation. The Federal authorities declined to continue to carry the relief load in Pennsylvania without action by the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

The Legislature transferred for relief $548,000 from the State Insurance Fund, $200,000 from the Manufacturing Fund, not more than $5,500,000 from the Motor License Fund, not more than $3,766,000 from the Liquid Fuel Tax Fund, $2,137,000 from the Liquor License Fund, $1,300,000 from the Fire Insurance Fund, and not more than $1,610,000 from the State School Fund.

These funds were not taken—they were merely borrowed or transferred—and they will be returned. I gave public notice that I would not approve these transfers unless the General Assembly declared its intention to return them by a definite date.

So in each case—except appropriations from the State Insurance Fund, Manufacturing Fund, and the State Store profits which there is no reason to return, the Legislature is bound by the terms of the bill to return the money taken by the end of 1935.

That means, of course, that the next regular session will face two serious problems—one, of raising funds for relief for the next biennium, and two, of providing money to reimburse the funds which it has just transferred.

What was done was obviously the sane and sensible thing to do. No Legislature with an election a few weeks off would levy new taxes. Even an attempt to do so would have been a flat failure.

This short session met the relief situation for the time being, and cost the taxpayers a lot less than was feared. What is more, it paid for itself a hundred times over when the Senate confirmed my five appointees to the Public Service Commission. Their confirmation is a tremendous victory for the great masses of the people. We shall realize that fact more and more as the commission goes ahead with its work.

Already the commission has made great changes which will save Pennsylvania consumers more than $5,000,000 a year. Now—firmly in office for their full terms—they are in a position to go full steam ahead with their good work.

Speedometer Leads To Divorce Suit

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—A speedometer tattled on Mrs. Elmer G. Green and now both she and her husband have started divorce proceedings.

Green, a chiropractor, told Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas that he checked the speedometer of the car in which his pretty young wife had gone to a dance. He said that the telltale mileage showed she had traveled 26 miles. It was only six miles to the dance and back.

Mrs. Green indignantly denies driving that car and asks custody of their small son in a cross complaint.

paying for the poses. The mother, urged to make the picture more interesting by singing a German cradle song to her little boy, started to sing, and burst into tears at once. That made it "a great shot."

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, who knows how to convince juries that murderers young and old should go to heaven, instead of the electric chair, says General Johnson's departure from NRA means the early death of that eagle bird.

And Mr. Darrow who opposed Johnson and his methods believes that "every one will be glad."

The Blue Eagle has lost its boss and will miss him. General Johnson is in retirement, somebody else will tell business men how to run their business, cut down hours of work and working days in the week, and perhaps working weeks and months in the year.

It must be a great relief to General Johnson, as highly praised by the President, he leaves the Blue Eagle, with his oddly matched feet, to fly alone.

General Johnson will be remembered by reporters as one that left the English language richer than he found it. He invented "cracking down," "chiselers," etc., and no old "fee fi fo fum" giant, ever frightened a little boy more than the NRA giant Johnson frightened the business man.

President Roosevelt's predecessor Theodore Roosevelt had to invent his own powerful expressions like "weazel words," "malefactors of great wealth," etc.

President F. D. Roosevelt finds a man able to do it for him.

Two hundred and fifty thousand looked on while Queen Mary, of England, christened the new giant Cunard passenger ship that cost forty million dollars.

King George, who was there too, knows what ships mean to a country too small to support its population.

This new giant, 1,018 feet long, biggest ship on the ocean, has 73,000 tonage, nearly double that of Leviathan. How fast the new boat, named Queen Mary, will go is not known. A single one of her numerous lifeboats, propelled by Diesel engines managed by one man, lowered in a few seconds, will carry more persons than were carried by the first Cunard steamer Britannia, when she first came to New York in 1840. The Queen Mary, with sufficient electrical energy to take care of a city of 150,000 people, is a real boat. Now watch France, Mussolini and Hitler try to beat it.

This country will not try because we are too busy trying to keep the richest nation in the world from going to the poorhouse.

Canada's climate, or something, tends toward increase of population. Bridgetown, Nova Scotia, tells of three sisters that have given birth to fifty-six children. Mrs. Vadito has had twenty-one; Mrs. Wells Rynhard, nineteen; their sister, Mrs. Sabine, sixteen. These figures, plus the Dionne quintuplets, suggest that Canada's population might pass that of the United States before long, especially as our families become smaller and smaller.

In New York there is no child at all in the greatest number of families; only one child in the next largest family class, and two in the next. Many expensive blocks with fine houses have no children.

From an exhibit in the Chicago Exposition some misguided person stole an aluminum capsule containing nine milligrams of radium. A tiny spec worth $1,000 useless to the thief.

Police hunt the criminal, not only to recover the radium, but also to save the foolish thief's life. If he should open the capsul he would risk "death or disfigurement," and carrying it around with him would be fatal.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALLS THURSDAY

Firemen answered two calls on Thursday evening, for minor blazes.

At 6:40 they were summoned to the home of B. C. Graham, of 714 Erie avenue, when smoked filled the house after a fire had been started in the heater. A large hole was found in the chimney from whence the smoke was issuing.

At 10:55 they were called to the home of Mrs. Annie McClurk of 703 Butler avenue when the transformer on the radio became overheated and started to smoke.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Good work!

The General Assembly held the shortest and least expensive session on record—winding up its work in the short space of seven legislative days. With a minimum of oratory and a maximum of action, the General Assembly approved the plan I submitted to it to provide funds for Pennsylvania's share of the relief burden until the next regular session can act.

Of course everyone knows the problem of raising money for relief is not yet solved. What was done by the General Assembly was merely emergency action to meet a desperate situation. The Federal authorities declined to continue to carry the relief load in Pennsylvania without action by the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

The Legislature transferred for relief $548,000 from the State Insurance Fund, $200,000 from the Manufacturing Fund, not more than $5,500,000 from the Motor License Fund, not more than $3,766,000 from the Liquid Fuel Tax Fund, $2,137,000 from the Liquor License Fund, $1,300,000 from the Fire Insurance Fund, and not more than $1,610,000 from the State School Fund.

These funds were not taken—they were merely borrowed or transferred—and they will be returned. I gave public notice that I would not approve these transfers unless the General Assembly declared its intention to return them by a definite date.

So in each case—except appropriations from the State Insurance Fund, Manufacturing Fund, and the State Store profits which there is no reason to return, the Legislature is bound by the terms of the bill to return the money taken by the end of 1935.

That means, of course, that the next regular session will face two serious problems—one, of raising funds for relief for the next biennium, and two, of providing money to reimburse the funds which it has just transferred.

What was done was obviously the sane and sensible thing to do. No Legislature with an election a few weeks off would levy new taxes. Even an attempt to do so would have been a flat failure.

This short session met the relief situation for the time being, and cost the taxpayers a lot less than was feared. What is more, it paid for itself a hundred times over when the Senate confirmed my five appointees to the Public Service Commission. Their confirmation is a tremendous victory for the great masses of the people. We shall realize that fact more and more as the commission goes ahead with its work.

Already the commission has made great changes which will save Pennsylvania consumers more than $5.000.000 a year. Now—firmly in office for their full terms—they are in a position to go full steam ahead with their good work.

Speedometer Leads To Divorce Suit

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—A speedometer tattled on Mrs. Elmer G. Green and now both she and her husband have started divorce proceedings.

Green, a chiropractor, told Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas that he checked the speedometer of the car in which his pretty young wife had gone to a dance. He said that the telltale mileage showed she had traveled 26 miles. It was only six miles to the dance and back.

Mrs. Green indignantly denies driving that car and asks custody of their small son in a cross complaint.

Crime Psychology. The Blue Eagle's Boss. Queen Mary, Sea Giant. 3 Mothers, 56 Children.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

paying for the poses. The mother, urged to make the picture more interesting by singing a German cradle song to her little boy, started to sing, and burst into tears at once. That made it "a great shot."

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, who knows how to convince juries that murderers young and old should go to heaven, instead of the electric chair, says General Johnson's departure from NRA means the early death of that eagle bird.

And Mr. Darrow who opposed Johnson and his methods believes that "every one will be glad."

The Blue Eagle has lost its boss and will miss him. General Johnson is in retirement, somebody else will tell business men how to run their business, cut down hours of work and working days in the week, and perhaps working weeks and months in the year.

It must be a great relief to General Johnson, as, highly praised by the President, he leaves the Blue Eagle, with his oddly matched feet, to fly alone.

General Johnson will be remembered by reporters as one that left the English language richer than he found it. He invented "cracking down," "chisellers," etc., and no old "fee fi fo fum" giant, ever frightened a little boy more than the NRA giant Johnson frightened the business man.

President Roosevelt's predecessor Theodore Roosevelt had to invent his own powerful expressions like "weazel words," "malefactors of great wealth," etc.

President F. D. Roosevelt finds a man able to do it for him.

Two hundred and fifty thousand looked on while Queen Mary, of England, christened the new giant Cunard passenger ship that cost forty million dollars.

King George, who was there too, knows what ships mean to a country too small to support its population.

This new giant, 1,018 feet long, biggest ship on the icean, has 73,000 tonage, nearly double that of Leviathan. How fast the new boat, named Queen Mary, will go is not known. A single one of her numerous lifeboats, propelled by Diesel engines managed by one man, lowered in a few seconds, will carry more persons than were carried by the first Cunard steamer Britannia, when she first came to New York in 1840. The Queen Mary, with sufficient electrical energy to take care of a city of 150,000 people, is a real boat. Now watch France, Mussolini and Hitler try to beat it.

This country will not try because we are too busy trying to keep the richest nation in the world from going to the poorhouse.

Canada's climate, or something, tends toward increase of population. Bridgetown, Nova Scotia, tells of three sisters that have given birth to fifty-six children. Mrs. Vadito has had twenty-one; Mrs. Wells Rynhard, nineteen; their sister, Mrs. Sabine, sixteen. These figures, plus the Dionne quintuplets, suggest that Canada's population might pass that of the United States before long, especially as our families become smaller and smaller.

In New York there is no child at all in the greatest number of families; only one child in the next largest family class, and two in the next. Many expensive blocks with fine houses have no children.

From an exhibit in the Chicago Exposition some misguided person stole an aluminum capsule containing nine milligrams of radium. A tiny spec worth $1,000 useless to the thief.

Police hunt the criminal, not only to recover the radium, but also to save the foolish thief's life. If he should open the capsul he would risk "death or disfigurement," and carrying it around with him would be fatal.

It used to be thought, among pious ancestors, that carrying a guilty secret around in your conscience was fatal.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALLS THURSDAY

Firemen answered two calls on Thursday evening, for minor blazes.

At 6:40 they were summoned to the home of B. C. Graham, of 714 Erie avenue, when smoked filled the house after a fire had been started in the heater. A large hole was found in the chimney from whence the smoke was issuing.

At 10:55 they were called to the home of Mrs. Annie McGurk of 703 Butler avenue when the transformer on the radio became overheated and started to smoke.

Funeral For Detroit Girl

Bury Murder Victim, Eleven Year Old Lillian Gallaher, Today

HUNT FOR SUSPECT IS BEING PUSHED

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Sept. 28—The white-robed priests of St. Dominic chanted a solemn requiem mass over the body of 11 year old Lillian Gallaher today, while the nationwide man hunt for her slayer went on without success.

Merton Word Goodrich, thin-faced Ohio maniac in whose apartment the girl's mutilated body was found stuffed in a trunk was reported seen at a dozen widely separated points. But as each clue was run down and found to be false, the fugitive and his crippled wife Margaret, remained at liberty.

Lillian's classmates of St. Dominic's school, attended her funeral mass and during the intervals of silence between the solemn Latin hymns of the Catholic funeral ritual, childish sobs were plainly audible throughout the crowded church.

The child's body was in a white casket, sealed at the county morgue. Only Lillian's older brother, who identified her, and the officials at the morgue, were permitted to see her body.

It was while selling ten cent "chances" on a punchboard for the school that Lillian apparently was enticed into Goodrich's apartment only a few steps from busy Woodward avenue, and there assaulted and slain. The punch board, with its legend, "for a good cause" was found, twisted and broken, near her body. She had sold one "chance."

The impression prevailed among Detroit police officials that Goodrich and his wife are somewhere in Ohio. Goodrich has friends in several Ohio cities including Elyria, Youngstown and Cleveland. Mrs. Goodrich attended school in Lorain.

HAUPTMANN PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

Plainly showing the strain of hours of grilling since he was arrested as a suspect in the Lindbergh kidnaping, Bruno Hauptmann, center, is pictured in New York City court as he pleaded "not guilty" to an indictment of extortion, in connection with the ransom money. His bail was set at $100,000.

German Mechanic Stars At Opening Government Safes

(International News Service)

BAYREUTH—The world's champion safe burglar lives here and has just celebrated the opening of 1,100 safes.

But he is an honest safe burglar, making his living by unlocking the "safest" safe for banks, governments and the like the world over in ten to twenty minutes.

He is Master Mechanic Adam Roder, who in 1884 invented certain delicate instruments that enable him to laugh at the "foolproof" combinations that the best locksmith can create. In the past fifty years he has travelled to the four corners of the world, including America, in response to appeals from government and industrial concerns to open particularly complicated safes that harbored immense values in papers or metal but had failed to respond to all efforts to open them.

The Governor Says

What Is Going On In Harrisburg— And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Good work!

The General Assembly held the shortest and least expensive session on record—winding up its work in the short space of seven legislative days. With a minimum of oratory and a maximum of action, the General Assembly approved the plan I submitted to it to provide funds for Pennsylvania's share of the relief burden until the next regular session can act.

Of course everyone knows the problem of raising money for relief is not yet solved. What was done by the General Assembly was merely emergency action to meet a desperate situation. The Federal authorities declined to continue to carry the relief load in Pennsylvania without action by the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

The Legislature transferred for relief $548,001 from the State Insurance Fund, $200,000 from the Manufacturing Fund, not more than $5,500,000 from the Motor License Fund, not more than $3,766,000 from the Liquid Fuel Tax Fund, $2,137,000 from the Liquor License Fund, $1,300,000 from the Fire Insurance Fund, and not more than $1,610,000 from the State School Fund.

These funds were not taken—they were merely borrowed or transferred—and they will be returned. I gave public notice that I would not approve these transfers unless the General Assembly declared its intention to return them by a definite date.

So in each case—except appropriations from the State Insurance Fund, Manufacturing Fund, and the State Store profits which there is no reason to return, the Legislature is bound by the terms of the bill to return the money taken by the end of 1935.

That means, of course, that the next regular session will face two serious problems—one, of raising funds for relief for the next biennium, and two, of providing money to reimburse the funds which it has just transferred.

What was done was obviously the sane and sensible thing to do. No Legislature with an election a few weeks off would levy new taxes. Even an attempt to do so would have been a flat failure.

This short session met the relief situation for the time being, and cost the taxpayers a lot less than was feared. What is more, it paid for itself a hundred times over when the Senate confirmed my five appointees to the Public Service Commission. Their confirmation is a tremendous victory for the great masses of the people. We shall realize that fact more and more as the commission goes ahead with its work.

Already the commission has made great changes which will save Pennsylvania consumers more than $5,000,000 a year. Now—firmly in office for their full terms—they are in a position to go full steam ahead with their good work.

Speedometer Leads To Divorce Suit

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 29.—A speedometer tattled on Mrs. Elmer G. Green and now both she and her husband have started divorce proceedings.

Green, a chiropractor, told Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas that he checked the speedometer of the car in which his pretty young wife had gone to a dance. He said that the telltale mileage showed she had traveled 26 miles. It was only six miles to the dance and back.

Mrs. Green indignantly denies driving that car and asks custody of their small son in a cross complaint.

paying for the poses. The mother, urged to make the picture more interesting by singing a German cradle song to her little boy, started to sing, and burst into tears at once. That made it "a great shot."

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, who knows how to convince juries that murderers young and old should go to heaven, instead of the electric chair, says General Johnson's departure from NRA means the early death of that eagle bird.

And Mr. Darrow who opposed Johnson and his methods believes that "every one will be glad."

The Blue Eagle has lost its boss and will miss him. General Johnson is in retirement, somebody else will tell business men how to run their business, cut down hours of work and working days in the week, and perhaps working weeks and months in the year.

It must be a great relief to General Johnson, as, highly praised by the President, he leaves the Blue Eagle, with his oddly matched feet, to fly alone.

General Johnson will be remembered by reporters as one that left the English language richer than he found it. He invented "cracking down," "chisellers," etc., and no old "fee fi fo fum" giant, ever frightened a little boy more than the NRA giant Johnson frightened the business man.

President Roosevelt's predecessor Theodore Roosevelt had to invent his own powerful expressions like "weazel words," "malefactors of great wealth," etc.

President F. D. Roosevelt finds a man able to do it for him.

Two hundred and fifty thousand looked on while Queen Mary, of England, christened the new giant Cunard passenger ship that cost forty million dollars.

King George, who was there too, knows what ships mean to a country too small to support its population.

This new giant, 1,018 feet long, biggest ship on the ocean, has 73,000 tonage, nearly double that of Leviathan. How fast the new boat, named Queen Mary, will go is not known. A single one of her numerous lifeboats, propelled by Diesel engines managed by one man, lowered in a few seconds, will carry more persons than were carried by the first Cunard steamer Britannia, when she first came to New York in 1840. The Queen Mary, with sufficient electrical energy to take care of a city of 150,000 people, is a real boat. Now watch France, Mussolini and Hitler try to beat it.

This country will not try because we are too busy trying to keep the richest nation in the world from going to the poorhouse.

Canada's climate, or something, tends toward increase of population. Bridgetown, Nova Scotia, tells of three sisters that have given birth to fifty-six children. Mrs. Vadito has had twenty-one; Mrs. Wells Rynhard, nineteen; their sister, Mrs. Sabine, sixteen. These figures, plus the Dionne quintuplets, suggest that Canada's population might pass that of the United States before long, especially as our families become smaller and smaller.

In New York there is no child at all in the greatest number of families; only one child in the next largest family class, and two in the next. Many expensive blocks with fine houses have no children.

From an exhibit in the Chicago Exposition some misguided person stole an aluminum capsule containing nine milligrams of radium. A tiny spec worth $1,000 useless to the thief.

Police hunt the criminal, not only to recover the radium, but also to save the foolish thief's life. If he should open the capsul he would risk "death or disfigurement," and carrying it around with him would be fatal.

It used to be thought, among pious ancestors, that carrying a guilty secret around in your conscience was fatal.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALLS THURSDAY

Firemen answered two calls on Thursday evening, for minor blazes.

At 6:40 they were summoned to the home of B. C. Graham, of 714 Erie avenue, when smoked filled the house after a fire had been started in the heater. A large hole was found in the chimney from whence the smoke was issuing.

At 10:55 they were called to the home of Mrs. Annie McGurk of 703 Butler avenue when the transformer on the radio became overheated and started to smoke.

Campaign Against Drunken Drivers Is Being Planned

Drunken Driver Accidents In State Show Alarming Increase, Reported

Leon D. Metzger, Secretary Of Revenue Outlines Plans For Campaign

By JOHN W. SCOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28— Silhouetted against a background of death and destruction, the drunken driver in Pennsylvania today stands under the spotlight of the state department of revenue.

Cognizant of a huge increase in accidents, fatalieles and injuries attributable to intoxicants, the department has just completed an analysis of drunken driving prosecutions in which its state highway patrol was involved during the first five months of this year.

Convictions were obtained in seventy eight per cent in which the highway patrol was involved, according to the report of the 504 cases covered by the analysis, 396 resulted in convictions and 108 defendants were discharged.

Accidents Increase

Accidents caused by drunken drivers during the first eight months of this year increased 90 per cent over the same period for 1933, a perusal of the department's records showed. The number of such accidents from January to August, inclusive, totaled 1370 in which 42 persons met death and 749 injured, as against the same months last year when 702 accidents resulted in 27 deaths and 409 non-fatalities.

Another feature of the report was an analysis of the average length of time elapsing between the arrest of a suspected drunken driver and final court disposition of the case.

This period ranges from an average of 12 days in Bucks county to 94 days in Allegheny: 104 days in Chester county and 107 days in Westmoreland. In counties for which only one or two cases were available for comparison, the elapsed time was as great as 182 days in Adams county and 245 days in Clinton.

Wide Variation

A wide variation was seen in the percentage of convictions in the individual counties which in some instances was considerably higher than the state-wide average.

In Green county, for example, convictions were obtained in all the 20 cases completed, Centre county had a perfect record for 14 cases an Huntingdon for 13. The study showed 13 convictionns out of 14 cases in Bucks county: 18 out of 21 in Beaver 10 out of 12 in Clarion: 15 out of 24 in Allegheny: 15 out of 17 in Erie, 20 out of 21 in Indiana; 16 out of 21 in Lancaster: 14 out of 15 in Mifflin: 16 out of 19 in York, and 19 out of 20 in Venango.

Metzger Outline Plans

Leon D. Metzger, secretary of the department, believes that further progress in checking drunken driving in this state will require:

"1. Active law enforcement by state and municipal police and all other local authorities.

"2. Vigorous prosecution of all cases in which the element of intoxication is prominent.

3. "Recognition by juries that the drunken driver s a menace to highway safety and by no means a sensible citizen exercising a newly legalized privilege.

"4. Cooperation of law observing motorists in reporting to the nearest authorities all cases of intoxicated driving they see, particularly before the driver who obviously is under the influence of liquor has a chance to get involved in an accident.

"5. General educational work to re-impress upon all motorists the folly of attempting to mix liquor and driving under modern traffic conditions.

"6. Revision of existing state laws clearly to define 'intoxication' and to permit summary conviction by which a justice of the peace can sentence an accused drunken driver immediately after seeing him in the condition in which the arresting officer found him."

Racketeering On Relief Projects Being Practiced

Letters Of Protest Filed In Washington With National And State Relief Heads

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Union racketeering is being practiced on Relief Works Division projects, an organized group of unemployed persons charged today in letter of protest directed to the national and state relief heads.

Citing a remodeling job now under way at a downtown office building as allegedly substantiating their charges, the protestants who said they were members of "the Right to Work League," wrote Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Eric Biddle, state administrator, complaining of the condition.

According to the league, seventeen electricians who claimed they were hired through state and federal agencies, were laid off shortly after being put to work because of failure to pay dues in the electric workers union. They demand an investigation.

Necklaces are staging a comeback, especially for evening, with collar types and multi-strand styles favored.

School Days Call For Safety Rules

Reopening of schools creates new traffic hazards in the form of thousands of school children on the streets and motorists should feel obligated to drive carefully and thereby safeguard the life and limb of these future citizens.

This statement was made today by Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, who declared that every effort will be made to make the 1934-35 school year one of new achievements in safety.

Thousands of safety lessons and posters are being distributed in the class rooms for the purpose of educating youngsters in self protection. All this represents one phase of the work of the American Automobile Association in preventing accidents on streets and highways.

"The success of this program, however, depends largely upon the cooperation given by motorists. They should take advantage of every opportunity to encourage and support this safety effort. They should keep the brakes and other safety features of the car in good condition, and they should always respond to the appeal of officers for a chance for the children to cross streets in safety.

"The accident record of children, largely due to safety lessons," has been unusually fine as compared to the record for adults. In fact, only about 11 per cent of the fatal motor accidents during 1933 involved children in the age group, five to fourteen years.

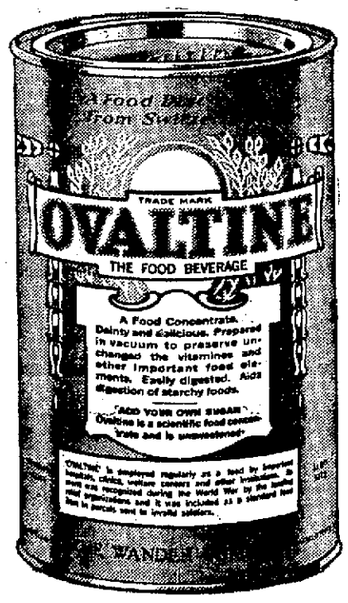
NOT BECAUSE OUR BUSINESS IS BAD
BUT BECAUSE OUR BUSINESS IS GOOD . . .

WE ANNOUNCE:

A DRASTIC PRICE REDUCTION

Millions of Ovaltine Users Will Be Glad to Learn That Their Patronage Has Enabled Us Once Again to Reduce Prices. This Time Over 20%



EVERY year since 1918, when Ovaltine was first brought to this country from Switzerland, its usage has increased at a very rapid rate. The American public have been quick to recognize the unusual merits and the many uses of this unique food beverage.

We, in turn, have reduced the price, each time that increased sales became large enough to cut our costs. (This is the third reduction since 1927.) And each time the public has responded with greater usage.

Since 1929, for example—in spite of a business depression—the usage of Ovaltine has increased more than 100%. Decreased incomes, we believe, have made people keener in judging values.

Up to now, however, most people have used Ovaltine as a specialized food for specific needs; for example, to build up underweight children; for convalescence after illnesses; or as a hot drink at bedtime to induce sound sleep.

But now, at these new low prices, we believe that Ovaltine can, and should be kept in every home for all of the many wonderful purposes it serves.

TABLE BEVERAGE

If you searched the world over, we doubt if you could find a better daily beverage to protect you and fortify your meals against many of the deficiencies that creep into the average diet. The food values of Ovaltine are not only exceptional, but the elements it contains have been scientifically selected to meet the main needs of the human body.

FOR CONVALESCENCE

Ovaltine is widely used in hospitals throughout the world as an important aid in building up patients during convalescence—especially after illnesses and surgical operations—when digestion is weak or impaired.

For this concentrated food is highly nourishing—and extremely easy to digest, even when digestion is weak. Thus, Ovaltine provides, in readily assimilable form, extra nourishment needed for the rapid repair of nerve, brain and muscle cells.

Campaign Against Drunken Drivers Is Being Planned

Drunken Driver Accidents In State Show Alarming Increase, Reported

Leon D. Metzger, Secretary Of Revenue Outlines Plans For Campaign

By JOHN W. SCOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28— Silhouetted against a background of death and destruction, the drunken driver in Pennsylvania today stands under the spotlight of the state department of revenue.

Cognizant of a huge increase in accidents, fatalieies and injuries attributable to intoxicants, the department has just completed an analysis of drunken driving prosecutions in which its state highway patrol was involved during the first five months of this year.

Convictions were obtained in seventy eight per cent in which the highway patrol was involved, according to the report. of the 504 cases covered by the analysis, 396 resulted in convictions and 108 defendants were discharged.

Accidents Increase

Accidents caused by drunken drivers during the first eight months of this year increased 90 per cent over the same period for 1933, a perusal of the department's records showed. The number of such accidents from January to August, inclusive, totaled 1370 in which 42 persons met death and 749 injured, as against the same months last year when 702 accidents resulted in 27 deaths and 409 non-fatalities.

Another feature of the report was an analysis of the average length of time elapsing between the arrest of a suspected drunken driver and final court disposition of the case.

This period ranges from an average of 12 days in Bucks county to 94 days in Allegheny: 104 days in Chester county and 107 days in Westmoreland. In counties for which only one or two cases were available for comparison, the elapsed time was as great as 182 days in Adams county and 245 days in Clinton.

Wide Variation

A wide variation was seen in the percentage of convictions in the individual counties which in some instances was considerably higher than the state-wide average.

In Green county, for example, convictions were obtained in all the 20 cases completed, Centre county had a perfect record for 14 cases an Huntingdon for 13. The study showed 13 convictionns out of 14 cases in Bucks county: 18 out of 21 in Beaver 10 out of 12 in Clarion: 15 out of 24 in Allegheny: 15 out of 17 in Erie, 20 out of 21 in Indiana; 16 out of 21 in Lancaster: 14 out of 15 in Mifflin: 16 out of 19 in York, and 19 out of 20 in Venango.

Metzger Outline Plans

Leon D. Metzger, secretary of the department, believes that further progress in checking drunken driving in this state will require:

"1. Active law enforcement by state and municipal police and all other local authorities.

"2. Vigorous prosecution of all cases in which the element of intoxication is prominent.

3. "Recognition by juries that the drunken driver s a menace to highway safety and by no means a sensible citizen exercising a newly legalized privilege.

"4. Cooperation of law observing motorists in reporting to the nearest authorities all cases of intoxicated driving they see, particularly before the driver who obviously is under the influence of liquor has a chance to get involved in an accident.

"5. General educational work to re-impress upon all motorists the folly of attempting to mix liquor and driving under modern traffic conditions.

"6. Revision of existing state laws clearly to define 'intoxication' and to permit summary conviction by which a justice of the peace can sentence an accused drunken driver immediately after seeing him in the condition in which the arresting officer found him."

Racketeering On Relief Projects Being Practiced

Letters Of Protest Filed In Washington With National And State Relief Heads

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Union racketeering is being practiced on Relief Works Division projects, an organized group of unemployed persons charged today in letter of protest directed to the national and state relief heads.

Citing a remodeling job now under way at a downtown office building as allegedly substantiating their charges, the protestants who said they were members of "the Right to Work League," wrote Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Eric Biddle, state administrator, complaining of the condition.

According to the league, seventeen electricians who claimed they were hired through state and federal agencies, were laid off shortly after being put to work because of failure to pay dues in the electric workers union. They demand an investigation.

School Days Call For Safety Rules

Reopening of schools creates new traffic hazards in the form of thousands of school children on the streets and motorists should feel obligated to drive carefully and thereby safeguard the life and limb of these future citizens.

This statement was made today by Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, who declared that every effort will be made to make the 1934-35 school year one of new achievements in safety.

Thousands of safety lessons and posters are being distributed in the class rooms for the purpose of educating youngsters in self protection. All this represents one phase of the work of the American Automobile Association in preventing accidents on streets and highways.

"The success of this program, however, depends largely upon the cooperation given by motorists. They should take advantage of every opportunity to encourage and support this safety effort. They should keep the brakes and other safety features of the car in good condition, and they should always respond to the appeal of officers for a chance for the children to cross streets in safety.

"The accident record of children, largely due to safety lessons," has been unusually fine as compared to the record for adults. In fact, only about 11 per cent of the fatal motor accidents during 1933 involved children in the age group, five to fourteen years.

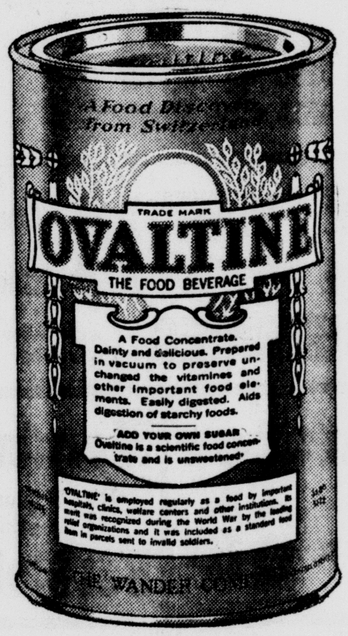
NOT BECAUSE OUR BUSINESS IS BAD

BUT BECAUSE OUR BUSINESS IS GOOD . . .

WE ANNOUNCE:

A DRASTIC PRICE REDUCTION

Millions of Ovaltine Users Will Be Glad to Learn That Their Patronage Has Enabled Us Once Again to Reduce Prices. This Time Over 20%



EVERY year since 1918, when Ovaltine was first brought to this country from Switzerland, its usage has increased at a very rapid rate. The American public have been quick to recognize the unusual merits and the many uses of this unique food beverage.

We, in turn, have reduced the price, each time that increased sales became large enough to cut our costs. (This is the third reduction since 1927.) And each time the public has responded with greater usage.

Since 1929, for example—in spite of a business depression—the usage of Ovaltine has increased more than 100%. Decreased incomes, we believe, have made people keener in judging values.

Up to now, however, most people have used Ovaltine as a specialized food for specific needs; for example, to build up underweight children; for convalescence after illnesses; or as a hot drink at bedtime to induce sound sleep.

But now, at these new low prices, we believe that Ovaltine can, and should be kept in every home for all of the many wonderful purposes it serves.

TABLE BEVERAGE

If you searched the world over, we doubt if you could find a better daily beverage to protect you and fortify your meals against many of the deficiencies that creep into the average diet. The food values of Ovaltine are not only exceptional, but the elements it contains have been scientifically selected to meet the main needs of the human body.

FOR CONVALESCENCE

Ovaltine is widely used in hospitals throughout the world as an important aid in building up patients during convalescence—especially after illnesses and surgical operations—when digestion is weak or impaired.

For this concentrated food is highly nourishing—and extremely easy to digest, even when digestion is weak. Thus, Ovaltine provides, in readily assimilable form, extra nourishment needed for the rapid repair of nerve, brain and muscle cells.

After illness in your home, try giving Ovaltine (with your doctor's consent of course) 3 or 4 times a day. Note the difference it makes—the gain in energy and strength!

FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

To restore strength and vitality in old age—when digestion is weak and mastication difficult—the use of Ovaltine in the diet aids in a very important way!

For this highly nourishing food concentrate is easy to digest—and is taken in liquid form.

Try giving Ovaltine as a hot drink with meals or between meals, and especially at bedtime as an aid to deep, restful sleep. During sleep it aids nature greatly in restoring energy and vitality.

NURSING MOTHERS

To meet the added strain of maternity—a mother needs special nourishment. That is why physicians so widely recommend Ovaltine—to promote the flow and quality of milk upon which a baby's tiny life depends.

For a cup of Ovaltine provides, in quickly digestible form, the definite food elements necessary for building nerve, bone and muscle. Thus acting importantly to foster a baby's normal development and growth.

STOMACH OUT OF SORTS

If your stomach is overtired or out of sorts—reducing your pep and energy, robbing you of sleep—you may find that it needs a rest from rich, heavy foods. Physicians recommend Ovaltine for this purpose.

For Ovaltine supplies highly concentrated nourishment in a form that digests almost without effort—even when your stomach is out of sorts. Made according to directions, it is almost a complete food in itself.

Avoid rich and heavy foods. Simply take Ovaltine mixed with milk—with light meals and before retiring every day. See how much better your stomach acts and feels.

UNDERWEIGHT CHILDREN

Ovaltine mixed with milk has worked wonders with underweight children. First, because it is so easy to digest; even when digestion is slow, upset, or impaired. Second, because Ovaltine itself is exceptionally nourishing. And third, because it contains definite properties to stimulate the appetite for other foods. Hundreds of mothers report weight increases of a pound or more per week when Ovaltine is given. In this way it combats nervousness, too. For underweight and nervousness usually go hand in hand.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Doctors have found that Ovaltine, when taken as a hot drink at bedtime, usually induces calm, restful sleep. They like to recommend it, for in doing so, they avoid the use of drugs. In addition to this, the unique food properties of Ovaltine make it a valuable aid to nature in rebuilding body, brain, and nerve tissue while you sleep. By this method you awaken—not with a "druggy" feeling—but clear-eyed and refreshed—nerves calm and mind clear.

Funeral For Detroit Girl

Bury Murder Victim, Eleven Year Old Lillian Gallaher, Today

HUNT FOR SUSPECT IS BEING PUSHED

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Sept. 28—The white-robed priests of St. Dominic chanted a solemn requiem mass over the body of 11 year old Lillian Gallaher today, while the nationwide man hunt for her slayer went on without success.

Merton Ward Goodrich, thin-faced Ohio maniac in whose apartment the girl's mutilated body was found stuffed in a trunk was reported seen at a dozen widely separated points. But as each clue was run down and found to be false, the fugitive and his crippled wife Margaret, remained at liberty.

Lillian's classmates of St. Dominic's school, attended her funeral mass and during the intervals of silence between the solemn Latin hymns of the Catholic funeral ritual, childish sobs were plainly audible throughout the crowded church.

The child's body was in a white casket, sealed at the county morgue. Only Lillian's older brother, who identified her, and the officials at the morgue, were permitted to see her body.

It was while selling ten cent "chances" on a punchboard for the school that Lillian apparently was enticed into Goodrich's apartment only a few steps from busy Woodward avenue, and there assaulted and slain. The punch board, with its legend, "for a good cause" was found, twisted and broken, near her body. She had sold one "chance."

The impression prevailed among Detroit police officials that Goodrich and his wife are somewhere in Ohio. Goodrich has friends in several Ohio cities including Elyria, Youngstown and Cleveland. Mrs. Goodrich attended school in Lorain.

HAUPTMANN PLEADS "NOT GUILTY"

Plainly showing the strain of hours of grilling since he was arrested as a suspect in the Lindbergh kidnaping, Bruno Hauptmann, center, is pictured in New York City court as he pleaded "not guilty" to an indictment of extortion, in connection with the ransom money. His bail was set at $100,000.

German Mechanic Stars At Opening Government Safes

(International News Service)

BAYREUTH—The world's champion safe burglar lives here and has just celebrated the opening of 1,100 safes.

But he is an honest safe burglar, making his living by unlocking the "safest" safe for banks, governments and the like the world over in ten to twenty minutes.

He is Master Mechanic Adam Roder, who in 1884 invented certain delicate instruments that enable him to laugh at the "foolproof" combinations that the best locksmith can create. In the past fifty years he has travelled to the four corners of the world, including America, in response to appeals from government and industrial concerns to open particularly complicated safes that harbored immense values in papers or metal but had failed to respond to all efforts to open them.

Refuses To Participate In New Attempts To Solve Chaco Dispute

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—Apparent refusal of the United States to participate with Latin-American nations in new attempts to solve the Chaco dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia was revealed here today.

The reported decision, delivered to Joseph Avenol, secretary-general of the League of Nations, by Prentiss Gilbert, United States consul here, cast gloom over league headquarters at the closing of the council's 82nd session.

League officials declined to divulge the text of the Washington reply to their recent confidential communication on the subject, but it was hinted the United States is apparently unwilling to involve itself in lengthy negotiations which are likely to prove fruitless.

The proposal now is to reconvene the league assembly in November to deal with this subject and the forthcoming Saar plebiscite. Original plans called for adjournment of the assembly until March of next year.

Ecuador was formally accepted as the 60th member of the League of Nations at the final council meeting of this session today.

Campaign Against Drunken Drivers Is Being Planned

Drunken Driver Accidents In State Show Alarming Increase, Reported

Leon D. Metzger, Secretary Of Revenue Outlines Plans For Campaign

By JOHN W. SCOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28— Silhouetted against a background of death and destruction, the drunken driver in Pennsylvania today stands under the spotlight of the state department of revenue.

Cognizant of a huge increase in accidents, fatalleies and injuries attributable to intoxicants, the department has just completed an analysis of drunken driving prosecutions in which its state highway patrol was involved during the first five months of this year.

Convictions were obtained in seventy eight per cent in which the highway patrol was involved, according to the report of the 504 cases covered by the analysis, 396 resulted in convictions and 108 defendants were discharged.

Accidents Increase

Accidents caused by drunken drivers during the first eight months of this year increased 90 per cent over the same period for 1933, a perusal of the department's records showed. The number of such accidents from January to August, inclusive, totaled 1370 in which 42 persons met death and 749 injured, as against the same months last year when 702 accidents resulted in 27 deaths and 409 non-fatalities.

Another feature of the report was an analysis of the average length of time elapsing between the arrest of a suspected drunken driver and final court disposition of the case.

This period ranges from an average of 12 days in Bucks county to 94 days in Allegheny: 104 days in Chester county and 107 days in Westmorcland. In counties for which only one or two cases were available for comparison, the elapsed time was as great as 182 days in Adams county and 245 days in Clinton.

Wide Variation

A wide variation was seen in the percentage of convictions in the individual counties which in some instances was considerably higher than the state-wide average.

In Green county, for example, convictions were obtained in all the 20 cases completed, Centre county had a perfect record for 14 cases an Huntingdon for 13. The study showed 13 convictionns out of 14 cases in Bucks county: 18 out of 21 in Beaver 10 out of 12 in Clarion: 15 out of 24 in Allegheny: 15 out of 17 in Erie, 20 out of 21 in Indiana; 16 out of 21 in Lancaster: 14 out of 15 in Mifflin: 16 out of 19 in York, and 19 out of 20 in Venango.

Metzger Outline Plans

Leon D. Metzger, secretary of the department, believes that further progress in checking drunken driving in this state will require:

"1. Active law enforcement by state and municipal police and all other local authorities.

"2. Vigorous prosecution of all cases in which the element of intoxication is prominent.

3. "Recognition by juries that the drunken driver s a menace to highway safety and by no means a sensible citizen exercising a newly legalized privilege.

"4. Cooperation of law observing motorists in reporting to the nearest authorities all cases of intoxicated driving they see, particularly before the driver who obviously is under the influence of liquor has a chance to get involved in an accident.

"5. General educational work to re-impress upon all motorists the folly of attempting to mix liquor and driving under modern traffic conditions.

"6. Revision of existing state laws clearly to define 'intoxication' and to permit summary conviction by which a justice of the peace can sentence an accused drunken driver immediately after seeing him in the condition in which the arresting officer found him."

School Days Call For Safety Rules

Reopening of schools creates new traffic hazards in the form of thousands of school children on the streets and motorists should feel obligated to drive carefully and thereby safeguard the life and limb of these future citizens.

This statement was made today by Ralph W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, who declared that every effort will be made to make the 1934-35 school year one of new achievements in safety.

Thousands of safety lessons and posters are being distributed in the class rooms for the purpose of educating youngsters in self protection. All this represents one phase of the work of the American Automobile Association in preventing accidents on streets and highways.

"The success of this program, however, depends largely upon the cooperation given by motorists. They should take advantage of every opportunity to encourage and support this safety effort. They should keep the brakes and other safety features of the car in good condition, and they should always respond to the appeal of officers for a chance for the children to cross streets in safety.

"The accident record of children, largely due to safety lessons," has been unusually fine as compared to the record for adults. In fact, only about 11 per cent of the fatal motor accidents during 1933 involved children in the age group, five to fourteen years.

Racketeering On Relief Projects Being Practiced

Letters Of Protest Filed In Washington With National And State Relief Heads

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Union racketeering is being practiced on Relief Works Division projects, an organized group of unemployed persons charged today in letter of protest directed to the national and state relief heads.

Citing a remodeling job now under way at a downtown office building as allegedly substantiating their charges, the protestants who said they were members of "the Right to Work League," wrote Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Eric Biddle, state administrator, complaining of the condition.

According to the league, seventeen electricians who claimed they were hired through state and federal agencies, were laid off shortly after being put to work because of failure to pay dues in the electric workers union. They demand an investigation.

Necklaces are staging a comeback, especially for evening, with collar types and multi-strand styles favored.

BUT BECAUSE OUR BUSINESS IS GOOD . . .

WE ANNOUNCE:

A DRASTIC PRICE REDUCTION

Millions of Ovaltine Users Will Be Glad to Learn That Their Patronage Has Enabled Us Once Again to Reduce Prices. This Time Over 20%

EVERY year since 1918, when Ovaltine was first brought to this country from Switzerland, its usage has increased at a very rapid rate. The American public have been quick to recognize the unusual merits and the many uses of this unique food beverage.

We, in turn, have reduced the price, each time that increased sales became large enough to cut our costs. (This is the third reduction since 1927.) And each time the public has responded with greater usage.

Since 1929, for example—in spite of a business depression—the usage of Ovaltine has increased more than 100%. Decreased incomes, we believe, have made people keener in judging values.

Up to now, however, most people have used Ovaltine as a specialized food for specific needs; for example, to build up underweight children; for convalescence after illnesses; or as a hot drink at bedtime to induce sound sleep.

But now, at these new low prices, we believe that Ovaltine can, and should be kept in every home for all of the many wonderful purposes it serves.

TABLE BEVERAGE

If you searched the world over, we doubt if you could find a better daily beverage to protect you and fortify your meals against many of the deficiencies that creep into the average diet. The food values of Ovaltine are not only exceptional, but the elements it contains have been scientifically selected to meet the main needs of the human body.

FOR CONVALESCENCE

Ovaltine is widely used in hospitals throughout the world as an important aid in building up patients during convalescence—especially after illnesses and surgical operations—when digestion is weak or impaired.

For this concentrated food is highly nourishing—and extremely easy to digest, even when digestion is weak. Thus, Ovaltine provides, in readily assimilable form, extra nourishment needed for the rapid repair of nerve, brain and muscle cells.

After illness in your home, try giving Ovaltine (with your doctor's consent of course) 3 or 4 times a day. Note the difference it makes—the gain in energy and strength!

FOR ELDERLY PEOPLE

To restore strength and vitality in old age—when digestion is weak and mastication difficult—the use of Ovaltine in the diet aids in a very important way!

For this highly nourishing food concentrate is easy to digest—and is taken in liquid form.

Try giving Ovaltine as a hot drink with meals or between meals, and especially at bedtime as an aid to deep, restful sleep. During sleep it aids nature greatly in restoring energy and vitality.

NURSING MOTHERS

To meet the added strain of maternity—a mother needs special nourishment. That is why physicians so widely recommend Ovaltine—to promote the flow and quality of milk upon which a baby's tiny life depends.

For a cup of Ovaltine provides, in quickly digestible form, the definite food elements necessary for building nerve, bone and muscle. Thus acting importantly to foster a baby's normal development and growth.

STOMACH OUT OF SORTS

If your stomach is overtired or out of sorts—reducing your pep and energy, robbing you of sleep—you may find that it needs a rest from rich, heavy foods. Physicians recommend Ovaltine for this purpose.

For Ovaltine supplies highly concentrated nourishment in a form that digests almost without effort—even when your stomach is out of sorts. Made according to directions, it is almost a complete food in itself.

Avoid rich and heavy foods. Simply take Ovaltine mixed with milk—with light meals and before retiring every day. See how much better your stomach acts and feels.

UNDERWEIGHT CHILDREN

Ovaltine mixed with milk has worked wonders with underweight children. First, because it is so easy to digest; even when digestion is slow, upset, or impaired. Second, because Ovaltine itself is exceptionally nourishing. And third, because it contains definite properties to stimulate the appetite for other foods. Hundreds of mothers report weight increases of a pound or more per week when Ovaltine is given. In this way it combats nervousness, too. For underweight and nervousness usually go hand in hand.

SLEEPLESSNESS

Doctors have found that Ovaltine, when taken as a hot drink at bedtime, usually induces calm, restful sleep. They like to recommend it, for in doing so, they avoid the use of drugs. In addition to this, the unique food properties of Ovaltine make it a valuable aid to nature in rebuilding body, brain, and nerve tissue while you sleep. By this method you awaken—not with a "druggy" feeling—but clear-eyed and refreshed—nerves calm and mind clear.

Say Hauptmann Afraid In Jail

Fears Other Prisoners Is Idea Of Assistant Attorney General

THREATS HURLED AT HIM IN JAIL

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 28.—Phlegmatic, almost indifferent, composure of Bruno Richard Hauptmann under police grilling was attributed today to the fact that only at that time it Hauptmann free from the grip of fear.

Fear, and fear alone, is responsible for Hauptmann's stolid indifference, acording to Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lanigan—and this fear is based on the hatred felt for Hauptmann by fellow prisoners in the Bronx county jail.

"The authorities," Lanigan added, "have had to place an extraordinarily strong guard outside his cell because while he is in jail he lives in awful fear of his fellow-inmates.

"Continual catcalls, boos and violent threats are hurled at Hauptmann all during his stays in the cell.

"No other prisoners are permitted in the exercise yard while Hauptmann is allowed out for his daily walk. The man actually welcomes, I believe, being brought out of the jail to the district attorney's office for questioning. It appears to be the only time he is not afraid."

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Psalm 145:13—"Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom."

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for Sept. 30 is Heb. 11:32-40, the quarterly review lesson covering a three months' study of "the Prophets and Kings of Israel from Abijah to Isaiah," the Golden Text being Psalm 145:13, "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

This Golden Text suggests the fundamental truth that God's Kingdom neither began with Saul and David nor ended with the captivities of Israel and Judah. His ideal of government was found in none of these earthly kings or kingdoms, but was sought in their recognition of his sovereignty over his people. His government over them was not intended to be an earthly monarchy but a theocracy. The pity, therefore, is not that the kingdom was divided under Rehoboam and Jeroboam, but rather that they rejected God when they said, "Make us a king to judge us like all the nations." God interpreted this as rebellion against his sovereignty, and said, "They have rejected me that I should not reign over them."

The Divided Kingdom

So even the kingdom of David or of "Solomon in all his glory" was far from God's ideal. At its best its glory was tawdry and tinseled. The secession of the ten northern tribes of Israel under Jeroboam inaugurated a system of chain-store idolotry that cursed the nation through the reigns of 19 kings, every one of whom were wicked idoloters and brought the people of the ten tribes of Israel to their destruction after 241 years in the fall of Samaria at the hands of the Assyrians in the year 721 B. C.

The story of the southern kingdom of Judah is but little better. There, too, were 19 kings, but not all of them were wicked idoloters. Five of them, Asa, Jehosophat, Joash, Hezekiah and Josiah were godly men who served as reformers to lead the people back to God through the restoration of God's word and the ordinances of his holy temple in Jerusalem, and gave Judah its stay of execution that prolonged its life 135 years after Israel's destruction. But even Judah and Jerusalem rushed madly on in their rebellious idolotry into their destruction in the Babylonian captivity in 586 B. C. The secret of both captivities of Israel and Judah was their rejection of God's everlasting Kingdom as he said to Samuel, "They have rejected me that I should not reign over them."

The Rejected Prophets

"Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" This is the broken hearted sob of Isaiah as he rises to the height of his prophetic ministry. It might well be made the theme song of all the prophets from Elijah to John the Baptist. Great men of God, clear visioned, courageous and zealous, they plead with the people, generation after generation. Elijah challenged Ahab with fiery zeal, Elisha ministered to the poor with tender compassion. Amos cried out against the social injustice of his day. Hosea passionately laid bare his own wounded marital love as a pattern of God's grief over the spiritual adultery of his people and their shameful infidelity toward him. Micah championed God's cause in behalf of the common people as a reasonable cause, and one well within the reach of all to attain: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" They could not alibi that the messages of the prophets were unreasonable. So they came from God, rough men of the wilderness like Elijah, princely statesmen like Isaiah or farmers or shepherds like Amos only to be stoned, exiled, mocked, sawn asunder, types and shadows of the true Prophet, Priest and King, Jesus Christ, for whose everlasting kingdom they sought to prepare the way. We only escape their sin as we seek to "crown him Lord of all."

Great men of God, clear visioned, courageous and zealous, they plead with the people, generation after generation. Elijah challenged Ahab with fiery zeal. Elisha ministered to the poor with tender compassion. Amos cried out against the social injustice of his day. Hosea passionately laid bare his own wounded marital love as a pattern of God's grief over the spiritual adultery of his people and their shameful infidelity toward him. Micah championed God's cause in behalf of the common people as a reasonable cause, and one well within the reach of all to attain: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" They could not alibi that the messages of the prophets were unreasonable. So they came from God, rough men of the wilderness like Elijah, princely statesmen like Isaiah or farmers or shepherds like Amos only to be stoned, exiled, mocked, sawn asunder, types and shadows of the true Prophet, Priest and King, Jesus Christ, for whose everlasting kingdom they sought to prepare the way. We only escape their sin as we seek to "crown him Lord of all."

FREAK REBOUND

(International News Service)

LINCOLN, Neb.—Jack Rickets was driving along the street here when the left rear wheel of his automobile flew off, rolled a half a block down the street, hit a parked car and rebounded back to the car. Rickets picked it up and without comment replaced it with but a few moments lost.

United States Turns Deaf Ear

Refuses To Participate In New Attempts To Solve Chaco Dispute

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—Apparent refusal of the United States to participate with Latin-American nations in new attempts to solve the Chaco dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia was revealed here today.

The reported decision, delivered to Joseph Avenol, secretary-general of the League of Nations, by Prentiss Gilbert, United States consul here, cast gloom over league headquarters at the closing of the council's 82nd session.

League officials declined to divulge the text of the Washington reply to their recent confidential communication on the subject, but it was hinted the United States is apparently unwilling to involve itself in lengthy negotiations which are likely to prove fruitless.

The proposal now is to reconvene the league assembly in November to deal with this subject and the forthcoming Saar plebiscite. Original plans called for adjournment of the assembly until March of next year.

Ecuador was formally accepted as the 60th member of the League of Nations at the final council meeting of this session today.

Would Abolish Liquor Stores

Belief Prevails That State Liquor Stores Will Go, Favor High License Law

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The state liquor store system in Pennsylvania will be abolished by unsympathetic legislators, according to officers of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association, who made public today the result of a survey conducted by the association among members of the state house of representatives.

The law, passed in haste after repeal of the 18th amendment, will be wiped off the statute books as quickly as the matter can be brought before the house, it was predicted by the association.

Questionaires were mailed to members of the law-making body on September 14, asking each of them to forward to the association his opinion of the system. Better than half of those who received questionaires responded.

Against Stores

Forty replies protested emphatically against the commonwealth being in the liquor business and an additional two asserted that "it's none of your business. We'll do as our leader asks." The latter were from Pike county, home of Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The 40 dissenting representatives supported the activities of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association and urged that a bill be introduced in the January, 1935, assembly asking for the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Several of the members who replied asserted that they are in favor of a modified type of the old Brooks high license low. Samuel Somerson, a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Dealers' association, notified representatives of the following counties: Philadelphia, Somerset, Erie, Allegheny, Bucks, Northumberland, Northampton, Delaware, Berks, Monroe, Juniata, Pike and Butler.

Somerson sent out the questionaires on September 14 and received all the replies by September 27. He said that none of the representatives protested the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Demand For Coin Reflects Upturn In U. S. Business

(International News Service)

DENVER—The current upturn in business conditions is reflected in the increased demand for supplementary coins, according to Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States mint and former governor of Wyoming.

Mrs. Ross came to Denver recently to witness the unloading of gold ingots being shipped to the Denver mint from San Francisco. Upwards of $2,000,000,000 worth of the precious metal will be stored in the mint vaults here.

"I have been interested in going over figures of the mint," Mrs. Ross said, "and it is satisfying to note that in past generations the mint has quickly pointed to a resumption of business activity just as it now does. Accordingly, unless all signs fail, this depression has been beaten.

"The demand for silver coins, coming from private business, is entirely voluntary and tells a happy, gratifying story, I think. Every mint in the country is operating at top speed."

AN APPRECIATION

Sept. 28, 1934.

Mr. Fred L. Rentz,
President The News,
New Castle, Penna.
Dear Sir:—

As manager of the New Castle Fair I would be unmindful of the splendid co-operation of you and your newspaper if I did not acknowledge that co-operation in connection with the 1934 fair. Fairs are put across through hard work and publicity. Without the publicity the hard work might very easily fail. Fortunately for the fair that publicity was given unstintingly and I want you to know how deeply we appreciate it. I know you are interested in the fact that the fair was successful this year and that the money expended by the directors for the work of putting it on was spent almost 100 percent with Lawrence County people.

The New Castle News is an integral part of Lawrence County. More it is an institution. The New Castle Fair is also an integral part of community life in Lawrence County we like to believe and in the success of the 1934 fair the directors and myself want to express our gratitude for the part your paper played in putting it over.

Sincerely,
NEW CASTLE FAIR DIRECTORS
A. C. SHOAFF, Mgr.

Sews Gash In Heart To Save Patient

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Knifed during a brawl, Cecil Dawes was taken to a hospital here in a dying condition. All hope was abandoned for his recovery until a surgeon decided to risk the delicate task of sewing up the gash in the patient's heart covering made by the knife.

"It was a long shot, but I tried it," the physician said. "I reached down in the wound, swabbing the blood from the hemorrhage, and with two fingers felt the heart beating. Then I mad two sutures."

Graves rallied and at last reports was believed to have an even chance of recovering. The operation was performed with a local anaesthetic.

Hoarded Her Money, Now It Is Worthless

(International News Service)

NAGYKOROS, Hungary — Mrs. Laszlo Kovacs didn't trust banks. She was thrifty but preferred keeping her hoarded savings in odd places cut in the walls of her farmhouse.

That was 20 years ago, and Mrs. Kovacs forgot where she had hidden some of her hoard.

Recently she found the money, 40 pounds of it cached away. The money, originally worth thousands of dollars, is worthless, being of the pre-war vintage which has been repudiated or become completely worthless through inflation.

John Brown's Hut To Be Rejuvenated

(International News Service)

WEST BRANCH, Ia.—The hut which once harbored John Brown, the famous abolitionist immortalized in song, stands in ruins near here as the State Historical society plans its rejuvenation. The cement is crumbling, part of the woodwork has fallen, the front door hangs on one hinge and one wall has caved in.

Words of Wisdom

A king ruleth as he ought, a tyrant as he lists, a king to the profit of all, a tyrant only to please a few. —Aristotle.

Huge Attendance At Municipal Opera

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—Over 700,000 persons attended the 82 performances of municipal opera presented here this summer in the open air theater in Forest Park. This is an attendance of but 13,000 less than the record crowd that witnessed last season's productions.

"Show Boat" proved the most popular work, according to the attendance figures which reveal that 66,652, the largest week's turnout of the season, viewed the Kern musical play the last week of the season. A previous week of the same show drew 53,837, making a total of 120,489 that witnessed the 13 performances.

Would Abolish Liquor Stores

Belief Prevails That State Liquor Stores Will Go, Favor High License Law

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The state liquor store system in Pennsylvania will be abolished by unsympathetic legislators, according to officers of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association, who made public today the result of a survey conducted by the association among members of the state house of representatives.

The law, passed in haste after repeal of the 18th amendment, will be wiped off the statute books as quickly as the matter can be brought before the house, it was predicted by the association.

Questionaires were mailed to members of the law-making body on September 14, asking each of them to forward to the association his opinion of the system. Better than half of those who received questionaires responded.

Against Stores

Forty replies protested emphatically against the commonwealth being in the liquor business and an additional two asserted that "it's none of your business. We'll do as our leader asks." The latter were from Pike county, home of Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The 40 dissenting representatives supported the activities of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association and urged that a bill be introduced in the January, 1935, assembly asking for the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Several of the members who replied asserted that they are in favor of a modified type of the old Brooks high license low. Samuel Somerson, a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Dealers' association, notified representatives of the following counties: Philadelphia, Somerset, Erie, Allegheny, Bucks, Northumberland, Northampton, Delaware, Berks, Monroe, Juniata, Pike and Butler.

Somerson sent out the questionaires on September 14 and received all the replies by September 27 He said that none of the representatives protested the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Demand For Coin Reflects Upturn In U. S. Business

(International News Service)

DENVER—The current upturn in business conditions is reflected in the increased demand for supplementary coins, according to Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States mint and former governor of Wyoming.

Mrs. Ross came to Denver recently to witness the unloading of gold ingots being shipped to the Denver mint from San Francisco. Upwards of $2,000,000,000 worth of the precious metal will be stored in the mint vaults here.

"I have been interested in going over figures of the mint," Mrs. Ross said, "and it is satisfying to note that in past generations the mint has quickly pointed to a resumption of business activity just as it now does. Accordingly, unless all signs fail, this depression has been beaten.

"The demand for silver coins, coming from private business, is entirely voluntary and tells a happy, gratifying story, I think. Every mint in the country is operating at top speed."

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

AN APPRECIATION

Sept. 28, 1934.

Mr. Fred L. Rentz,
President The News,
New Castle, Penna.
Dear Sir:—

As manager of the New Castle Fair I would be unmindful of the splendid co-operation of you and your newspaper if I did not acknowledge that co-operation in connection with the 1934 fair. Fairs are put across through hard work and publicity. Without the publicity the hard work might very easily fail. Fortunately for the fair that publicity was given unstintingly and I want you to know how deeply we appreciate it. I know you are interested in the fact that the fair was successful this year and that the money expended by the directors for the work of putting it on was spent almost 100 percent with Lawrence County people.

The New Castle News is an integral part of Lawrence County. More it is an institution. The New Castle Fair is also an integral part of community life in Lawrence County we like to believe and in the success of the 1934 fair the directors and myself want to express our gratitude for the part your paper played in putting it over.

Sincerely,
NEW CASTLE FAIR DIRECTORS
A. C. SHOAFF, Mgr.

Sews Gash In Heart To Save Patient

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Knifed during a brawl, Cecil Dawes was taken to a hospital here in a dying condition. All hope was abandoned for his recovery until a surgeon decided to risk the delicate task of sewing up the gash in the patient's heart covering made by the knife.

"It was a long shot, but I tried it," the physician said. "I reached down in the wound, swabbing the blood from the hemorrhage, and with two fingers felt the heart beating. Then I mad two sutures."

Graves rallied and at last reports was believed to have an even chance of recovering. The operation was performed with a local anaesthetic.

Hoarded Her Money, Now It Is Worthless

(International News Service)

NAGYKOROS, Hungary — Mrs. Laszlo Kovacs didn't trust banks. She was thrifty but preferred keeping her hoarded savings in odd places cut in the walls of her farmhouse.

That was 20 years ago and Mrs. Kovacs forgot where she had hidden some of her hoard.

Recently she found the money, 40 pounds of it cached away. The money, originally worth thousands of dollars, is worthless, being of the pre-war vintage which has been repudiated or become completely worthless through inflation.

John Brown's Hut To Be Rejuvenated

(International News Service)

WEST BRANCH, Ia.—The hut which once harbored John Brown, the famous abolitionist immortalized in song, stands in ruins near here as the State Historical society plans its rejuvenation. The cement is crumbling, part of the woodwork has fallen, the front door hangs on one hinge and one wall has caved in.

Huge Attendance At Municipal Opera

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—Over 700,000 persons attended the 82 performances of municipal opera presented here this summer in the open air theater in Forest Park. This is an attendance of but 13,000 less than the record crowd that witnessed last season's productions.

"Show Boat" proved the most popular work, according to the attendance figures which reveal that 66,652, the largest week's turnout of the season, viewed the Kern musical play the last week of the season. A previous week of the same show drew 53,837, making a total of 120,489 that witnessed the 13 performances.

Say Hauptmann Afraid In Jail

Fears Other Prisoners Is Idea Of Assistant Attorney General

THREATS HURLED AT HIM IN JAIL

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 28.—Phlegmatic, almost indifferent, composure of Bruno Richard Hauptmann under police grilling was attributed today to the fact that only at that time it Hauptmann free from the grip of fear.

Fear, and fear alone, is responsible for Hauptmann's stolid indifference, acording to Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lanigan—and this fear is based on the hatred felt for Hauptmann by fellow prisoners in the Bronx county jail.

"The authorities," Lanigan added, "have had to place an extraordinarily strong guard outside his cell because while he is in jail he lives in awful fear of his fellow-inmates.

"Continual catcalls, boos and violent threats are hurled at Hauptmann all during his stays in the cell.

"No other prisoners are permitted in the exercise yard while Hauptmann is allowed out for his daily walk. The man actually welcomes, I believe, being brought out of the jail to the district attorney's office for questioning. It appears to be the only time he is not afraid."

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Psalm 145:13—"Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom."

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for Sept. 30 is Heb. 11:32-40, the quarterly review lesson covering a three months' study of "the Prophets and Kings of Israel from Abijah to Isaiah," the Golden Text being Psalm 145:13, "Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

This Golden Text suggests the fundamental truth that God's Kingdom neither began with Saul and David nor ended with the captivities of Israel and Judah. His ideal of government was found in none of these earthly kings or kingdoms, but was sought in their recognition of his sovereignty over his people. His government over them was not intended to be an earthly monarchy but a theocracy. The pity, therefore, is not that the kingdom was divided under Rehoboam and Jeroboam, but rather that they rejected God when they said, "Make us a king to judge us like all the nations." God interpreted this as rebellion against his sovereignty, and said, "They have rejected me that I should not reign over them."

The Divided Kingdom

So even the kingdom of David or of "Solomon in all his glory" was far from God's ideal. At its best its glory was tawdry and tinseled. The secession of the ten northern tribes of Israel under Jeroboam inaugurated a system of chain-store idolotry that cursed the nation through the reigns of 19 kings, every one of whom were wicked idoloters and brought the people of the ten tribes of Israel to their destruction after 241 years in the fall of Samaria at the hands of the Assyrians in the year 721 B. C.

The story of the southern kingdom of Judah is but little better. There, too, were 19 kings, but not all of them were wicked idoloters. Five of them, Asa, Jehosophat, Joash, Hezekiah and Josiah were godly men who served as reformers to lead the people back to God through the restoration of God's word and the ordinances of his holy temple in Jerusalem, and gave Judah its stay of execution that prolonged its life 135 years after Israel's destruction. But even Judah and Jerusalem rushed madly on in their rebellious idolotry into their destruction in the Babylonian captivity in 586 B. C. The secret of both captivities of Israel and Judah was their rejection of God's everlasting Kingdom as he said to Samuel, "They have rejected me that I should not reign over them."

The Rejected Prophets

"Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?" This is the broken hearted sob of Isaiah as he rises to the height of his prophetic ministry. It might well be made the theme song of all the prophets from Elijah to John the Baptist. Great men of God, clear visioned, courageous and zealous, they plead with the people, generation after generation. Elijah challenged Ahab with fiery zeal. Elisha ministered to the poor with tender compassion. Amos cried out against the social injustice of his day. Hosea passionately laid bare his own wounded marital love as a pattern of God's grief over the spiritual adultery of his people and their shameful infidelity toward him. Micah championed God's cause in behalf of the common people as a reasonable cause, and one well within the reach of all to attain: "What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" They could not alibi that the messages of the prophets were unreasonable. So they came from God, rough men of the wilderness like Elijah, princely statesmen like Isaiah or farmers or shepherds like Amos only to be stoned, exiled, mocked, sawn asunder, types and shadows of the true Prophet, Priest and King, Jesus Christ, for whose everlasting kingdom they sought to prepare the way. We only escape their sin as we seek to "crown him Lord of all."

Chest Teams Mobilize Late Today To Hear Final Campaign Orders

"Mobilization orders," according to Colonel L. B. Round, of the downtown men's sales force in the oncoming Community Chest drive which takes place the week of October 1st, "have been issued to all the 150 lieutenant-colonels, majors, captains and lieutenant team workers in the White army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Emanuel Shenkan and the Blue army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Carl E. Paisley, for a roll call and final instructions to be held today at 5 p. m. in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A."

"This mobilization instruction meeting will last but 45 minutes," continued Colonel Round, "and our two armies, under their respective leaders, seated at places designated for them will, after the roll call, be given instructions as to their respective duties. This is done, first, so that each of our officers may ascertain the true, man power strength of their respective teams, divisions and armies. Second, that the rules and methods whereby all may become acquainted with the selling of a Community Chest subscription for a maximum amount. Third, this mobilization instruction meeting is to save time by going over all the selling points relative to the oncoming campaign and thus allow our two armies, when they meet on Monday night, October 1, at 6:30 o'clock at the "Offensive" dinner meeting in the Castleton Hotel, all members can then have sufficient time to personally select the 10 or 12 prospects cards they will be asked to solicit."

"While all this so-called organization army nomenclature is used and much good natured rivalry in the enrollment of both armies has resulted, I feel that every man that has volunteered realizes the seriousness and the challenge that is before all of us in securing adequate chest funds so that we may fight the aftermath of the depression."

Organization of Teams

Chest Teams Mobilize Late Today To Hear Final Campaign Orders

"Mobilization orders," according to Colonel L. B. Round, of the downtown men's sales force in the oncoming Community Chest drive which takes place the week of October 1st, "have been issued to all the 150 lieutenant-colonels, majors, captains and lieutenant team workers in the White army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Emanuel Shenkan and the Blue army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Carl E. Paisley, for a roll call and final instructions to be held today at 5 p. m. in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A."

"This mobilization instruction meeting will last but 45 minutes," continued Colonel Round, "and our two armies, under their respective leaders, seated at places designated for them will, after the roll call, be given instructions as to their respective duties. This is done, first, so that each of our officers may ascertain the true, man power strength of their respective teams, divisions and armies. Second, that the rules and methods whereby all may become acquainted with the selling of a Community Chest subscription for a maximum amount. Third, this mobilization instruction meeting is to save time by going over all the selling points relative to the oncoming campaign and thus allow our two armies, when they meet on Monday night, October 1, at 6:30 o'clock at the "Offensive" dinner meeting in the Castleton Hotel, all members can then have sufficient time to personally select the 10 or 12 prospects cards they will be asked to solicit."

"While all this so-called organization army nomenclature is used and much good natured rivalry in the enrollment of both armies has resulted, I feel that every man that has volunteered realizes the seriousness and the challenge that is before all of us in securing adequate chest funds so that we may fight the aftermath of the depression."

Organization of Teams

"While the deadline for the completion of all teams, divisions and armies is not until 5 o'clock tonight, the following majors submit their complete divisional enlistment, which is as follows," continued Col. Round.

Division 1 — Major Alfred H. Owens, Team 11, Captain Bruce Ewing. Team workers: C. M. England, Charles Landolf, Harold Ramsey, Howard Meehan, Elmer Hintsman, Leon Christy and Mike Babovosky.

Team 12, Captain J. S. Myers; Team workers: Glen Anderson, Floyd Atwell, Norman Weimer, Jack Huston, Frank Fazzone, Ralph Cline, George Winter and Robert Winter.

Team 15, Captain C. A. Clark; Team workers: C. M. Adams, Ralph Brice, Dr. W. Massaro, John Hodge, Howard Moncrief and Donald Young.

Division 5—Major Thomas I. Elliott; Team No. 51, Captain J. W. Staudinger; Team workers: H. J. Culliford, J. W. Dannels, J. B. Leyde, C. H. Meyers, Chas. L. Pile and Daniel Maddocks.

Team 52, Captain J. A. McNeill; Team workers: Dr. A. H. Borland, R. L. Boyd, J. G. Leslie, G. L. Smith, R. D. Wilson and H. T. McNicholas.

Team 53, Captain James L. Vogan; Team workers: Earl T. Ramsey, R. F. Conway, J. W. Balentine, Fred Scheppele, W. D. Jones and Uno Leivox.

Team 54, Captain P. G. Dingledy; Team workers: Marshall Matheny, Francis Sowersby, Jr., John D. Kennedy, Lyle Shields, Numa Vidal and William Toner.

Division 6—Major, Julius Blaha. Team 61, Captain J. E. Deegan; Team workers: A. M. Barnette, Paul F. Butz, Dr. John A. Meehan, Lee E. Allen, F. D. Armstrong and J. F. Perelman.

Team 62, Captain L. F. Royston; Team workers: William G. Ayers, W. W. Howe, L. C. Hughes, Francis Bray, H. J. Culliford and E. R. Christy.

Would Abolish Liquor Stores

Belief Prevails That State Liquor Stores Will Go, Favor High License Law

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The state liquor store system in Pennsylvania will be abolished by unsympathetic legislators, according to officers of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association, who made public today the result of a survey conducted by the association among members of the state house of representatives.

The law, passed in haste after repeal of the 18th amendment, will be wiped off the statute books as quickly as the matter can be brought before the house, it was predicted by the association.

Questionaires were mailed to members of the law-making body on September 14, asking each of them to forward to the association his opinion of the system. Better than half of those who received questionaires responded.

Against Stores

Forty replies protested emphatically against the commonwealth being in the liquor business and an additional two asserted that "it's none of your business. We'll do as our leader asks." The latter were from Pike county, home of Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

The 40 dissenting representatives supported the activities of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers association and urged that a bill be introduced in the January, 1935, assembly asking for the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Several of the members who replied asserted that they are in favor of a modified type of the old Brooks high license low. Samuel Somerson, a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania State Dealers' association, notified representatives of the following counties: Philadelphia, Somerset, Erie, Allegheny, Bucks, Northumberland, Northampton, Delaware, Berks, Monroe, Juniata, Pike and Butler.

Somerson sent out the questionaires on September 14 and received all the replies by September 27. He said that none of the representatives protested the abolition of the state liquor store system.

Demand For Coin Reflects Upturn In U. S. Business

(International News Service)

DENVER—The current upturn in business conditions is reflected in the increased demand for supplementary coins, according to Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States mint and former governor of Wyoming.

Mrs. Ross came to Denver recently to witness the unloading of gold ingots being shipped to the Denver mint from San Francisco. Upwards of $2,000,000,000 worth of the precious metal will be stored in the mint vaults here.

"I have been interested in going over figures of the mint," Mrs. Ross said, "and it is satisfying to note that in past generations the mint has quickly pointed to a resumption of business activity just as it now does. Accordingly, unless all signs fail, this depression has been beaten.

"The demand for silver coins, coming from private business, is entirely voluntary and tells a happy, gratifying story, I think. Every mint in the country is operating at top speed."

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

AN APPRECIATION

Sept. 28, 1934.

Mr. Fred L. Rentz,
President The News,
New Castle, Penna.
Dear Sir:—

As manager of the New Castle Fair I would be unmindful of the splendid co-operation of you and your newspaper if I did not acknowledge that co-operation in connection with the 1934 fair. Fairs are put across through hard work and publicity. Without the publicity the hard work might very easily fail. Fortunately for the fair that publicity was given unstintingly and I want you to know how deeply we appreciate it. I know you are interested in the fact that the fair was successful this year and that the money expended by the directors for the work of putting it on was spent almost 100 percent with Lawrence County people.

The New Castle News is an integral part of Lawrence County. More it is an institution. The New Castle Fair is also an integral part of community life in Lawrence County we like to believe and in the success of the 1934 fair the directors and myself want to express our gratitude for the part your paper played in putting it over.

Sincerely,
NEW CASTLE FAIR DIRECTORS
A. C. SHOAFF, Mgr.

Sews Gash In Heart To Save Patient

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Knifed during a brawl, Cecil Dawes was taken to a hospital here in a dying condition. All hope was abandoned for his recovery until a surgeon decided to risk the delicate task of sewing up the gash in the patient's heart covering made by the knife.

"It was a long shot, but I tried it," the physician said. "I reached down in the wound, swabbing the blood from the hemorrhage, and with two fingers felt the heart beating. Then I mad two sutures."

Graves rallied and at last reports was believed to have an even chance of recovering. The operation was performed with a local anaesthetic.

Hoarded Her Money, Now It Is Worthless

(International News Service)

NAGYKOROS, Hungary — Mrs. Laszlo Kovacs didn't trust banks. She was thrifty but preferred keeping her hoarded savings in odd places cut in the walls of her farmhouse.

That was 20 years ago and Mrs. Kovacs forgot where she had hidden some of her hoard.

Recently she found the money. 40 pounds of it cached away. The money, originally worth thousands of dollars, is worthless, being of the pre-war vintage which has been repudiated or become completely worthless through inflation.

John Brown's Hut To Be Rejuvenated

(International News Service)

WEST BRANCH, Ia.—The hut which once harbored John Brown, the famous abolitionist immortalized in song, stands in ruins near here as the State Historical society plans its rejuvenation. The cement is crumbling, part of the woodwork has fallen, the front door hangs on one hinge and one wall has caved in.

Huge Attendance At Municipal Opera

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—Over 700,000 persons attended the 82 performances of municipal opera presented here this summer in the open air theater in Forest Park. This is an attendance of but 13,000 less than the record crowd that witnessed last season's productions.

"Show Boat" proved the most popular work, according to the attendance figures which reveal that 66,652, the largest week's turnout of the season, viewed the Kern musical play the last week of the season. A previous week of the same show drew 53,837, making a total of 120,489 that witnessed the 13 performances.

Green Gloomy On Employment

New Deal Hasn't Increased Employment In Year He Says

OVER 10,000,000 ARE OUT OF JOB

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. — A gloomy picture of the nation's unemployment condition was drawn today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Employment gains this year have been far less than in 1933 and there is no indication that the fall season will make any permanent improvement, according to Green.

The total of jobless in industry in August was 10,834,000 (preliminary figures) as compared with 10,793,000 in July (revised), Green asserted.

"August and September this year show a strong contrast to the same months last year," Green said. "In August last year 800,000 went back to work in the president's reemployment program; this year no effort was made to create jobs and unemployment increased by 40,000.

"The number unemployed in August, 1934, was back almost to the level of August, 1933. Our estimate, based on government figures, shows 10,834,000 out of work in August, 1934, and 10,960,000 in August last year."

Green said that government emergency work gave employment to 2,249,000 in August.

"Deducting those on emergency work from the total without work in industry, we find that 8,585,000 were without jobs of any sort," Green continued.

The labor leader also said that the number of families on relief rolls had not been decreased during the past year.

NO. 5—THE GIRL SCOUTS

That a need exists in New Castle for a trained executive to direct the Girl Scout work is plainly evident from the extensive report which Mrs. W. H. Hanger, the industrious, capable commissioner of the work at the present time, has submitted for the public to see. Many smaller communities, their Girl Scout work far less extensive than New Castle's have invested a sum annually for a schooled leader, yet New Castle has none.

For an idea of the scouts' work, look at this:

During the past year the movement reached 360 girls...Between the ages of 10 and 18...And in all sections of the city there were troops...Taught through the game method, character, helpfulness, home-making, citizenship, reliability and wise use of leisure time through hobbies...At camps there were 117 girls for two weeks...And 110 girls at Day camp in Cascade Park at no cost to the community... All 17 troops now functioning enjoy nature-study hikes, the older girls overnight jaunts...After all, better citizenship results from its operation, and in the past year for the small cost of $440 there were 14 troop leaders trained in Girl Scout work here.

The 1934 Chest opens Monday, October 1.

"A MOTHER OF LITTLE GIRLS GETS GREAT HELP FROM CHIPSO" DECLARES MRS. B. McKNIGHT CHARLESTON, S. C.

"CHIPSO SHORTENS WASHDAY by hours"

"SO MANY CLOTHES to wash for little girls! We need a soap that's quick.

"Think of all the petticoats, panties, socks, shirts, dresses and sweaters! Dolls' clothes, too! But we flip up a big, thick suds with Chipso in a minute, put the clothes to soak for from 10 to 15 minutes, and have them on the line in half the time an old-fashioned wash would take. Even towels are easy to wash after a Chipso soaking. They don't have to be rubbed hard, or boiled, to make them white as snow."

"CHIPSO SAVES DAINTY MATERIALS"

"SHEER STUFFS in little girls' clothes! We need a SAFE soap.

"My children's dresses stand the hardest wear from one season to the next. All the clothes in these pictures are more than a year old. Helen's dress is 2 YEARS OLD. It is one that Louise used to wear. The dress Louise has on has had almost weekly washing for a YEAR AND A HALF. My own Normandie voile is a LAST SUMMER'S dress. And Baby Bea—who gets good and dirty, I can tell you!—has had her dress in the tub plenty of times in the last 12 months."

"I BLESS CHIPSO'S SAFETY FOR COLORS"

"WE'RE NOT SHY about wearing old clothes, because our Chipso'd clothes stay NEW-LOOKING. The colors are not washed out. Louise's red-and-white dress has never run a particle. And Bea's green dress is still the same tender apple-green that attracted me when I saw it in the store a year ago."

NOTE: We pride ourselves on this high quality of Chipso. Chipso contains nothing to "bleach" white clothes. It whitens them naturally in rich, soapy suds which quickly loosen all the dirt. It brightens colored clothes the same way. Contains nothing harsh to fade them or make the colors run.
PROCTER & GAMBLE.

"SOAPIER" CHIPSO IS DANDY FOR DISHES

YOU GET PROOF quickly, when you use Chipso for dish-washing, of its quick work on dirt . . . its safety . . . its economy. Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. It is heavy with fine, rich soap. That's why a little Chipso makes a great quantity of thick, lasting SUDS. They loosen grease and dirt in a jiffy. Yet leave your HANDS SMOOTH.

And Baby Bea—who gets good and dirty, I can tell you!—has had her dress in the tub plenty of times in the last 12 months."

"I BLESS CHIPSO'S SAFETY FOR COLORS"

"WE'RE NOT SHY about wearing old clothes, because our Chipso'd clothes stay NEW-LOOKING. The colors are not washed out. Louise's red-and-white dress has never run a particle. And Bea's green dress is still the same tender apple-green that attracted me when I saw it in the store a year ago."

NOTE: We pride ourselves on this high quality of Chipso. Chipso contains nothing to "bleach" white clothes. It whitens them naturally in rich, soapy suds which quickly loosen all the dirt. It brightens colored clothes the same way. Contains nothing harsh to fade them or make the colors run.
PROCTER & GAMBLE.

"SOAPIER" CHIPSO IS DANDY FOR DISHES

YOU GET PROOF quickly, when you use Chipso for dish-washing, of its quick work on dirt . . . its safety . . . its economy. Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. It is heavy with fine, rich soap. That's why a little Chipso makes a great quantity of thick, lasting SUDS. They loosen grease and dirt in a jiffy. Yet leave your HANDS SMOOTH.

Chest Teams Mobilize Late Today To Hear Final Campaign Orders

"Mobilization orders," according to Colonel L. B. Round, of the downtown men's sales force in the oncoming Community Chest drive which takes place the week of October 1st, "have been issued to all the 150 lieutenant-colonels, majors, captains and lieutenant team workers in the White army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Emanuel Shenkan and the Blue army under the leadership of Lt.-Colonel Carl E. Paisley, for a roll call and final instructions to be held today at 5 p. m. in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A."

"This mobilization instruction meeting will last but 45 minutes," continued Colonel Round, "and our two armies, under their respective leaders, seated at places designated for them will, after the roll call, be given instructions as to their respective duties. This is done, first, so that each of our officers may ascertain the true, man power strength of their respective teams, divisions and armies. Second, that the rules and methods whereby all may become acquainted with the selling of a Community Chest subscription for a maximum amount. Third, this mobilization instruction meeting is to save time by going over all the selling points relative to the oncoming campaign and thus allow our two armies, when they meet on Monday night, October 1, at 6:30 o'clock at the "Offensive" dinner meeting in the Castleton Hotel, all members can then have sufficient time to personally select the 10 or 12 prospects cards they will be asked to solicit."

"While all this so-called organization army nomenclature is used and much good natured rivalry in the enrollment of both armies has resulted, I feel that every man that has volunteered realizes the seriousness and the challenge that is before all of us in securing adequate chest funds so that we may fight the aftermath of the depression."

Organization of Teams

"While the deadline for the completion of all teams, divisions and armies is not until 5 o'clock tonight, the following majors submit their complete divisional enlistment, which is as follows," continued Col. Round.

Division 1 — Major Alfred H. Owens, Team 11, Captain Bruce Ewing. Team workers: C. M. England, Charles Landolf, Harold Ramsey, Howard Meehan, Elmer Hintsman, Leon Christy and Mike Babovosky.

Team 12, Captain J. S. Myers; Team workers: Glen Anderson, Floyd Atwell, Norman Weimer, Jack Huston, Frank Fazzone, Ralph Cline, George Winter and Robert Winter.

Team 15, Captain C. A. Clark; Team workers: C. M. Adams, Ralph Brice, Dr. W. Massaro, John Hodge, Howard Moncrief and Donald Young.

Division 5—Major Thomas I. Elliott; Team No. 51, Captain J. W. Staudinger; Team workers: H. J. Culliford, J. W. Dannels, J. B. Leyde, C. H. Meyers, Chas. L. Pile and Daniel Maddocks.

Team 52, Captain J. A. McNeill; Team workers: Dr. A. H. Borland, R. L. Boyd, J. G. Leslie, G. L. Smith, R. D. Wilson and H. T. McNicholas.

Team 53, Captain James L. Vogan; Team workers: Earl T. Ramsey, R. F. Conway, J. W. Balentine, Fred Scheppele, W. D. Jones and Uno Leivox.

Team 54, Captain P. G. Dingledy; Team workers: Marshall Matheny, Francis Sowersby, Jr., John D. Kennedy, Lyle Shields, Numa Vidal and William Toner.

Division 6—Major, Julius Blaha. Team 61, Captain J. E. Deegan; Team workers: A. M. Barnette, Paul F. Butz, Dr. John A. Meehan, Lee E. Allen, F. D. Armstrong and J. F. Perelman.

Team 62, Captain L. F. Royston; Team workers: William G. Ayers, W. W. Howe, L. C. Hughes, Francis Bray, H. J. Culliford and E. R. Christy.

Team 64, Captain H. N. Drio; Team workers: W. A. Bowers, Jesse Kerr, Orville Potter, H. G. Horton, S. B. Cleal and Bernard Hook.

"Divisions 2, 3 and 4," concluded Colonel Round, "while but lacking a few men, will be published in tomorrow's issue of The News."

MUNICH—Experiments are being carried out here on lessening the devastating effect of hail on crops by breaking up the hailstorm with mortar rockets. Court Of Honor Elevates Scouts To Higher Ranks

Impressive Award Program Seen By Public At Second U. P. Church

AFFAIR CLIMAXES DILIGENT TRAINING

An inspiring Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of Lawrence county was held last night at the Second United Presbyterian church, County Line street, with a large attendance of scouts, scouters and parents of scouts. Especially noteworthy was the presence of a group of Ellwood leaders—John Lindgren, chairman of the Ellwood court, Ralph Main, district commissioner and Chief of Police John Morrison. These men sat with the regular court—Rev. Stump, Dr. R. C. Lutz, E. L. Thompson, Ralph Davis, Sid Smith, A. S. Hainsworth, with the Executive, H. G. Horton as secretary and Chauncey Schaller as clerk.

Advancement was made as follows:

From tenderfoot to second class rank: Wayne Bevan, Francis Brookman, John Henderson, Bruce Johnston, Reed Phillips, Charles A. Snell, and James Walter. Scouts advanced from second to first class rank included Samuel Davy, James Emerick, Kenneth Enoch, Robert Green, Walter Logan, Philard McClure, Harold A. Moss, Lester Raub, Louis Santangelo, Chauncey Schaller, Jr., Robert Walters and Harry Williams.

Name Three Assistants

Three young men who met requirements for this rank were warranted as junior assistant scoutmasters to the following troops: Seascout, Robert Moore (Eagle) to New Castle V-15; Life Scout Robt. Snodgrass to West Pittsburg 1 and First Class Scout Philard McClure to Mahoning 4.

Merit badges were awarded to the following scouts: Andrew Tusale, Robert Snodgrass, Nick Santangelo, Harold Chambers and Fred Benn of West Pittsburg 1, Bob Young, John Manos, Hunt Davis and Bob Cole of V-37, Eldred Urby, Jim Merrilees and George Stitzinger of V-18, Roger Hawk and Donald Gibson of troop 3, Phil McClure and Samuel Davy of V-4, Joe Smith of Ellwood V-7 and Robert Newton, Russell Williams, John Francis, Robert Calhoun, Edward Freman, Joe Ferris and Bob Johns of New Wilmington V-1. Scout troop officials who received merit badges were Scoutmasters E. D. Hawk, Harry W. Miles assistant Dr. R. C. Lutz (who also received Star rank) and Wilfred D. Paul. Star ranks were awarded to scouts George K. Stitzinger of V-18, Robert Johns of New Wilmington V-1, Hunt Davis of V-37 and Joe Smith of Elwood V-7. Eagle Seascout Joe Farkas of the "Shelby" Seascout patrol of Ellwood City was duly certified and awarded the bronze Eagle palm.

Seascout Robert Sprague of the Seascout patrol "Shelby" (Ellwood V-7) was awarded camping, lifesaving and also certified to the National Court of Honor for Eagle rank.

Bob McCaslin of New Wilmington V-1 having duly qualified at a previous court was presented with his Eagle badge by Rev. Stump.

Hear Scout Commissioner

Ralph Davis as scout commissioner, then made a brief address to the audience about the annual camporee contests and told of the patrols from New Castle V-15 having won this event three years in succession. He then called the members forward, and presented Skipper Sid Smith with a beautiful silver cup, the gift of Jack Gerson, for the triple win the patrol had made. He also stated that another similar cup would be up for coming contests. Sid Smith replied fittingly, and introduced a new assistant scoutmaster in his troop—Seascout Herman Kitchen, who had been a member of several of the camporee patrols. Davis also explained the conditions of the Commissioner's trophy to be be awarded monthly to the troop that makes the best mark.

Chief of Police Morrison of Ellwood City, called on for remarks, made a brief address, stressing his belief in the Boy Scout work and telling several instances of the ways in which a boy's youthful record counted for or against him later on. John Lindgren also made some remarks along the same lines. Dr. C. K. McGeorge welcomed the assemblage to his church and Rev. Whitesell of the Church of the Nazarene dismissed the assemblage with all scouts linking arms in the Scoutmaster's benediction.

Rev. Stump announced the New Castle court for October 25, and John Lindgren named the Elwood court for the 26th of the same month.

Those in attendance at the session last night were more than ever impressed with the need to keep this work of the Boy Scout movement alive and healthy in this community and the Community Chest fund is the support of Scouting.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The fiery controversy which has raged among the Vanderbilts, Whitneys and Morgans for the custody of 10-year-old Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt, $4,000,000 heiress, burst into the open today when the child's maternal grandmother accused her own daughter of being unfit to rear the little girl.

The grandmother, Mrs. Laura Kilpatrick Morgan, filed with Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew a long affidavit studded with sizzling allegations.

On the basis of this affidavit, another signed by Gloria's aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, and supporting documents by two physicians and a nurse, Justice Carew ruled that the battle be fought to a finish Monday in a public courtroom.

Court Of Honor Elevates Scouts To Higher Ranks

Impressive Award Program Seen By Public At Second U. P. Church

AFFAIR CLIMAXES DILIGENT TRAINING

An inspiring Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of Lawrence county was held last night at the Second United Presbyterian church, County Line street, with a large attendance of scouts, scouters and parents of scouts. Especially noteworthy was the presence of a group of Ellwood leaders—John Lindgren, chairman of the Ellwood court, Ralph Main, district commissioner and Chief of Police John Morrison. These men sat with the regular court—Rev. Stump, Dr. R. C. Lutz, E. L. Thompson, Ralph Davis, Sid Smith, A. S. Hainsworth, with the Executive, H. G. Horton as secretary and Chauncey Schaller as clerk.

Advancement was made as follows:

From tenderfoot to second class rank: Wayne Bevan, Francis Brookman, John Henderson, Bruce Johnston, Reed Phillips, Charles A. Snell, and James Walter. Scouts advanced from second to first class rank included Samuel Davy, James Emerick, Kenneth Enoch, Robert Green, Walter Logan, Philard McClure, Harold A. Moss, Lester Raub, Louis Santangelo, Chauncey Schaller, Jr., Robert Walters and Harry Williams.

Name Three Assistants

Three young men who met requirements for this rank were warranted as junior assistant scoutmasters to the following troops: Seascout, Robert Moore (Eagle) to New Castle V-15; Life Scout Robt. Snodgrass to West Pittsburg 1 and First Class Scout Philard McClure to Mahoning 4.

Merit badges were awarded to the following scouts: Andrew Tusale, Robert Snodgrass, Nick Santangelo, Harold Chambers and Fred Benn of West Pittsburg 1, Bob Young, John Manos, Hunt Davis and Bob Cole of V-37, Eldred Urby, Jim Merrilees and George Stitzinger of V-18, Roger Hawk and Donald Gibson of troop 3, Phil McClure and Samuel Davy of V-4, Joe Smith of Ellwood V-7 and Robert Newton, Russell Williams, John Francis, Robert Calhoun, Edward Freman, Joe Ferris and Bob Johns of New Wilmington V-1. Scout troop officials who received merit badges were Scoutmasters E. D. Hawk, Harry W. Miles assistant Dr. R. C. Lutz (who also received Star rank) and Wilfred D. Paul. Star ranks were awarded to scouts George K. Stitzinger of V-18, Robert Johns of New Wilmington V-1, Hunt Davis of V-37 and Joe Smith of Elwood V-7. Eagle Seascout Joe Farkas of the "Shelby" Seascout patrol of Ellwood City was duly certified and awarded the bronze Eagle palm.

Seascout Robert Sprague of the Seascout patrol "Shelby" (Ellwood V-7) was awarded camping, lifesaving and also certified to the National Court of Honor for Eagle rank.

Bob McCaslin of New Wilmington V-1 having duly qualified at a previous court was presented with his Eagle badge by Rev. Stump.

Hear Scout Commissioner

Ralph Davis as scout commissioner, then made a brief address to the audience about the annual camporee contests and told of the patrols from New Castle V-15 having won this event three years in succession. He then called the members forward, and presented Skipper Sid Smith with a beautiful silver cup, the gift of Jack Gerson, for the triple win the patrol had made. He also stated that another similar cup would be up for coming contests. Sid Smith replied fittingly, and introduced a new assistant scoutmaster in his troop—Seascout Herman Kitchen, who had been a member of several of the camporee patrols. Davis also explained the conditions of the Commissioner's trophy to be be awarded monthly to the troop that makes the best mark.

Chief of Police Morrison of Ellwood City, called on for remarks, made a brief address, stressing his belief in the Boy Scout work and telling several instances of the ways in which a boy's youthful record counted for or against him later on. John Lindgren also made some remarks along the same lines. Dr. C. K. McGeorge welcomed the assemblage to his church and Rev. Whitesell of the Church of the Nazarene dismissed the assemblage with all scouts linking arms in the Scoutmaster's benediction.

Rev. Stump announced the New Castle court for October 25, and John Lindgren named the Elwood court for the 26th of the same month.

Those in attendance at the session last night were more than ever impressed with the need to keep this work of the Boy Scout movement alive and healthy in this community and the Community Chest fund is the support of Scouting.

Vanderbilt-Morgan And Whitney Row Over Gloria Vanderbilt, Enters Court Again

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The fiery controversy which has raged among the Vanderbilts, Whitneys and Morgans for the custody of 10-year-old Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt, $4,000,000 heiress, burst into the open today when the child's maternal grandmother accused her own daughter of being unfit to rear the little girl.

The grandmother, Mrs. Laura Kilpatrick Morgan, filed with Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew a long affidavit studded with sizzling allegations.

On the basis of this affidavit, another signed by Gloria's aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, and supporting documents by two physicians and a nurse, Justice Carew ruled that the battle be fought to a finish Monday in a public courtroom.

Green Gloomy On Employment

New Deal Hasn't Increased Employment In Year He Says

OVER 10,000,000 ARE OUT OF JOB

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. — A gloomy picture of the nation's unemployment condition was drawn today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Employment gains this year have been far less than in 1933 and there is no indication that the fall season will make any permanent improvement, according to Green.

The total of jobless in industry in August was 10,834,000 (preliminary figures) as compared with 10,793,000 in July (revised), Green asserted.

"August and September this year show a strong contrast to the same months last year," Green said. "In August last year 800,000 went back to work in the president's reemployment program; this year no effort was made to create jobs and unemployment increased by 40,000.

"The number unemployed in August, 1934, was back almost to the level of August, 1933. Our estimate, based on government figures, shows 10,834,000 out of work in August, 1934, and 10,960,000 in August last year."

Green said that government emergency work gave employment to 2,249,000 in August.

"Deducting those on emergency work from the total without work in industry, we find that 8,585,000 were without jobs of any sort," Green continued.

The labor leader also said that the number of families on relief rolls had not been decreased during the past year.

-YOUR CHEST-

A Nutshell Picture Of How Your 1933 Gift Served The Cause

NO. 5—THE GIRL SCOUTS

That a need exists in New Castle for a trained executive to direct the Girl Scout work is plainly evident from the extensive report which Mrs. W. H. Hanger, the industrious, capable commissioner of the work at the present time, has submitted for the public to see. Many smaller communities, their Girl Scout work far less extensive than New Castle's have invested a sum annually for a schooled leader, yet New Castle has none.

For an idea of the scouts' work, look at this:

During the past year the movement reached 380 girls...Between the ages of 10 and 18...And in all sections of the city there were troops...Taught through the game method, character, helpfulness, home-making, citizenship, reliability and wise use of leisure time through hobbies...At camps there were 117 girls for two weeks...And 110 girls at Day camp in Cascade Park at no cost to the community... All 17 troops now functioning enjoy nature-study hikes, the older girls overnight jaunts...After all, better citizenship results from its operation, and in the past year for the small cost of $440 there were 14 troop leaders trained in Girl Scout work here.

The 1934 Chest opens Monday, October 1.

"A MOTHER OF LITTLE GIRLS GETS GREAT HELP FROM CHIPSO" DECLARES MRS. B. McKNIGHT CHARLESTON, S. C.

"CHIPSO SHORTENS WASHDAY by hours"

"SO MANY CLOTHES to wash for little girls! We need a soap that's quick.

"Think of all the petticoats, panties, socks, shirts, dresses and sweaters! Dolls' clothes, too! But we flip up a big, thick suds with Chipso in a minute, put the clothes to soak for from 10 to 15 minutes, and have them on the line in half the time an old-fashioned wash would take. Even towels are easy to wash after a Chipso soaking. They don't have to be rubbed hard, or boiled, to make them white as snow."

"CHIPSO SAVES DAINTY MATERIALS"

"SHEER STUFFS in little girls' clothes! We need a SAFE soap.

"My children's dresses stand the hardest wear from one season to the next. All the clothes in these pictures are more than a year old. Helen's dress is 2 YEARS OLD. It is one that Louise used to wear. The dress Louise has on has had almost weekly washing for a YEAR AND A HALF. My own Normandie voile is a LAST SUMMER'S dress. And Baby Bea—who gets good and dirty, I can tell you!—has had her dress in the tub plenty of times in the last 12 months."

"I BLESS CHIPSO'S SAFETY FOR COLORS"

"WE'RE NOT SHY about wearing old clothes, because our Chipso'd clothes stay NEW-LOOKING. The colors are not washed out. Louise's red-and-white dress has never run a particle. And Bea's green dress is still the same tender apple-green that attracted me when I saw it in the store a year ago."

NOTE: We pride ourselves on this high quality of Chipso. Chipso contains nothing to "bleach" white clothes. It whitens them naturally in rich, soapy suds which quickly loosen all the dirt. It brightens colored clothes the same way. Contains nothing harsh to fade them or make the colors run. PROCTER & GAMBLE.

"SOAPIER" CHIPSO IS DANDY FOR DISHES

YOU GET PROOF quickly, when you use Chipso for dish-washing, of its quick work on dirt . . . its safety . . . its economy. Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. It is heavy with fine, rich soap. That's why a little Chipso makes a great quantity of thick, lasting SUDS. They loosen grease and dirt in a jiffy. Yet leave your HANDS SMOOTH.

Former Home Of Hauptmann Fails To Reveal Clues

New York Detective And German Police Ransack Home At Kamenz, Today

By HERMANN HOCHBAUM
International News Service Special Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

KAMENZ, Germany, Sept. 28.—The ancestral home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, a tiny two-story cottage in this old Saxon village, was ransacked from top to bottom by detectives today in the search for clues to the Lindbergh kidnaping.

The hunt, carried out under direction of Arthur Johnson of the New York detective bureau, was fruitless. Johnson expressed firm belief everything of a possibly incriminating nature had been removed from the house.

Accompanied by six uniformed policemen and two plainclothes detectives, Johnson arrived here to find the little house locked and bolted.

Nothing Found.

Hauptmann's mother had fled the place with her other son on Saturday, going with him to Dresden late at night to escape the curious crowds which have hovered about her house since Bruno Hauptmann was arrested in New York.

Johnson called a locksmith and the door was forced open. Then began a painstaking search of the two-story house, but nothing was produced save a rusty six-inch shell which Hauptmann evidently had brought home from the war.

"For some reason," Johnson said, "Fritz came here hurriedly from Dresden Saturday and packed off his mother on the last train.

Johnson noticed that despite Frau Hauptmann's extremely limtied income, the property was well kept up. New linen was on the beds and the walls of her room had recently been done over.

Suit Is Brought For Injuries To Child

J. R. Rick Defendant In Action For $10,402.50 Brought By Dolores Malizia

Dolores Malizia, aged 5' by her parents Lordo and Dora Malizia, and the latter in their own right, have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office in which they ask $10,402.50 damages from J. R. Rick for injuries sustained by Dolores in an automobile accident.

According to the statement of claim Rick is a farmer, and at the time of the accident, his car was being driven by a man named Shingledecker. On June 23rd, 1934, Shingledecker was operating his car west on Croton avenue, near Hawthorne street, when the little girl started to cross Croton avenue from the north to the south side.

She was struck by the Shingledecker car, receiving a fracture of the left femur, and injuries about the head and face. She spent six weeks in the New Castle hospital and was three weeks in bed at home. It is claimed that an injury to her face left a permanent scar and that she is still suffering from the fractured leg.

It is claimed that Shingledecker was on the business of his employer at the time of the accident and that he was driving at a high rate of speed.

Hospital and doctor bills amounted to $393.50.

The pioneer rid the land of wolves. You see, he didn't cage them for a while and then parole them.

Administration Is Assailed By Senator Hanley

New York State Senator Rips Savagely Into Democratic Policies

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 28.—With old guard leaders apparently in complete control and determined to nominate Robert Moses for governor, the closing session of the Republican state convention got under way today attuned to a platform highly critical of Democratic administrations—both state and national.

State Senator Joe R. Hanley, potential "dark horse" gubernatorial possibility and permanent chairman, ripped savagely into Democratic policies. Mentioning the name "Theodore Roosevelt," he shouted:

"Get this clear. I didn't say Franklin Roosevelt. I said Theodore Roosevelt. They are of the same name but of a different breed.

"We are not poverty stricken for Republican leadership and before we get out of the mess the country is now in, it will have to turn to a Republican."

Scores "Brain Trust."

With biting reference to the national administration and its so-called "brain trust", he said:

"No one knows whether they have given us a dose of real medicine or a shot in the arm."

Name Williams As Chairman Of New N. R. A. Board

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt's reorganized NRA swung into speedy action today as its newly appointed board elected Clay Williams, a vice-president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., as its chairman.

Leon C. Marshall was elected executive secretary.

At the same time, the new board requested Col. George A. Lynch to serve as administrative officer of the NRA. Lynch has been acting administrator of the big recovery unit, during the absence of Hugh S. Johnson.

MISSING GIRL DISCOVERED STRANGLED IN TRUNK

Stuffed in a trunk, after being bound and strangled, the body of 11-year-old Lillian Gallagher, Detroit, Mich., schoolgirl, missing from her home, was found in a nearby apartment house by the janitor, who informed police. Disclosure by the janitor that the occupants of the "death suite", calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, had checked out a few days before the discovery of the body, spurred Detroit authorities to order their arrest for questioning. Here are, top left, the apartment house with arrow pointing to "death suite"; top right, a recent photo of slain Lillian Gallagher; below, detectives removing the "death trunk" from the building.

Extortionist Is Given Five Years

Young Companion Of Beaver Falls Extortionist Given Three-Year Parole

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Richard Thomas, 31, today was ordered to serve five years in a government penitentiary and his 21-year-old companion, James Harrington, was placed on a three-year parole after both pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of sending threatening letters to Mrs. Nellie Beagle of Beaver Falls.

In pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge R. M. Gibson took occasion to remark that he has more respect for a holdup man than one who resorts to extortion.

The prisoners, both of Beaver Falls, were charged with having demanded $10,000 from Mrs. Beagle under threat.

Hold Two For Wire Theft In 1933

Dale Patterson and John Kappewich, Wilmington township, have been held by Squire James Erice for December term of court on a charge of having taken heavy insulated wire from that vicinity in 1933.

The wire is valued at about $50, it is reported.

The arrests were made by State Policeman Roswell.

City To Pay For CWA Materials

Council To Pass Ordinance Due To Controller's Request

WHITE TAKES "SHOT" AT CITY CONTROLLER

Council today met in the city building and introduced a bill to pay as a moral obligation approximately $250 to several local firms for materials purchased by H. L. Stewart, engineer, at the instance of L. B. Round, former administrator of the CWA. The materials were needed quickly and were bought so that men could be placed at work.

The proposed payment of the bill has been before council several times and once one of the bills was ordered paid. However, City Controller Wimer ruled that while personally he would like to see the bills paid, yet in view of materials having been bought without any action by council it would establish a precedent were he to approve the payment. Therefore he refused, he said in a letter to council some time ago.

Today Solicitor Robert White wrote a letter to council in which he waxed rather sarcastic toward the city controller.

His letter follows:

"There have been rendered to the city certain bills for supplies purchased by Mr. Round in the fall of 1933 and on account of the city without any councilmanic consideration.

"These bills were presented to me by you and I rendered to you an opinion stating what was necessary to be done before they could be affirmed and paid by the city.

"Either Mr. Wimer, the city controller, does not understand my opinion or he chooses to disregard it. I am advised that he has stipulated council must pass an ordinance, ostensibly under authority of an act of assembly passed May 17, 1929, P. L. 1801, section 1 before he will approve the payment of these bills.

"I am so anxious to have the affairs of the city administered smoothly and without unnecessary friction, that if Mr. Wimer demands it as a condition precedent, I will prepare for you an ordinance in accordance with the law of Medes and the Persians or even under the authority of some tribal law of Timbuctoo, no matter how futile it may seem to me to be.

"Mr. Wimer's interpretations of the Act of 1929 is indeed unique. Nevertheless I submit herewith the required ordinance."

The bill was introduced and was sent to committee. Under its provisions about $250.00 would be paid as a "moral obligation" on the part of the city.

Suggests Repairing Of Cascade Street

Weingartner Believes Many Men Could Be Used On Street

Senator George T. Weingartner today appeared before council at their meeting in city hall and expressed the opinion that in submitting projects to the Works Division the city should ask for the improvement of Cascade street, which extends from East Washington street to Croton Avenue.

Weingartenr said he owned no property along the route but believed that as the work could be done by "hand labor" it would put many men to work and at the same time provide a good route between the two highways.

He said that part of the street between County Line and Croton avenue is like an "old country road." Under Weingartner's suggestion the road would be coated with some hard material, similar to that used in Grove City.

Former Convict Commits Suicide

Man Who Spent 11 Years For Killing Sweetheart, Commits Suicide

(International News Service)

PAULSBORO, N. J., Sept. 28.—The turbulent life of Harry Moll, who spent 11 years in jail for slaying his pretty sweetheart, was ended today.

With the same hand, and in similar fashion to that in which he killed his sweetheart, Moll sent a bullet through his brain Tuesday. This was revealed today following discovery of the ex-convict's body in a small summer cottage along Mantua creek, close to the scene of the "love nest" he once shared with Violet Staley.

Moll, who was 38, was released from the state prison last June. Since then, police said, he had been unable to find work, and had brooded over his crime until he "became tired of life".

Star ranks were awarded to scouts George K. Stitzinger of V-18, Robert Johns of New Wilmington V-1, Hunt Davis of V-37 and Joe Smith of Elwood V-7. Eagle Seascout Joe Farkas of the "Shelby" Seascout patrol of Ellwood City was duly certified and awarded the bronze Eagle palm.

Seascout Robert Sprague of the Seascout patrol "Shelby" (Ellwood V-7) was awarded camping, lifesaving and also certified to the National Court of Honor for Eagle rank.

Bob McCaslin of New Wilmington V-1 having duly qualified at a previous court was presented with his Eagle badge by Rev. Stump.

Hear Scout Commissioner

Ralph Davis as scout commissioner, then made a brief address to the audience about the annual camporee contests and told of the patrols from New Castle V-15 having won this event three years in succession. He then called the members forward, and presented Skipper Sid Smith with a beautiful silver cup, the gift of Jack Gerson, for the triple win the patrol had made. He also stated that another similar cup would be up for coming contests. Sid Smith replied fittingly, and introduced a new assistant scoutmaster in his troop—Seascout Herman Kitchen, who had been a member of several of the camporee patrols. Davis also explained the conditions of the Commissioner's trophy to be be awarded monthly to the troop that makes the best mark.

Chief of Police Morrison of Ellwood City, called on for remarks, made a brief address, stressing his belief in the Boy Scout work and telling several instances of the ways in which a boy's youthful record counted for or against him later on. John Lindgren also made some remarks along the same lines. Dr. C. K. McGeorge welcomed the assemblage to his church and Rev. Whitesell of the Church of the Nazarene dismissed the assemblage with all scouts linking arms in the Scoutmaster's benediction.

Rev. Stump announced the New Castle court for October 25, and John Lindgren named the Elwood court for the 26th of the same month.

Those in attendance at the session last night were more than ever impressed with the need to keep this work of the Boy Scout movement alive and healthy in this community and the Community Chest fund is the support of Scouting.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The fiery controversy which has raged among the Vanderbilts, Whitneys and Morgans for the custody of 10-year-old Gloria Laura Morgan Vanderbilt, $4,000,000 heiress, burst into the open today when the child's maternal grandmother accused her own daughter of being unfit to rear the little girl.

The grandmother, Mrs. Laura Kilpatrick Morgan, filed with Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew a long affidavit studded with sizzling allegations.

On the basis of this affidavit, another signed by Gloria's aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, and supporting documents by two physicians and a nurse, Justice Carew ruled that the battle be fought to a finish Monday in a public courtroom.

Commerce Board Endorses RWD Projects Here

Boost Improvement Of Old Traction Right-of-Way To Edenburg For Highway

WILL PROCEED WITH ELECTION

Several work projects, which have been given the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies in the past as much needed improvements, were again approved as RWD projects by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Thursday afternoon.

These projects include the construction of the road through North Beaver township to the Burton Powder plant; construction of a sidewalk along Atlantic avenue; and the improvement of the right-of-way of the old New Castle and Youngstown interurban line through Edenburg to the Ohio state line.

To Have Election

A report was submitted on the waterways hearing which took place in Washington on Monday, September 17. The program of the effort to secure slackwater navigation on the Beaver and Mahoning rivers was thoroughly discussed, with the board expressing itself as very much encouraged over the progress made. These efforts will be continued by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce and those officers interested in the project.

It was decided to proceed with the election of directors immediately. The election committee will be appointed within the next few days.

Several industrial projects were discussed and hope is entertained that additional industrial development will follow.

The board endorsed the co-operation of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce with the Johnstown Chamber of Commerce in the effort to build up closer relationship between the two cities in the form of Good Will Day, October 6 at which time the Johnstown and New Castle High school football teams will play in New Castle.

The board authorized the secretary and staff of the Chamber of Commerce to co-operate in every possible way in the efforts of the Federal Housing Administration to stimulate building construction and employment in New Castle.

Vice President W. W. Duff presided in the absence of President L. G. Genkinger. The directors attending the meeting in addition to Mr. Duff being: Thomas H. Hartman, Alex Crawford Hoyt, John H. Lamb, James K. Love, W. F. Moody, James M. Smith, Sr., Thomas W. Dickey, L. B. Round, B. H. Kennenberg and Secretary Alfred W. Chilton. The other directors were prevented from attending the meeting by absence from the city.

Postmaster's Talk Heard By Y's Men

Steen Discusses 'Air Mail" Before Y Group; Its Growth Traced

The rapid development of Uncle Sam's air mail service was reviewed for members of the Y's Men's club of the Y. M. C. A. by Postmaster Richard A. Steen last night.

"Because the public," the postmaster said, "is not as familiar with the air mail system as it should be, the advantages now being offered are in many cases going to waste. Acquaint yourselves with the service, you'll find it pays."

Two letters, declared Mr. Steen, dropped in a shute in a large New York building, one addressed to a man in the same building in which it was mailed and the other to a man in Omaha, would be delivered at the same time. He praised the speed which permits a letter to be mailed in New York at 9 o'clock one morning and to be delivered in Los Angeles at 9:35 the next morning.

As an illustration of the growth of the air service, the postmaster stated that today there is an air liner for every nine railroad pullmans.

Request Made For Beach Street Repairs

Council met in the city building today and received a request from Beach street residents asking that their street be fixed before winter. They report that they want to have coal hauled to their homes and the street is in bad condition. It is an unordained street. However, council instructed Engineer Hoskins to give the request consideration. Council does not want to grade and ordain the street if the city must pay damages for the improvement.

Youth Suffers Fractured Wrist

Henry Gierlach, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gierlach of R. F. D. No. 5, fractured his left wrist on Thursday morning about 9:30 o'clock, the result of a fall from the steps in the yard of the Painter Hill school.

The youth was standing on the steps when he accidentally slipped and fell on his left arm, breaking his wrist. He is in the New Castle hospital.

Three things that keep people honest are good birth, good training and good times.

Make Plans For Annual Campaign

Outline Plans For Annual New Castle Hospital Foodstuffs Campaign

Announcement was made today by officials of the New Castle hospital that plans have been formulated for the annual ingathering of foodstuffs for the benefit of the institution.

Various women's auxiliaries and clubs of the hospital have already outlined plans for the coming campaign. At a special meeting scheduled to take place next Wednesday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock, at the hospital, final plans will be made. At the meeting, stores and residences will be designated to serve as stations where donations may be deposited. In order to facilitate the work of different committees, this plan will be carried out this year, it was announced. In other years, solicitors went from house to house in quest of donations.

Contributions, however, may be brought directly to the hospital. Any person not belonging to the hospital auxiliaries or clubs, who is interested in helping to carry out this campaign, is requested to attend next Wednesday's meeting.

MALARIA WARNING IN DROUTH REGION

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.— Well, if it isn't one thing, it's another.

With the worst of the devasting drouth over, doctors are now warning against contracting the dread typhoid germ from the life-giving rains.

If the rains have been slight, doctors said, extreme care should be taken against typhoid. But, however should the rain fall for two or three days the danger of catching the germ is greatly lessened.

The warning applies especially to those living in districts where drinking water is obtained from wells and springs. A light rain will wash pollution into the springs and wells, and persons using such water are advised to boil it and to be more secure the medics warn, all should be inoculated against typhoid.

Commerce Board Endorses RWD Projects Here

WILL PROCEED WITH ELECTION

Several work projects, which have been given the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies in the past as much needed improvements, were again approved as RWD projects by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Thursday afternoon.

These projects include the construction of the road through North Beaver township to the Burton Powder plant; construction of a sidewalk along Atlantic avenue; and the improvement of the right-of-way of the old New Castle and Youngstown interurban line through Edenburg to the Ohio state line.

To Have Election

A report was submitted on the waterways hearing which took place in Washington on Monday, September 17. The program of the effort to secure slackwater navigation on the Beaver and Mahoning rivers was thoroughly discussed, with the board expressing itself as very much encouraged over the progress made. These efforts will be continued by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce and those officers interested in the project.

It was decided to proceed with the election of directors immediately. The election committee will be appointed within the next few days.

Several industrial projects were discussed and hope is entertained that additional industrial development will follow.

The board endorsed the co-operation of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce with the Johnstown Chamber of Commerce in the effort to build up closer relationship between the two cities in the form of Good Will Day, October 6 at which time the Johnstown and New Castle High school football teams will play in New Castle.

The board authorized the secretary and staff of the Chamber of Commerce to co-operate in every possible way in the efforts of the Federal Housing Administration to stimulate building construction and employment in New Castle.

Vice President W. W. Duff presided in the absence of President L. G. Genkinger. The directors attending the meeting in addition to Mr. Duff being: Thomas H. Hartman, Alex Crawford Hoyt, John H. Lamb, James K. Love, W. F. Moody, James M. Smith, Sr., Thomas W. Dickey, L. B. Round, B. H. Kennenberg and Secretary Alfred W. Chilton. The other directors were prevented from attending the meeting by absence from the city.

Postmaster's Talk Heard By Y's Men

Steen Discusses 'Air Mail" Before Y Group; Its Growth Traced

The rapid development of Uncle Sam's air mail service was reviewed for members of the Y's Men's club of the Y. M. C. A. by Postmaster Richard A. Steen last night.

"Because the public," the postmaster said, "is not as familiar with the air mail system as it should be, the advantages now being offered are in many cases going to waste. Acquaint yourselves with the service, you'll find it pays."

Two letters, declared Mr. Steen, dropped in a shute in a large New York building, one addressed to a man in the same building in which it was mailed and the other to a man in Omaha, would be delivered at the same time. He praised the speed which permits a letter to be mailed in New York at 9 o'clock one morning and to be delivered in Los Angeles at 9:35 the next morning.

As an illustration of the growth of the air service, the postmaster stated that today there is an air liner for every nine railroad pullmans.

Request Made For Beach Street Repairs

Council met in the city building today and received a request from Beach street residents asking that their street be fixed before winter. They report that they want to have coal hauled to their homes and the street is in bad condition. It is an unordained street. However, council instructed Engineer Hoskins to give the request consideration. Council does not want to grade and ordain the street if the city must pay damages for the improvement.

Youth Suffers Fractured Wrist

Henry Gierlach, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gierlach of R. F. D. No. 5, fractured his left wrist on Thursday morning about 9:30 o'clock, the result of a fall from the steps in the yard of the Painter Hill school.

The youth was standing on the steps when he accidentally slipped and fell on his left arm, breaking his wrist. He is in the New Castle hospital.

Three things that keep people honest are good birth, good training and good times.

MALARIA WARNING IN DROUTH REGION

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.— Well, if it isn't one thing, it's another.

With the worst of the devasting drouth over, doctors are now warning against contracting the dread typhoid germ from the life-giving rains.

If the rains have been slight, doctors said, extreme care should be taken against typhoid. But, however should the rain fall for two or three days the danger of catching the germ is greatly lessened.

The warning applies especially to those living in districts where drinking water is obtained from wells and springs. A light rain will wash pollution into the springs and wells, and persons using such water are advised to boil it and to be more secure the medics warn, all should be inoculated against typhoid.

Former Home Of Hauptmann Fails To Reveal Clues

New York Detective And German Police Ransack Home At Kamenz, Today

By HERMANN HOCHBAUM
International News Service Special Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

KAMENZ, Germany, Sept. 28.—The ancestral home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, a tiny two-story cottage in this old Saxon village, was ransacked from top to bottom by detectives today in the search for clues to the Lindbergh kidnaping.

The hunt, carried out under direction of Arthur Johnson of the New York detective bureau, was fruitless. Johnson expressed firm belief everything of a possibly incriminating nature had been removed from the house.

Accompanied by six uniformed policemen and two plainclothes detectives, Johnson arrived here to find the little house locked and bolted.

Nothing Found.

Hauptmann's mother had fled the place with her other son on Saturday, going with him to Dresden late at night to escape the curious crowds which have hovered about her house since Bruno Hauptmann was arrested in New York.

Johnson called a locksmith and the door was forced open. Then began a painstaking search of the two-story house, but nothing was produced save a rusty six-inch shell which Hauptmann evidently had brought home from the war.

"For some reason," Johnson said, "Fritz came here hurriedly from Dresden Saturday and packed off his mother on the last train.

Johnson noticed that despite Frau Hauptmann's extremely limtied income, the property was well kept up. New linen was on the beds and the walls of her room had recently been done over.

Suit Is Brought For Injuries To Child

J. R. Rick Defendant In Action For $10,402.50 Brought By Dolores Malizia

Dolores Malizia, aged 5' by her parents Lordo and Dora Malizia, and the latter in their own right, have filed a suit at the prothonotary's office in which they ask $10,402.50 damages from J. R. Rick for injuries sustained by Dolores in an automobile accident.

According to the statement of claim Rick is a farmer, and at the time of the accident, his car was being driven by a man named Shingledecker. On June 23rd, 1934, Shingledecker was operating his car west on Croton avenue, near Hawthorne street, when the little girl started to cross Croton avenue from the north to the south side.

She was struck by the Shingledecker car, receiving a fracture of the left femur, and injuries about the head and face. She spent six weeks in the New Castle hospital and was three weeks in bed at home. It is claimed that an injury to her face left a permanent scar and that she is still suffering from the fractured leg.

It is claimed that Shingledecker was on the business of his employer at the time of the accident and that he was driving at a high rate of speed.

Hospital and doctor bills amounted to $393.50.

The pioneer rid the land of wolves. You see, he didn't cage them for a while and then parole them.

Administration Is Assailed By Senator Hanley

New York State Senator Rips Savagely Into Democratic Policies

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 28.—With old guard leaders apparently in complete control and determined to nominate Robert Moses for governor, the closing session of the Republican state convention got under way today attuned to a platform highly critical of Democratic administrations—both state and national.

State Senator Joe R. Hanley, potential "dark horse" gubernatorial possibility and permanent chairman, ripped savagely into Democratic policies. Mentioning the name "Theodore Roosevelt," he shouted:

"Get this clear. I didn't say Franklin Roosevelt. I said Theodore Roosevelt. They are of the same name but of a different breed.

"We are not poverty stricken for Republican leadership and before we get out of the mess the country is now in, it will have to turn to a Republican."

Scores "Brain Trust."

With biting reference to the national administration and its so-called "brain trust", he said:

"No one knows whether they have given us a dose of real medicine or a shot in the arm."

Name Williams As Chairman Of New N. R. A. Board

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt's reorganized NRA swung into speedy action today as its newly appointed board elected Clay Williams, a vice-president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., as its chairman.

Leon C. Marshall was elected executive secretary.

At the same time, the new board requested Col. George A. Lynch to serve as administrative officer of the NRA. Lynch has been acting administrator of the big recovery unit, during the absence of Hugh S. Johnson.

MISSING GIRL DISCOVERED STRANGLED IN TRUNK

Stuffed in a trunk, after being bound and strangled, the body of 11-year-old Lillian Gallagher, Detroit, Mich., schoolgirl, missing from her home, was found in a nearby apartment house by the janitor, who informed police. Disclosure by the janitor that the occupants of the "death suite", calling themselves Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Goodrich, had checked out a few days before the discovery of the body, spurred Detroit authorities to order their arrest for questioning. Here are, top left, the apartment house with arrow pointing to "death suite"; top right, a recent photo of slain Lillian Gallagher; below, detectives removing the "death trunk" from the building.

Extortionist Is Given Five Years

Young Companion Of Beaver Falls Extortionist Given Three-Year Parole

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Richard Thomas, 31, today was ordered to serve five years in a government penitentiary and his 21-year-old companion, James Harrington, was placed on a three-year parole after both pleaded guilty in federal court to charges of sending threatening letters to Mrs. Nellie Beagle of Beaver Falls.

In pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge R. M. Gibson took occasion to remark that he has more respect for a holdup man than one who resorts to extortion.

The prisoners, both of Beaver Falls, were charged with having demanded $10,000 from Mrs. Beagle under threat.

Hold Two For Wire Theft In 1933

Dale Patterson and John Kappewich, Wilmington township, have been held by Squire James Brice for December term of court on a charge of having taken heavy insulated wire from that vicinity in 1933.

The wire is valued at about $50, it is reported.

The arrests were made by State Policeman Roswell.

School Tax Penalty Effective October 1

Saturday is the last day when 1934 school taxes can be paid without having a five percent penalty for delinquency added, according to Louis McClung. The penalty is effective October 1. A penalty of four percent for delinquent 1934 city taxes also will be added October 1.

MAY MAKE NO BID

When council met in the city building today they did not mention anything which would indicate they would place a bid for the purchase of the Shenango Valley hospital building and contents.

Let time that makes you homely make you sage.—Parnell.

City To Pay For CWA Materials

WHITE TAKES "SHOT" AT CITY CONTROLLER

Council today met in the city building and introduced a bill to pay as a moral obligation approximately $250 to several local firms for materials purchased by H. L. Stewart, engineer, at the instance of L. B. Round, former administrator of the CWA. The materials were needed quickly and were bought so that men could be placed at work.

The proposed payment of the bill has been before council several times and once one of the bills was ordered paid. However, City Controller Wimer ruled that while personally he would like to see the bills paid, yet in view of materials having been bought without any action by council it would establish a precedent were he to approve the payment. Therefore he refused, he said in a letter to council some time ago.

Today Solicitor Robert White wrote a letter to council in which he waxed rather sarcastic toward the city controller.

His letter follows:

"There have been rendered to the city certain bills for supplies purchased by Mr. Round in the fall of 1933 and on account of the city without any councilmanic consideration.

"These bills were presented to me by you and I rendered to you an opinion stating what was necessary to be done before they could be affirmed and paid by the city.

"Either Mr. Wimer, the city controller, does not understand my opinion or he chooses to disregard it. I am advised that he has stipulated council must pass an ordinance, ostensibly under authority of an act of assembly passed May 17, 1929, P. L. 1801, section 1 before he will approve the payment of these bills.

"I am so anxious to have the affairs of the city administered smoothly and without unnecessary friction, that if Mr. Wimer demands it as a condition precedent, I will prepare for you an ordinance in accordance with the law of Medes and the Persians or even under the authority of some tribal law of Timbuctoo, no matter how futile it may seem to me to be.

"Mr. Wimer's interpretations of the Act of 1929 is indeed unique. Nevertheless I submit herewith the required ordinance."

The bill was introduced and was sent to committee. Under its provisions about $250.00 would be paid as a "moral obligation" on the part of the city.

Suggests Repairing Of Cascade Street

Weingartner Believes Many Men Could Be Used On Street

Senator George T. Weingartner today appeared before council at their meeting in city hall and expressed the opinion that in submitting projects to the Works Division the city should ask for the improvement of Cascade street, which extends from East Washington street to Croton Avenue.

Weingartenr said he owned no property along the route but believed that as the work could be done by "hand labor" it would put many men to work and at the same time provide a good route between the two highways.

He said that part of the street between County Line and Croton avenue is like an "old country road." Under Weingartner's suggestion the road would be coated with some hard material, similar to that used in Grove City.

Former Convict Commits Suicide

Man Who Spent 11 Years For Killing Sweetheart, Commits Suicide

(International News Service)

PAULSBORO, N. J., Sept. 28.—The turbulent life of Harry Moll, who spent 11 years in jail for slaying his pretty sweetheart, was ended today.

With the same hand, and in similar fashion to that in which he killed his sweetheart, Moll sent a bullet through his brain Tuesday. This was revealed today following discovery of the ex-convict's body in a small summer cottage along Mantua creek, close to the scene of the "love nest" he once shared with Violet Staley.

Moll, who was 38, was released from the state prison last June. Since then, police said, he had been unable to find work, and had brooded over his crime until he "became tired of life".

Clenmore School Show Is Success

Neshannock Township School's First Flower Show Thursday Attracts Throng

Thursday was a gala day for students of Clenmore school, Neshannock township, when they held their first annual flower and vegetable show. From every standpoint the event proved a success.

Adorning a classroom, were hundreds of exhibits of flowers of every description, fruits of various kinds and vegetables of all sizes. Peanut plants, stalks of corn high as a house, dahlias, zinnias, flowering begonias and numerous other specimens constituted the Clenmore show. A large number of residents throughout the community gathered to see the exhibits.

Two cabbage plants, one weighing 16 pounds and the other 13 pounds, brought in by Hilda Zakel, were features of the show. The young lady also had on exhibition carrots which weigh two and a half pounds. A miniature farm market, constructed by Lucille, Ione, John and Grace Forsberg, attracted much attention as did a replica of a farm, created by Helen Papst. Mary Gilfillan displayed an egg plant which weighed six pounds.

During the course of the afternoon, Mrs. Allen Urmson delivered an interesting address on "Flower Arrangement in the Home." Mrs. Ella Mechem spoke on "Fruits and Vegetables." Mrs. Urmson and Mrs. Mechem were also the judges. The untiring efforts of Mrs. Bessie Ball, Mrs. Elizabeth Bratchie and Herbert Gibson, instructors in the Clenmore school, were responsible for the huge success of the show.

A large crowd witnessed the show last night.

NO JOBS FOR FRAT MEN

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Drury college students who can afford a membership in a fraternity certainly cannot be so hard up financially, in the opinion of Guy Barnes, executive secretary of the school, and therefore campus employment will not be available to them this fall.

On Court House Hill

Owing to the fact that there is a motion to quash pending in court the case of W. W. Thompson, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was continued until a disposition of the motion is made. Thompson denies the charge.

All of the jurors in attendance at court this week were discharged today, the end of the list of cases for trial at this term having been reached. Jurors who were on the Roxie Long cases served all last week and until Thursday of this week.

In the estate of the late Charles Dominick of this city letters of administration have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Angeline Dominick. In the estate of the late Dominick Macri of Mahoning township, letters have been granted to Margaret Gennaro.

County Commissioners yesterday inspected a bridge across the Slippery Rock creek near the Rentz camp, on the road running from the New Castle-Slippery Rock road to the Perry Highway. It was found that the planks on the bridge are bad and repairs were ordered.

An answer to a petition of defendants to open judgement in the case of the Pattison Motor company and others against E. H. and G. A. Pearsall, has been filed by the plaintiff at the prothonotary's office. The case is one involving a note for $1080.66 given by defendants to the Pattison Motor company, use of the Commercial Credit company, in a transaction for a truck.

County Treasurer William R. Pitts states that over 700 hunting licenses have been issued so far this year. In addition to the county treasurer's office, Treasurer Pitts has authorized a number of other agencies to issue licenses. They can be had from the following persons; Justice of the Peace Young and Douds, at Ellwood City; Justice of the Peace Chaney of Bessemer; Miller's store at Castlewood; Alderman Green and Ewing, of this city; Louis J. Pappa at West Pittsburg and Squire Strawhecker of Enon.

Juries at court this week had an eye to saving the county's money. In several cases where verdicts of not guilty were returned the jury divided the costs between the plaintiff and the defendant. Such verdicts may have a tendency to cause would be litigants to consider carefully before bringing trivial charges.

If there is any moral to be drawn from the Roxie Long conspiracy case in court this week, it is that wholesale merchants should insist in being paid in Uncle Sam's long green, instead of checks, when they deliver goods to new customers. This moral might extend further and apply with equal force to all persons who are offered checks by strangers. Many cases get into court though the issuance and acceptance of worthless checks. It is possible that a man with an account in a bank may overdraw and issue a check against insufficient funds. In many such cases there is no intention to defraud, but there is another class of offenders who know that they do not have the money in the bank when they issue the checks. They do it with the deliberate purpose of cheating and defrauding. It is this class of cases that usually get into the courts. Notwithstanding repeated warnings it appears that there are always people who will accept checks from strangers. Roxie Long was evidently aware of this human weakness when he planned his store in Mahoningtown, and equipped the man in charge, as testified to in court, with a bunch of checks already signed. Some of the wholesalers who sent their drivers with goods to the store, instructed the drivers to get the cash, but they were talked into accepting checks, and this caused all the trouble.

Mrs. H. W. Allen has returned home after spending the past two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. E. J. St. Clair, of Portersville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Keck, of Cambridge Springs, and Alvin Herberg, of New Castle, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford on Sunday.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. September 27, 32 arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking limit, 5; violation of traffic regulations, 14; speeding, 3; drunkenness, 3; keeper of disorderly house, 1; visitor to disorderly house, 6.

Civil Service Commission for firemen has submitted to members of city council a list of eligibles for the municipal paid firemen's department. In arriving at their ratings it is said that ex-servicemen who took the test were not given an added percentage for their service. The act of 1931 provided they be given credit, but the act of 1933 has been interpreted by the board as not granting them a credit of 15 per cent. It would not be surprising if the court is asked to interpret the act of 1933. Those certified as eligible in the order rated by the commission follows: Michael A. Russo, William E. Howard, William Bowen, George H. Ward, Edwin M. Jessel, Wellington F. Pulford, Phillips G. Reed and Herman F. Steinbrink.

Hunters who wish to carry small arms to the woods during the deer hunting season must obtain a permit from either the sheriff or the chief of police, which brings to mind that the police authorities here have installed a new wrinkle and one which may prove good in case of accident. All persons who receive a permit will be finger-printed. The number of the gun will be taken. The "prints" and gun number will be kept on file here.

Safety cards soon will be distributed by city police and the State Highway Patrol. They will bear instructions as follows: Cross streets only at corners; Look! Be sure the way is clear before you cross. Walk—not run—straight across the street; Keep out from between parked cars; Obey police officers signals; Play away from traffic; Be doubly alert on slippery streets; Walk on the left side of the highway, facing traffic (where there is no sidewalk.)

Clenmore School Show Is Success

Neshannock Township School's First Flower Show Thursday Attracts Throng

Thursday was a gala day for students of Clenmore school, Neshannock township, when they held their first annual flower and vegetable show. From every standpoint the event proved a success.

Adorning a classroom, were hundreds of exhibits of flowers of every description, fruits of various kinds and vegetables of all sizes. Peanut plants, stalks of corn high as a house, dahlias, zinnias, flowering begonias and numerous other specimens constituted the Clenmore show. A large number of residents throughout the community gathered to see the exhibits.

Two cabbage plants, one weighing 16 pounds and the other 13 pounds, brought in by Hilda Zakel, were features of the show. The young lady also had on exhibition carrots which weigh two and a half pounds. A miniature farm market, constructed by Lucille, Ione, John and Grace Forsberg, attracted much attention as did a replica of a farm, created by Helen Papst. Mary Gilfillan displayed an egg plant which weighed six pounds.

During the course of the afternoon, Mrs. Allen Urmson delivered an interesting address on "Flower Arrangement in the Home." Mrs. Ella Mechem spoke on "Fruits and Vegetables." Mrs. Urmson and Mrs. Mechem were also the judges. The untiring efforts of Mrs. Bessie Ball, Mrs. Elizabeth Bratchie and Herbert Gibson, instructors in the Clenmore school, were responsible for the huge success of the show.

Commerce Board Endorses RWD Projects Here

WILL PROCEED WITH ELECTION

Several work projects, which have been given the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies in the past as much needed improvements, were again approved as RWD projects by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Thursday afternoon.

These projects include the construction of the road through North Beaver township to the Burton Powder plant; construction of a sidewalk along Atlantic avenue; and the improvement of the right-of-way of the old New Castle and Youngstown interurban line through Edenburg to the Ohio state line.

To Have Election

A report was submitted on the waterways hearing which took place in Washington on Monday, September 17. The program of the effort to secure slackwater navigation on the Beaver and Mahoning rivers was thoroughly discussed, with the board expressing itself as very much encouraged over the progress made. These efforts will be continued by the committee of the Chamber of Commerce and those officers interested in the project.

It was decided to proceed with the election of directors immediately. The election committee will be appointed within the next few days.

Several industrial projects were discussed and hope is entertained that additional industrial development will follow.

The board endorsed the co-operation of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce with the Johnstown Chamber of Commerce in the effort to build up closer relationship between the two cities in the form of Good Will Day, October 6 at which time the Johnstown and New Castle High school football teams will play in New Castle.

The board authorized the secretary and staff of the Chamber of Commerce to co-operate in every possible way in the efforts of the Federal Housing Administration to stimulate building construction and employment in New Castle.

Vice President W. W. Duff presided in the absence of President L. G. Genkinger. The directors attending the meeting in addition to Mr. Duff being: Thomas H. Hartman, Alex Crawford Hoyt, John H. Lamb, James K. Love, W. F. Moody, James M. Smith, Sr., Thomas W. Dickey, L. B. Round, B. H. Kennenberg and Secretary Alfred W. Chilton. The other directors were prevented from attending the meeting by absence from the city.

Postmaster's Talk Heard By Y's Men

Steen Discusses 'Air Mail" Before Y Group; Its Growth Traced

The rapid development of Uncle Sam's air mail service was reviewed for members of the Y's Men's club of the Y. M. C. A. by Postmaster Richard A. Steen last night.

"Because the public," the postmaster said, "is not as familiar with the air mail system as it should be, the advantages now being offered are in many cases going to waste. Acquaint yourselves with the service, you'll find it pays."

Two letters, declared Mr. Steen, dropped in a shute in a large New York building, one addressed to a man in the same building in which it was mailed and the other to a man in Omaha, would be delivered at the same time. He praised the speed which permits a letter to be mailed in New York at 9 o'clock one morning and to be delivered in Los Angeles at 9:35 the next morning.

As an illustration of the growth of the air service, the postmaster stated that today there is an air liner for every nine railroad pullmans.

Request Made For Beach Street Repairs

Council met in the city building today and received a request from Beach street residents asking that their street be fixed before winter. They report that they want to have coal hauled to their homes and the street is in bad condition. It is an unordained street. However, council instructed Engineer Hoskins to give the request consideration. Council does not want to grade and ordain the street if the city must pay damages for the improvement.

Youth Suffers Fractured Wrist

Henry Gierlach, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gierlach of R. F. D. No. 5, fractured his left wrist on Thursday morning about 9:30 o'clock, the result of a fall from the steps in the yard of the Painter Hill school.

The youth was standing on the steps when he accidentally slipped and fell on his left arm, breaking his wrist. He is in the New Castle hospital.

Three things that keep people honest are good birth, good training and good times.

Make Plans For Annual Campaign

Outline Plans For Annual New Castle Hospital Foodstuffs Campaign

Announcement was made today by officials of the New Castle hospital that plans have been formulated for the annual ingathering of foodstuffs for the benefit of the institution.

Various women's auxiliaries and clubs of the hospital have already outlined plans for the coming campaign. At a special meeting scheduled to take place next Wednesday evening, October 3, at 8 o'clock, at the hospital, final plans will be made. At the meeting, stores and residences will be designated to serve as stations where donations may be deposited. In order to facilitate the work of different committees, this plan will be carried out this year, it was announced. In other years, solicitors went from house to house in quest of donations.

Contributions, however, may be brought directly to the hospital. Any person not belonging to the hospital auxiliaries or clubs, who is interested in helping to carry out this campaign, is requested to attend next Wednesday's meeting.

MALARIA WARNING IN DROUTH REGION

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.— Well, if it isn't one thing, it's another.

With the worst of the devasting drouth over, doctors are now warning against contracting the dread typhoid germ from the life-giving rains.

If the rains have been slight, doctors said, extreme care should be taken against typhoid. But, however should the rain fall for two or three days the danger of catching the germ is greatly lessened.

The warning applies especially to those living in districts where drinking water is obtained from wells and springs. A light rain will wash pollution into the springs and wells, and persons using such water are advised to boil it and to be more secure the medics warn, all should be inoculated against typhoid.

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—The state's investigation of the administration of relief in Greene county gets underway today.

The first public hearings of charges made in the administration of relief as it existed prior to last September 10 will be held this afternoon at Waynesburg.

Science has been able to magnify the human voice 12,000 times but they seem to be unable to amplify the voice of conscience so it can be heard.

Three Women In Hauptmann Case

Rumors Bring Forth Three As Important Witnesses In Ransom Case

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—While police, detectives and Department of Justice agents strove manfully to fill in the missing pieces of the chain of evidence being woven about Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today, recurrent rumors brought forward three women as increasingly important witnesses in the Lindbergh case.

The identities of two of the women are being withheld, while the third is Anita Lutzenberg, pretty department store employe, who has already told how Hauptmann walked with a slight limp during the summer of 1932, the year of the kidnaping.

One of the women, according to a high police official, is linked with the recovery of $100 in Lindbergh ransom notes in Maine during the summer of 1933.

This woman's husband, it is said, came to Hauptmann on August 1 of that year and told the carpenter he would like to go on a vacation, but that he had no money. Hauptmann, it is said, then lent the man $100 and he promptly left for Maine and a short time later Lindbergh ransom notes began to crop up in that state.

This revelation sheds new light on the appearance of the ransom notes in Maine, for hitherto it had been believed Hauptmann went to that state on a hunting trip and distributed the bills there himself.

The third woman was reported due to appear at the Bronx district attorney's office for questioning today.

Institutes Are Planned By Syling

Two Day Session Will Be Held In November At Slippery Rock College

Arrangements are being perfected with officials of Slippery Rock State Teachers college for a two-day institute at the college sometime during November to take the place of the institute program formerly carried out in the county, County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling stated today.

It is hoped to have some of the leading educators in the Western Pennsylvania district on the program in addition to the instructors from the Teachers' college.

The institute will likely be held during November as it is almost impossible to make arrangements sooner because of many conflicting meetings in the district during October, which include the educational congress in Harrisburg, convention of the Mid-Western District of the P. S. E. A. at Beaver Falls, and an educational conference at Allegheny college.

American Legion Band To Be Formed

Organization Meeting Will Be Held At Legion Home Next Week

With many splendid musicians available among former members of the New Castle high school band, this group will be used as a nucleus for a new musical organization to be formed in the city, under the sponsorship of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion.

Joseph F. Replogle, director of music at New Castle high school, has consented to become leader of the band, and a meeting has been called for next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Legion home, when the organization will get started.

It is hoped to develop a band of from 50 to 60 pieces to represent the post at legion assemblies and for civic purposes. The band will be uniformed and equipped as speedily as possible, members of the committee representing the Perry S. Gaston post state.

Avert Strike Of Welsh Miners By New Agreement

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Danger of a disastrous strike of 137,000 coal miners in South Wales, due Monday, had been temporarily averted today by a provisional wage agreement between representatives of miners and mine owners.

Terms of the agreement, which is meant to supplant the wage scale contract expiring tomorrow, will be submitted today to the miners' and owners' organizations.

Two-Year-Old Lad Smokes With Daddy

(International News Service)

FERNDALE, Mich., Sept. 21.—Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilkinson here are likely to be plenty surprised when the couple's two-year-old son, Keith, nonchalantly steps up to his dad and "bums" a pipeful of tobacco or a cigar. Nevertheless he does, and has for the past year.

Last year the boy watched his father smoking a cigar and howled for a puff until he got it. Apparently he liked it, his parents said, because since then he has become a confirmed smoker. Keith suffers no ill effects, they said.

To the true conservative, a darned radical is anybody who has the confidence of men in overalls.

Pennsy Dinner Draws Crowd From Division

Dinner And Informal Evening Enjoyed By 150; Women In Charge

A reunion air prevailed at Pennsylvania railroad headquarters here last night when a group of 150 persons, Pennsylvania men, their wives and their families participated in an informal dinner party held under the auspices of the Woman's Aid of the Erie and Ashtabula division.

Railroad folk from distant points on the division joined New Castle employes and their familes for the social get-together, the first to be held under the Woman's Aid direction for some time. It was the first meeting of many of the guests for months.

An entertaining evening of cards and social chat followed a delicious tureen dinner which members of the Aid organization served around 6:30. The assembly room in the Pennsyl freight building was the scene of the festivities.

Heading the women's relief group is Mrs. E. S. Reed, superintendent of the E. and A. branch. She greeted the dinner crowd in a brief talk, her inaugural before a division audience during the evening.

Half Owner Saws Dwelling In Two

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 21.—Julian Laskowski owns half a house and wants to take it away with him. But Alex Kisil owns the other half and doesn't like the idea.

A charge filed in Justice Guy B. Knott's court here declares that when Kisil returned to the home he and Laskowski had built to "batch" in, he found Laskowski and a friend very carefully and judicially sawing the house exactly in two.

The complaint says this is "malicious destruction of property" and wants something done about it. The court decided nothing could be done.

And yet, when the earnest citizen is distressed by a threat to liberty, it is always the liberty of somebody else.

Evidently the farmers won't stand for regimentation. Everybody who isn't a farmer will tell you so.

Three Women In Hauptmann Case

Rumors Bring Forth Three As Important Witnesses In Ransom Case

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—While police, detectives and Department of Justice agents strove manfully to fill in the missing pieces of the chain of evidence being woven about Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today, recurrent rumors brought forward three women as increasingly important witnesses in the Lindbergh case.

The identities of two of the women are being withheld, while the third is Anita Lutzenberg, pretty department store employe, who has already told how Hauptmann walked with a slight limp during the summer of 1932, the year of the kidnaping.

One of the women, according to a high police official, is linked with the recovery of $100 in Lindbergh ransom notes in Maine during the summer of 1933.

This woman's husband, it is said, came to Hauptmann on August 1 of that year and told the carpenter he would like to go on a vacation, but that he had no money. Hauptmann, it is said, then lent the man $100 and he promptly left for Maine and a short time later Lindbergh ransom notes began to crop up in that state.

This revelation sheds new light on the appearance of the ransom notes in Maine, for hitherto it had been believed Hauptmann went to that state on a hunting trip and distributed the bills there himself.

The third woman was reported due to appear at the Bronx district attorney's office for questioning today.

Institutes Are Planned By Syling

Two Day Session Will Be Held In November At Slippery Rock College

Arrangements are being perfected with officials of Slippery Rock State Teachers college for a two-day institute at the college sometime during November to take the place of the institute program formerly carried out in the county, County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling stated today.

It is hoped to have some of the leading educators in the Western Pennsylvania district on the program in addition to the instructors from the Teachers' college.

The institute will likely be held during November as it is almost impossible to make arrangements sooner because of many conflicting meetings in the district during October, which include the educational congress in Harrisburg, convention of the Mid-Western District of the P. S. E. A. at Beaver Falls, and an educational conference at Allegheny college.

American Legion Band To Be Formed

Organization Meeting Will Be Held At Legion Home Next Week

With many splendid musicians available among former members of the New Castle high school band, this group will be used as a nucleus for a new musical organization to be formed in the city, under the sponsorship of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion.

Joseph F. Replogle, director of music at New Castle high school, has consented to become leader of the band, and a meeting has been called for next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Legion home, when the organization will get started.

It is hoped to develop a band of from 50 to 60 pieces to represent the post at legion assemblies and for civic purposes. The band will be uniformed and equipped as speedily as possible, members of the committee representing the Perry S. Gaston post state.

Avert Strike Of Welsh Miners By New Agreement

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Danger of a disastrous strike of 137,000 coal miners in South Wales, due Monday, had been temporarily averted today by a provisional wage agreement between representatives of miners and mine owners.

Terms of the agreement, which is meant to supplant the wage scale contract expiring tomorrow, will be submitted today to the miners' and owners' organizations.

Two-Year-Old Lad Smokes With Daddy

(International News Service)

FERNDALE, Mich., Sept. 21.—Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilkinson here are likely to be plenty surprised when the couple's two-year-old son, Keith, nonchalantly steps up to his dad and "bums" a pipeful of tobacco or a cigar. Nevertheless he does, and has for the past year.

Last year the boy watched his father smoking a cigar and howled for a puff until he got it. Apparently he liked it, his parents said, because since then he has become a confirmed smoker. Keith suffers no ill effects, they said.

To the true conservative, a darned radical is anybody who has the confidence of men in overalls.

Pennsy Dinner Draws Crowd From Division

Dinner And Informal Evening Enjoyed By 150; Women In Charge

A reunion air prevailed at Pennsylvania railroad headquarters here last night when a group of 150 persons, Pennsylvania men, their wives and their families participated in an informal dinner party held under the auspices of the Woman's Aid of the Erie and Ashtabula division.

Railroad folk from distant points on the division joined New Castle employes and their familes for the social get-together, the first to be held under the Woman's Aid direction for some time. It was the first meeting of many of the guests for months.

An entertaining evening of cards and social chat followed a delicious tureen dinner which members of the Aid organization served around 6:30. The assembly room in the Pennsyl freight building was the scene of the festivities.

Heading the women's relief group is Mrs. E. S. Reed, superintendent of the E. and A. branch. She greeted the dinner crowd in a brief talk, her inaugural before a division audience during the evening.

Daniel Laws Fined By Mayor

Daniel Laws, colored, accused of having been implicated in a fight Wednesday night at the home of Ed Davis, Big Run street and during which James Thompson, also colored, was struck with a poker and gallon jug, appeared before Mayor Mayne in police court today. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00, in default of which he was sent to jail for 10 days. Laws claims Thompson had been drinking and insulted him.

Says Palestine Now Prosperous

New Castle Man, Here On Visit, Relates Conditions In Country

LARGE INFLUX OF POPULATION

Depression is an unknown word in Palestine, at least insofar as the word is considered economically, according to James C. Stewart, a New Castle man who is located in Jerusalem for one of the major oil companies. With his wife, Mr. Stewart has been spending a vacation with his father, Rev. J. S. Stewart of North Mercer street, for some months but plans to return to Palestine shortly.

"The reason for there being no depression in Palestine at the present time is political and social rather than economic," said Mr. Stewart. "We are hoping that certain economic indications continue and if they do, the prosperity will become a permanent thing. In the past ten years 25,000 small industries have been started in Palestine, and in the past two years there has been a tremendous influx of Jews, especially from Germany. The British government which has a mandate over Palestine has insisted on a minimum of $5000 for emigrants coming into the country.

"For example, the city of Tel Aviv, on the coast, near the city of Jaffa, has increased in population in two years from 40,000 to 100,000. It is the only purely Jewish city in the world. The city of Jerusalem has increased in population also in the past two years but nothing like Tel Aviv.

"Jerusalem is composed of 10 per cent Christian people, 20 per cent Jews and the balance of the Moslem faith," said Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of the New Castle high school in 1923 and of Geneva college in 1927. He was born in Palestine, his parents being there in missionary work at his birth. As a boy he was brought to the United States, but for the past year and a half has been in business in Palestine.

Release Couple Taken At Erie

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 28.—Taken into custory because of their slight resemblance to Mr. and Mrs. Merion W. Goodrich, who are sought as suspects in the brutal slaying of Lillian Gallaher, 11-year-old Detroit school girl, a San Francisco couple was released by police here today.

Release of the couple was ordered after police definitely established they are George W. Crooks, 42, and his wife, Mary T. Crooks, 29, of San Francisco. Police said the Californians, travelling east, had nothing to do with the Detroit case.

'GOOD WILL DAY' PROGRAM GAINS HEARTY SUPPORT

Invitations For October 6 Bombard Johnstown, Cairman Reports

The stream of cordial invitations from New Castle citizens and clubs to Johnstown citizens and clubs was swelled today as additional public-spirited organizations and individuals told General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger they have sent greetings to that city in behalf of "Johnstown Goodwill Day."

New Castle will open wide its city gate on Saturday, October 6 to welcome the Johnstown residents who will come here to watch, for the first time in history, their team play New Castle high.

Hear Of New Bids

The American Leagion has formally endorsed the movement and has named Norman "Scoots" Nelson to represent it on the general committee; an invitation from Russell Melvin, secretary of the New Castle consistory has gone to Johnstown men who have affiliations with local Masonic bodies: the Castle club, leading social club here, has invited through E. A. Fenton, the Johnstown Bachelor's Club, urging the members to make their stay at the Castle clubrooms in The Castleton that day.

Bolsinger, commander-in-chief of the gala "Goodwill Day" forces estimates that more than 100 personal invitations have also been sent to Johnstown addresses.

A late report which reached the celebration committee is that Johnstown high's alumni association has accepted its invitation and promises to have "our alumni well represented."

The day will bring festivities of an altogether different sort for New Castle, for never before has New Castle so organized itself so well to play the part of host to a visiting football team and its boosters. Some clubs plan evening dinners, others plan to welcome their groups in other ways. And individuals, too will meet other individuals to entertain them for the day.

Says Palestine Now Prosperous

LARGE INFLUX OF POPULATION

Depression is an unknown word in Palestine, at least insofar as the word is considered economically, according to James C. Stewart, a New Castle man who is located in Jerusalem for one of the major oil companies. With his wife, Mr. Stewart has been spending a vacation with his father, Rev. J. S. Stewart of North Mercer street, for some months but plans to return to Palestine shortly.

"The reason for there being no depression in Palestine at the present time is political and social rather than economic," said Mr. Stewart. "We are hoping that certain economic indications continue and if they do, the prosperity will become a permanent thing. In the past ten years 25,000 small industries have been started in Palestine, and in the past two years there has been a tremendous influx of Jews, especially from Germany. The British government which has a mandate over Palestine has insisted on a minimum of $5000 for emigrants coming into the country.

"For example, the city of Tel Aviv, on the coast, near the city of Jaffa, has increased in population in two years from 40,000 to 100,000. It is the only purely Jewish city in the world. The city of Jerusalem has increased in population also in the past two years but nothing like Tel Aviv.

"Jerusalem is composed of 10 per cent Christian people, 20 per cent Jews and the balance of the Moslem faith," said Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of the New Castle high school in 1923 and of Geneva college in 1927. He was born in Palestine, his parents being there in missionary work at his birth . As a boy he was brought to the United States, but for the past year and a half has been in business in Palestine.

Release Couple Taken At Erie

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 28.—Taken into custory because of their slight resemblance to Mr. and Mrs. Merion W. Goodrich, who are sought as suspects in the brutal slaying of Lillian Gallaher, 11-year-old Detroit school girl, a San Francisco couple was released by police here today.

Release of the couple was ordered after police definitely established they are George W. Crooks, 42, and his wife, Mary T. Crooks, 29, of San Francisco. Police said the Californians, travelling east, had nothing to do with the Detroit case.

Stand up and cheer, ladies! Handbags for fall are "sensible." Simple fastenings have been substituted for trick one, and the size of the average daytime bag is capacious and practical.

'GOOD WILL DAY' PROGRAM GAINS HEARTY SUPPORT

Invitations For October 6 Bombard Johnstown, Cairman Reports

The stream of cordial invitations from New Castle citizens and clubs to Johnstown citizens and clubs was swelled today as additional public-spirited organizations and individuals told General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger they have sent greetings to that city in behalf of "Johnstown Goodwill Day."

New Castle will open wide its city gate on Saturday, October 6 to welcome the Johnstown residents who will come here to watch, for the first time in history, their team play New Castle high.

Hear Of New Bids

The American Leagion has formally endorsed the movement and has named Norman "Scoots" Nelson to represent it on the general committee; an invitation from Russell Melvin, secretary of the New Castle consistory has gone to Johnstown men who have affiliations with local Masonic bodies: the Castle club, leading social club here, has invited through E. A. Fenton, the Johnstown Bachelor's Club, urging the members to make their stay at the Castle clubrooms in The Castleton that day.

Bolsinger, commander-in-chief of the gala "Goodwill Day" forces estimates that more than 100 personal invitations have also been sent to Johnstown addresses.

A late report which reached the celebration committee is that Johnstown high's alumni association has accepted its invitation and promises to have "our alumni well represented."

The day will bring festivities of an altogether different sort for New Castle, for never before has New Castle so organized itself so well to play the part of host to a visiting football team and its boosters. Some clubs plan evening dinners, others plan to welcome their groups in other ways. And individuals, too will meet other individuals to entertain them for the day.

Clenmore School Show Is Success

Neshannock Township School's First Flower Show Thursday Attracts Throng

Thursday was a gala day for students of Clenmore school, Neshannock township, when they held their first annual flower and vegetable show. From every standpoint the event proved a success.

Adorning a classroom, were hundreds of exhibits of flowers of every description, fruits of various kinds and vegetables of all sizes. Peanut plants, stalks of corn high as a house, dahlias, zinnias, flowering begonias and numerous other specimens constituted the Clenmore show. A large number of residents throughout the community gathered to see the exhibits.

Two cabbage plants, one weighing 16 pounds and the other 13 pounds, brought in by Hilda Zakel, were features of the show. The young lady also had on exhibition carrots which weigh two and a half pounds. A miniature farm market, constructed by Lucille, Ione, John and Grace Forsberg, attracted much attention as did a replica of a farm, created by Helen Papst. Mary Gilfillan displayed an egg plant which weighed six pounds.

During the course of the afternoon, Mrs. Allen Urmson delivered an interesting address on "Flower Arrangement in the Home." Mrs. Ella Mechem spoke on "Fruits and Vegetables." Mrs. Urmson and Mrs. Mechem were also the judges. The untiring efforts of Mrs. Bessie Ball, Mrs. Elizabeth Bratchie and Herbert Gibson, instructors in the Clenmore school, were responsible for the huge success of the show.

On Court House Hill

Owing to the fact that there is a motion to quash pending in court the case of W. W. Thompson, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was continued until a disposition of the motion is made. Thompson denies the charge.

All of the jurors in attendance at court this week were discharged today, the end of the list of cases for trial at this term having been reached. Jurors who were on the Roxie Long cases served all last week and until Thursday of this week.

In the estate of the late Charles Dominick of this city letters of administration have been granted by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Angeline Dominick. In the estate of the late Dominick Macri of Mahoning township, letters have been granted to Margaret Gennaro.

County Commissioners yesterday inspected a bridge across the Slippery Rock creek near the Rentz camp, on the road running from the New Castle-Slippery Rock road to the Perry Highway. It was found that the planks on the bridge are bad and repairs were ordered.

An answer to a petition of defendants to open judgement in the case of the Pattison Motor company and others against E. H. and G. A. Pearsall, has been filed by the plaintiff at the prothonotary's office. The case is one involving a note for $1080.66 given by defendants to the Pattison Motor company, use of the Commercial Credit company, in a transaction for a truck.

County Treasurer William R. Pitts states that over 700 hunting licenses have been issued so far this year. In addition to the county treasurer's office, Treasurer Pitts has authorized a number of other agencies to issue licenses. They can be had from the following persons: Justice of the Peace Young and Douds, at Ellwood City; Justice of the Peace Chaney of Bessemer; Miller's store at Castlewood; Alderman Green and Ewing, of this city; Louis J. Pappa at West Pittsburg and Squire Strawbecker of Enon.

Juries at court this week had an eye to saving the county's money. In several cases where verdicts of not guilty were returned the jury divided the costs between the plaintiff and the defendant. Such verdicts may have a tendency to cause would be litigants to consider carefully before bringing trivial charges.

If there is any moral to be drawn from the Roxie Long conspiracy case in court this week, it is that wholesale merchants should insist in being paid in Uncle Sam's long green, instead of checks, when they deliver goods to new customers. This moral might extend further and apply with equal force to all persons who are offered checks by strangers. Many cases get into court though the issuance and acceptance of worthless checks. It is possible that a man with an account in a bank may overdraw and issue a check against insufficient funds. In many such cases there is no intention to defraud, but there is another class of offenders who know that they do not have the money in the bank when they issue the checks. They do it with the deliberate purpose of cheating and defrauding. It is this class of cases that usually get into the courts. Notwithstanding repeated warnings it appears that there are always people who will accept checks from strangers. Roxie Long was evidently aware of this human weakness when he planned his store in Mahoningtown, and equipped the man in charge, as testified to in court, with a bunch of checks already signed. Some of the wholesalers who sent their drivers with goods to the store, instructed the drivers to get the cash, but they were talked into accepting checks, and this caused all the trouble.

Civil Service Commission for firemen has submitted to members of city council a list of eligibles for the municipal paid firemen's department. In arriving at their ratings it is said that ex-servicemen who took the test were not given an added percentage for their service. The act of 1931 provided they be given credit, but the act of 1933 has been interpreted by the board as not granting them a credit of 15 per cent. It would not be surprising if the court is asked to interpret the act of 1933. Those certified as eligible in the order rated by the commission follows: Michael A. Russo, William E. Howard, William Bowen, George H. Ward, Edwin M. Jessel, Wellington F. Pulford, Phillips G. Reed and Herman F. Steinbrink.

Hunters who wish to carry small arms to the woods during the deer hunting season must obtain a permit from either the sheriff or the chief of police, which brings to mind that the police authorities here have installed a new wrinkle and one which may prove good in case of accident. All persons who receive a permit will be finger-printed. The number of the gun will be taken. The "prints" and gun number will be kept on file here.

Safety cards soon will be distributed by city police and the State Highway Patrol. They will bear instructions as follows: Cross streets only at corners; Look! Be sure the way is clear before you cross. Walk—not run—straight across the street; Keep out from between parked cars; Obey police officers signals; Play away from traffic; Be doubly alert on slippery streets; Walk on the left side of the highway, facing traffic (where there is no sidewalk.)

NEW CASTLE AND CHARLEROI PLAY HERE TONIGHT

RIVALS READY FOR BIG GAME

Charleroi Will Be First Class AA Test Of Year —Game Starts At 8 P. M.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Has New Castle Team Working Smooth For Third Game

EYES of the Class AA high school football conference of Western Pennsylvania will be trained on Taggart stadium tonight where New Castle High school football team, 1933 W. P. I. A. L. major champions will battle Charleroi high, one of the strong contenders for the throne last year. The game marks the first class AA engagement of importance this year. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p. m. The doors of Taggart field will open to the fans at 7 p. m.

Locals On Edge

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has the New Castle high gridders on edge for this important meeting. Last year the Charleroi eleven tried to throw a handful of monkey-wrenches into the "Red Hurricane" machine at Charleroi and the red and blacks were fortunate to pull out a 14 to 6 victory. This year will be no exception.

New Castle has two victories in two games played so far this year, neither of them were of the impressive variety. The "Red Hurricane" can play better football than was shown against Braddock and Ellwood City, is the belief of many who have watched them in the workouts this week.

At Full Strength

Bridenbaugh hopes to have New Castle at full strength for the game tonight.

Fleming will be the signal barker and field general.

On the line will be Wisosky and Tuscano at the ends, Crisci or Palkovitch and at the tackles, Small and Cardella at the guards and Adamo at center.

Coach Stephanian will bring a veteran team to New Castle. Charleroi lost only a few of the regulars by graduation last June and the replacements are said to be even better than the regulars.

If any team is to put a crimp in the victory string of the "Red Hurricane" it will be Charleroi. The Charleroi party will arrive here early in the afternoon and quarter at a local hotel.

Enter Right Gates

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner asks that the fans use the gates at the field their tickets call for. There has been quite a bit of confusion at the various turnstiles by fans wanting to enter the gates without the proper kind of tickets. There are enough turnstiles to handle all of the fans and for whatever price you care to pay to see the game. The student gate at the north end of the field is for students only.

The prices for the Charleroi game will be the same as for the first two games. This is the final night game at home. In event of good weather the turnstiles should sing a merry song as they click merrily on their way shortly after 7 o'clock.

DISTRICT TEAMS ARE IN ACTION

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Hail king football!

Another collegiate gridiron season dawns and will officially blossom in all its splendor this week end. With it returns the campus football heroes. Many are veterans but in the majority new faces prevail. All have one thing in common—a determined ambition to win all-American honors.

But before this goal will be gained by a select few, a strenuous campaign, complete with thrills and disappointments, must be experienced. Hard work, difficult schedules and stubborn battles will be the order rather than the exception.

Pennsylvania has its stellar players as well as outstanding teams that must be recognized in the race for national honors. Still they will not be judged on past achievements. The merits of their work and accomplishments during the season now opening will be the basis upon which judgment will be passed.

Dukes-Mountaineers

Encouraged by a 39 to 0 victory over Waynesburg, Duquesne university under its new head coach Joe Bach, has no setup here tonight with West Virginia university as its opposition. How well the "Dukes" know it. Although Bach has produced a speedy and aggressive eleven, he admires the determination and "punch" displayed by the Mountaineer Giants in their 10 to 0 triumph over West Virginia Wesleyan.

I hesitate to predict the winner because from all appearances the contest will be a toss-up with "breaks" likely to be a deciding factor.

Making its initial appearance, Bucknell university, also guided by a new coach, "Hooks" Mylin, faces a formidable foe tonight in Davis-Elkins at Lewisburg. Mylin has brought new gridiron tactics and strategy to Bucknell but it is doubtful whether his inexperienced players will be able to make them click against the veteran squad from West Virginia. Davis-Elkins should have a successful night.

Pitt Favored

Saturday's gridiron menu is more extensive and appetizing.

Far better prepared for the opening kick-off against W. & J. than

Cardinals Want Victory Today

Manager Frankie Frisch Will Send "Dizzy" Dean To Mound Against Reds

International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 28—Frankie Frisch, playing manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, awoke bright and early today, more enthusiastic than ever over his club's chances of winning or at least tieing for the national league pennant.

The Cardinals are now only a half game behind the leading New York Giants as the result of their victory over Cincinnati in the first of a four game series yesterday.

Dean To Pitch

By defeating Cincinnati again this afternoon with the great Dizzy Dean pitching the Cardinals will tie the Giants for the lead. Idle yesterday, the Giants have another open date today.

"I was mighty glad that our team won yesterday," Frisch said. "I realize, of course, it is a matter of a day-to-day proposition.

"We have a real chance to win or at least tie for the pennant. I'm not overlooking that, either. today, I'll send Dizzy Dean to take the second game of the series from the Reds.

New Castle Wins Horseshoe Match

New Castle horseshoe pitchers last night defeated the crack Beaver Falls horseshoe team 1,181 to 1,106 in one of the closest matches of the year. New Castle was 828 ringers and Beaver Falls made 905 ringers. The games were 15 for New Castle and 12 for Beaver Falls. A crowd of perhaps 300 watched the matches at the Allen street court.

WOULD LIKE GAMES

Miss Gertrude Lucas and Mrs. H. D. Conn tied for first place in the women's golf match at the Wanango Country club at Oil City. They finished five down to par.

Whiskery won the five-eights mile for county horses in 1:06, Broomoney took the 1 1-8 event in 1:56, Dompa won the other five-eighths event in 1:03 and also finished first in the three-fourths race in 1:17 at the Green county fair at Carmichaels.

Walthour and LaPage at 10 o'clock last night led the six-day bicycle race at Pittsburgh with 1662 miles and 9 laps. They had 281 points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Suffering untold anguish as they watched their slim National league lead dwindle to still slimmer proportions the New York Giants today faced the prospects of standing by idly for the second day in succession as the St. Louis Cardinals resumed their hostilities with the lowly Cincinnati Reds.

As the Giants had feared, the Cardinals continued their relentless drive to subdue the Reds, 8 to 5, and move another half game closer to the lead and are now one-half game back of the New Yorkers. Another St. Louis triumph today and they will deadlock the Giants who do not play again until tomorrow when they meet the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cardinals Favored.

Sentiment among all but the dyed in the wool Giants' fans has been swinging steadily in favor of the Cardinals because of their garrison finish. Seven games back of the New Yorkers on September 6, the Cards are but a half game removed from the top today through 15 victories in their last 20 games. Meanwhile, the Giants have won nine and lost 11 over the same period.

Three errors by Slade paved the way for the huge early lead of the victors, but the Cincinnati club settled down after that and carried the fight to the invaders, outhitting them 13 to 7, but failing to put them together for enough runs to win.

Cubs Top Pirates.

Pitching a steady game, Bill Lee hung up his 13th victory of the year, hurling the Chicago Cubs to a 4 to 2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. He allowed but nine hits, the same as Ralph Birkofer granted the Cubs.

The Phillies, who found the league leading Giants a fairly soft touch, bowed 7 to 2 before the Boston Braves.

Rowe Pounded.

The Detroit Tigers' pitching ace, Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, dropped a game to the Chicago White Sox 11 to 0. Taking things easily, Rowe was pounded for eight runs and eight hits, but he wasn't taking any chances, apparently saving his arm for the world series games, before Firpo Marberry succeeded him.

Titans Play In Cleveland

Westminster Faces John Carroll Team In Cleveland Stadium Tonight

TITANS TO TRAVEL WIDELY FOR GAMES

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Two thousand miles will be covered by the Westminster college football team this season, and the Titans take the first 190 miles of this total today as they go to Cleveland to play John Carroll tonight in the Cleveland stadium.

The Titan squad left this morning for Cleveland, will be quartered in a downtown hotel until shortly before game time, and will return by bus to New Wilmington tonight after the game. A squad of 28 players and six managers and coaches made the trip.

Of the 10 games on the Titan card, six are away from home and one so-called home game is to be played in New Castle. This gives Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane a road team which will cover at least 2,000 miles between now and the last game of the season.

Games are scheduled in New York City, Edinboro, Pa., New Castle, Grove City, Waynesburg and New Concord, O., in addition to tonight's contest in Cleveland.

More than this, the Titans have been selected as the opening opponents for three teams. Last Saturday they opened the season by defeating Slippery Rock 7-0 in the Rockets first game. Tonight's encounter is the first of the season for John Carroll as well as the first under the new coaching regime of Tom Yarr and Mike Koken. Next Saturday, October 6, the Titans travel to New York to open the season for Sleepy Crowley's Fordham Rams.

NEW CASTLE AND CHARLEROI PLAY HERE TONIGHT

RIVALS READY FOR BIG GAME

Charleroi Will Be First Class AA Test Of Year —Game Starts At 8 P. M.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Has New Castle Team Working Smooth For Third Game

EYES of the Class AA high school football conference of Western Pennsylvania will be trained on Taggart stadium tonight where New Castle High school football team, 1933 W. P. I. A. L. major champions will battle Charleroi high, one of the strong contenders for the throne last year. The game marks the first class AA engagement of importance this year. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p. m. The doors of Taggart field will open to the fans at 7 p. m.

Locals On Edge

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has the New Castle high gridders on edge for this important meeting. Last year the Charleroi eleven tried to throw a handful of monkey-wrenches into the "Red Hurricane" machine at Charleroi and the red and blacks were fortunate to pull out a 14 to 6 victory. This year will be no exception.

New Castle has two victories in two games played so far this year, neither of them were of the impressive variety. The "Red Hurricane" can play better football than was shown against Braddock and Ellwood City, is the belief of many who have watched them in the workouts this week.

At Full Strength

Bridenbaugh hopes to have New Castle at full strength for the game tonight.

Fleming will be the signal barker and field general.

On the line will be Wisosky and Tuscano at the ends, Crisci or Palkovitch and at the tackles, Small and Cardella at the guards and Adamo at center.

Coach Stephanian will bring a veteran team to New Castle. Charleroi lost only a few of the regulars by graduation last June and the replacements are said to be even better than the regulars.

If any team is to put a crimp in the victory string of the "Red Hurricane" it will be Charleroi. The Charleroi party will arrive here early in the afternoon and quarter at a local hotel.

Enter Right Gates

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner asks that the fans use the gates at the field their tickets call for. There has been quite a bit of confusion at the various turnstiles by fans wanting to enter the gates without the proper kind of tickets. There are enough turnstiles to handle all of the fans and for whatever price you care to pay to see the game. The student gate at the north end of the field is for students only.

The prices for the Charleroi game will be the same as for the first two games. This is the final night game at home. In event of good weather the turnstiles should sing a merry song as they click merrily on their way shortly after 7 o'clock.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Hail king football!

Another collegiate gridiron season dawns and will officially blossom in all its splendor this week end. With it returns the campus football heroes. Many are veterans but in the majority new faces prevail. All have one thing in common—a determined ambition to win all-American honors.

But before this goal will be gained by a select few, a strenuous campaign, complete with thrills and disappointments, must be experienced. Hard work, difficult schedules and stubborn battles will be the order rather than the exception.

Pennsylvania has its stellar players as well as outstanding teams that must be recognized in the race for national honors. Still they will not be judged on past achievements. The merits of their work and accomplishments during the season now opening will be the basis upon which judgment will be passed.

Dukes-Mountaineers

Encouraged by a 39 to 0 victory over Waynesburg, Duquesne university under its new head coach Joe Bach, has no setup here tonight with West Virginia university as its opposition. How well the "Dukes" know it. Although Bach has produced a speedy and aggressive eleven, he admires the determination and "punch" displayed by the Mountaineer Giants in their 10 to 0 triumph over West Virginia Wesleyan.

I hesitate to predict the winner because from all appearances the contest will be a toss-up with "breaks" likely to be a deciding factor.

Making its initial appearance, Bucknell university, also guided by a new coach, "Hooks" Mylin, faces a formidable foe tonight in Davis-Elkins at Lewisburg. Mylin has brought new gridiron tactics and strategy to Bucknell but it is doubtful whether his inexperienced players will be able to make them click against the veteran squad from West Virginia. Davis-Elkins should have a successful night.

Pitt Favored

Saturday's gridiron menu is more extensive and appetizing.

Far better prepared for the opening kick-off against W. & J. than

Cardinals Want Victory Today

Manager Frankie Frisch Will Send "Dizzy" Dean To Mound Against Reds

International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 28—Frankie Frisch, playing manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, awoke bright and early today, more enthusiastic than ever over his club's chances of winning or at least tieing for the national league pennant.

The Cardinals are now only a half game behind the leading New York Giants as the result of their victory over Cincinnati in the first of a four game series yesterday.

Dean To Pitch

By defeating Cincinnati again this afternoon with the great Dizzy Dean pitching the Cardinals will tie the Giants for the lead. Idle yesterday, the Giants have another open date today.

"I was mighty glad that our team won yesterday," Frisch said. "I realize, of course, it is a matter of a day-to-day proposition.

"We have a real chance to win or at least tie for the pennant. I'm not overlooking that, either. today, I'll send Dizzy Dean to take the second game of the series from the Reds.

"Who will pitch the fourth game? That's too far away. We are thinking of today's game.

New Castle Wins Horseshoe Match

Detroit Tigers Take Things Easy And Lose To White Sox, 11 To 0 — Rowe Pitches

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Suffering untold anguish as they watched their slim National league lead dwindle to still slimmer proportions the New York Giants today faced the prospects of standing by idly for the second day in succession as the St. Louis Cardinals resumed their hostilities with the lowly Cincinnati Reds.

As the Giants had feared, the Cardinals continued their relentless drive to subdue the Reds, 8 to 5, and move another half game closer to the lead and are now one-half game back of the New Yorkers. Another St. Louis triumph today and they will deadlock the Giants who do not play again until tomorrow when they meet the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Seven games back of the New Yorkers on September 6, the Cards are but a half game removed from the top today through 15 victories in their last 20 games. Three errors by Slade paved the way for the huge early lead of the victors, but the Cincinnati club settled down after that and carried the fight to the invaders, outhitting them 13 to 7, but failing to put them together for enough runs to win.

Rowe Pounded.

The Detroit Tigers' pitching ace, Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, dropped a game to the Chicago White Sox 11 to 0. Taking things easily, Rowe was pounded for eight runs and eight hits, but he wasn't taking any chances, apparently saving his arm for the world series games, before Firpo Marberry succeeded him.

Westminster Faces John Carroll Team In Cleveland Stadium Tonight

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Two thousand miles will be covered by the Westminster college football team this season, and the Titans take the first 190 miles of this total today as they go to Cleveland to play John Carroll tonight in the Cleveland stadium.

The Titan squad left this morning for Cleveland, will be quartered in a downtown hotel until shortly before game time, and will return by bus to New Wilmington tonight after the game. A squad of 28 players and six managers and coaches made the trip.

Of the 10 games on the Titan card, six are away from home and one so-called home game is to be played in New Castle. This gives Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane a road team which will cover at least 2,000 miles between now and the last game of the season.

Games are scheduled in New York City, Edinboro, Pa., New Castle, Grove City, Waynesburg and New Concord, O., in addition to tonight's contest in Cleveland.

More than this, the Titans have been selected as the opening opponents for three teams. Last Saturday they opened the season by defeating Slippery Rock 7-0 in the Rockets first game. Tonight's encounter is the first of the season for John Carroll as well as the first under the new coaching regime of Tom Yarr and Mike Koken. Next Saturday, October 6, the Titans travel to New York to open the season for Sleepy Crowley's Fordham Rams.

Being a man of strong convictions is nothing to brag about. The less one knows, the stronger his convictions are.

Three Women In Hauptmann Case

Rumors Bring Forth Three As Important Witnesses In Ransom Case

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—While police, detectives and Department of Justice agents strove manfully to fill in the missing pieces of the chain of evidence being woven about Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today, recurrent rumors brought forward three women as increasingly important witnesses in the Lindbergh case.

The identities of two of the women are being withheld, while the third is Anita Lutzenberg, pretty department store employe, who has already told how Hauptmann walked with a slight limp during the summer of 1932, the year of the kidnaping.

One of the women, according to a high police official, is linked with the recovery of $100 in Lindbergh ransom notes in Maine during the summer of 1933.

This woman's husband, it is said, came to Hauptmann on August 1 of that year and told the carpenter he would like to go on a vacation, but that he had no money. Hauptmann, it is said, then lent the man $100 and he promptly left for Maine and a short time later Lindbergh ransom notes began to crop up in that state.

This revelation sheds new light on the appearance of the ransom notes in Maine, for hitherto it had been believed Hauptmann went to that state on a hunting trip and distributed the bills there himself.

The third woman was reported due to appear at the Bronx district attorney's office for questioning today.

Institutes Are Planned By Syling

Two Day Session Will Be Held In November At Slippery Rock College

Arrangements are being perfected with officials of Slippery Rock State Teachers college for a two-day institute at the college sometime during November to take the place of the institute program formerly carried out in the county, County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling stated today.

It is hoped to have some of the leading educators in the Western Pennsylvania district on the program in addition to the instructors from the Teachers' college.

The institute will likely be held during November as it is almost impossible to make arrangements sooner because of many conflicting meetings in the district during October, which include the educational congress in Harrisburg, convention of the Mid-Western District of the P. S. E. A. at Beaver Falls, and an educational conference at Allegheny college.

American Legion Band To Be Formed

Organization Meeting Will Be Held At Legion Home Next Week

With many splendid musicians available among former members of the New Castle high school band, this group will be used as a nucleus for a new musical organization to be formed in the city, under the sponsorship of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion.

Joseph F. Replogle, director of music at New Castle high school, has consented to become leader of the band, and a meeting has been called for next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Legion home, when the organization will get started.

It is hoped to develop a band of from 50 to 60 pieces to represent the post at legion assemblies and for civic purposes. The band will be uniformed and equipped as speedily as possible, members of the committee representing the Perry S. Gaston post state.

Avert Strike Of Welsh Miners By New Agreement

(International News Service)

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Danger of a disastrous strike of 137,000 coal miners in South Wales, due Monday, had been temporarily averted today by a provisional wage agreement between representatives of miners and mine owners.

Terms of the agreement, which is meant to supplant the wage scale contract expiring tomorrow, will be submitted today to the miners' and owners' organizations.

Two-Year-Old Lad Smokes With Daddy

(International News Service)

FERNDALE, Mich., Sept. 21.—Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilkinson here are likely to be plenty surprised when the couple's two-year-old son, Keith, nonchalantly steps up to his dad and "bums" a pipeful of tobacco or a cigar. Nevertheless he does, and has for the past year.

Last year the boy watched his father smoking a cigar and howled for a puff until he got it. Apparently he liked it, his parents said, because since then he has become a confirmed smoker. Keith suffers no ill effects, they said.

To the true conservative, a darned radical is anybody who has the confidence of men in overalls.

Pennsy Dinner Draws Crowd From Division

Dinner And Informal Evening Enjoyed By 150; Women In Charge

A reunion air prevailed at Pennsylvania railroad headquarters here last night when a group of 150 persons, Pennsylvania men, their wives and their families participated in an informal dinner party held under the auspices of the Woman's Aid of the Erie and Ashtabula division.

Railroad folk from distant points on the division joined New Castle employes and their families for the social get-together, the first to be held under the Woman's Aid direction for some time. It was the first meeting of many of the guests for months.

An entertaining evening of cards and social chat followed a delicious tureen dinner which members of the Aid organization served around 6:30. The assembly room in the Pennsyl freight building was the scene of the festivities.

Heading the women's relief group is Mrs. E. S. Reed, superintendent of the E. and A. branch. She greeted the dinner crowd in a brief talk, her inaugural before a division audience during the evening.

Daniel Laws Fined By Mayor

Daniel Laws, colored, accused of having been implicated in a fight Wednesday night at the home of Ed Davis, Big Run street and during which James Thompson, also colored, was struck with a poker and gallon jug, appeared before Mayor Mayne in police court today. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00, in default of which he was sent to jail for 10 days. Laws claims Thompson had been drinking and insulted him.

Half Owner Saws Dwelling In Two

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 21.—Julian Laskowski owns half a house and wants to take it away with him. But Alex Kisil owns the other half and doesn't like the idea.

A charge filed in Justice Guy B. Knott's court here declares that when Kisil returned to the home he and Laskowski had built to "batch" in, he found Laskowski and a friend very carefully and judicially sawing the house exactly in two.

The complaint says this is "malicious destruction of property" and wants something done about it. The court decided nothing could be done.

And yet, when the earnest citizen is distressed by a threat to liberty, it is always the liberty of somebody else.

Police Asked To Look For Suspects

New Castle Officers Get Request From Detroit In Sensational Case

City police have been asked by Detroit authorities to be on the alert for Merton W. Goodrich, who is wanted there in connection with death of 11 year old Lillian Gallaher. When the former Ohioan disappeared from Detroit trace of his wife also was lost.

In a warrant issued at Detroit the trap drummer is accused of strangling and beating to death the little girl who called at their apartment to sell a chance on a punchboard. Her body was found in a trunk in the Goodrich apartment.

Since then Goodrich and his 25 year old red haired wife, who walks with a limp have been sought. They have been reported to have been seen in different places throughout the middlewest. One of the latest reports received claims Goodrich was seen in Akron Wednesday night.

THE BIG GAMES

Although many teams are still idle and others are playing colleges below their class, this week end brings us a little closer to the grid battles which thrill the nation during October and November. John Carroll, Bucknell, Duquesne, Waynesburg, Indiana, Northwestern, and Temple are playing host to teams that are determined to carry home victories.

Westminster has already played one game which gives them an advantage over their Cleveland rivals. However, some promising new material at John Carroll may result in a defeat for the New Wilmington team.

Bucknell is expecting a good season but more will be known about that after tonight's game. Davis-Elkins has long been an outfit without regard for opponent's reputations or ambitions.

Duquesne and West Virginia both got off to a sensational start and realize a victory tonight will greatly boost their stock. Duquesne can "shoot the works" since they have a greater breather next week against Ashland. However, the Mountaineers go from "bad to worse" since they meet Pitt on the following Saturday.

Waynesburg and Slippery Rock, both having felt the sting of defeat last week will be out to prove their mettle. The Wolfpack never got started in the Duquesne game, if they can forget that struggle they should win, otherwise, the Teachers will be difficult to beat.

Temple inaugurates their season against Virginia Poly. The Southerners showed scoring power against Roanoke last week but face something tougher in the Owls. Warner should be able to win but it will be close.

The Northwestern-Marquette melee is a question mark. It may be a close battle and it may not: depending on the new blood at the Milwaukee school. If the Golden Avalanche sophomores are as good as they claim it will be a close game, otherwise, Northwestern should cop a victory.

Out at Bloomington, Bo McMillin starts his Indiana coaching career against Don Peden's Ohio U. team. The Bobcats will be out to avenge two previous one point defeats by the Hoosiers who will not have yet reached their full strength—it looks like Ohio's year.

Union Gridders At Bridgeville

Union high school football team departed for Bridgeville early today under the supervision of Coach David M. Boyd. The Unionites hope to knock the frosting off of the Bridgeville cake today. The game this afternoon started at 2:30 o'clock.

The Unions had a lot of snap and dash in their workouts during the past week, and hope to get started on the right track today. Coach Boyd will start a new lineup. Chill and Jaskolka have been moved into the backfield.

Says Palestine Now Prosperous

LARGE INFLUX OF POPULATION

Depression is an unknown word in Palestine, at least insofar as the word is considered economically, according to James C. Stewart, a New Castle man who is located in Jerusalem for one of the major oil companies. With his wife, Mr. Stewart has been spending a vacation with his father, Rev. J. S. Stewart of North Mercer street, for some months but plans to return to Palestine shortly.

"The reason for there being no depression in Palestine at the present time is political and social rather than economic," said Mr. Stewart. "We are hoping that certain economic indications continue and if they do, the prosperity will become a permanent thing. In the past ten years 25,000 small industries have been started in Palestine, and in the past two years there has been a tremendous influx of Jews, especially from Germany. The British government which has a mandate over Palestine has insisted on a minimum of $5000 for emigrants coming into the country.

"For example, the city of Tel Aviv, on the coast, near the city of Jaffa, has increased in population in two years from 40,000 to 100,000. It is the only purely Jewish city in the world. The city of Jerusalem has increased in population also in the past two years but nothing like Tel Aviv.

"Jerusalem is composed of 10 per cent Christian people, 20 per cent Jews and the balance of the Moslem faith," said Mr. Stewart.

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of the New Castle high school in 1923 and of Geneva college in 1927. He was born in Palestine, his parents being there in missionary work at his birth . As a boy he was brought to the United States, but for the past year and a half has been in business in Palestine.

Release Couple Taken At Erie

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 28.—Taken into custory because of their slight resemblance to Mr. and Mrs. Merion W. Goodrich, who are sought as suspects in the brutal slaying of Lillian Gallaher, 11-year-old Detroit school girl, a San Francisco couple was released by police here today.

Release of the couple was ordered after police definitely established they are George W. Crooks, 42, and his wife, Mary T. Crooks, 29, of San Francisco. Police said the Californians, travelling east, had nothing to do with the Detroit case.

Stand up and cheer, ladies! Handbags for fall are "sensible." Simple fastenings have been substituted for trick one, and the size of the average daytime bag is capacious and practical.

'GOOD WILL DAY' PROGRAM GAINS HEARTY SUPPORT

Invitations For October 6 Bombard Johnstown, Cairman Reports

The stream of cordial invitations from New Castle citizens and clubs to Johnstown citizens and clubs was swelled today as additional public-spirited organizations and individuals told General Chairman Ralph W. Bolsinger they have sent greetings to that city in behalf of "Johnstown Goodwill Day."

New Castle will open wide its city gate on Saturday, October 6 to welcome the Johnstown residents who will come here to watch, for the first time in history, their team play New Castle high.

Hear Of New Bids

The American Leagion has formally endorsed the movement and has named Norman "Scoots" Nelson to represent it on the general committee; an invitation from Russell Melvin, secretary of the New Castle consistory has gone to Johnstown men who have affiliations with local Masonic bodies: the Castle club, leading social club here, has invited through E. A. Fenton, the Johnstown Bachelor's Club, urging the members to make their stay at the Castle clubrooms in The Castleton that day.

Bolsinger, commander-in-chief of the gala "Goodwill Day" forces estimates that more than 100 personal invitations have also been sent to Johnstown addresses.

A late report which reached the celebration committee is that Johnstown high's alumni association has accepted its invitation and promises to have "our alumni well represented."

The day will bring festivities of an altogether different sort for New Castle, for never before has New Castle so organized itself so well to play the part of host to a visiting football team and its boosters. Some clubs plan evening dinners, others plan to welcome their groups in other ways. And individuals, too will meet other individuals to entertain them for the day.

NEW CASTLE AND CHARLEROI PLAY HERE TONIGHT

RIVALS READY FOR BIG GAME

Charleroi Will Be First Class AA Test Of Year —Game Starts At 8 P. M.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Has New Castle Team Working Smooth For Third Game

EYES of the Class AA high school football conference of Western Pennsylvania will be trained on Taggart stadium tonight where New Castle High school football team, 1933 W. P. I. A. L. major champions will battle Charleroi high, one of the strong contenders for the throne last year. The game marks the first class AA engagement of importance this year. The kickoff is scheduled for 8 p. m. The doors of Taggart field will open to the fans at 7 p. m.

Locals On Edge

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh has the New Castle high gridders on edge for this important meeting. Last year the Charleroi eleven tried to throw a handful of monkey-wrenches into the "Red Hurricane" machine at Charleroi and the red and blacks were fortunate to pull out a 14 to 6 victory. This year will be no exception.

New Castle has two victories in two games played so far this year, neither of them were of the impressive variety. The "Red Hurricane" can play better football than was shown against Braddock and Ellwood City, is the belief of many who have watched them in the workouts this week.

At Full Strength

Bridenbaugh hopes to have New Castle at full strength for the game tonight.

Fleming will be the signal barker and field general.

On the line will be Wisosky and Tuscano at the ends, Crisci or Palkovitch and at the tackles, Small and Cardella at the guards and Adamo at center.

Coach Stephanian will bring a veteran team to New Castle. Charleroi lost only a few of the regulars by graduation last June and the replacements are said to be even better than the regulars.

If any team is to put a crimp in the victory string of the "Red Hurricane" it will be Charleroi. The Charleroi party will arrive here early in the afternoon and quarter at a local hotel.

Enter Right Gates

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner asks that the fans use the gates at the field their tickets call for. There has been quite a bit of confusion at the various turnstiles by fans wanting to enter the gates without the proper kind of tickets. There are enough turnstiles to handle all of the fans and for whatever price you care to pay to see the game. The student gate at the north end of the field is for students only.

The prices for the Charleroi game will be the same as for the first two games. This is the final night game at home. In event of good weather the turnstiles should sing a merry song as they click merrily on their way shortly after 7 o'clock.

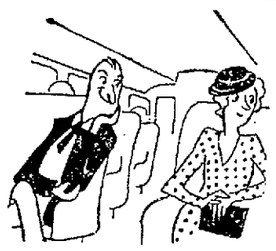
Shenango Plays Slippery Rock

Shenango high school football team is playing Slippery Rock high this afternoon at the Shenango high field at 4 o'clock. Coach Ed. Raney has the Shenangos at the top of their game for the invaders today. Shenango hopes to break into the win column with Horteg, McIltrot and McConahy in the lineup after being laid up by injuries.



Will you look?
That's all we ask.

We'd rather have you pull out your glasses than your check book.

We'd rather have a thousand New Castle men see this display without buying a stitch than show it to only 20 men and sell each a Fall suit.

Poor business, you say . . . well, you may be right . . . but we figure this way . . . that if a thousand pairs of eyes see something worth remembering, it's only natural that a thousand pairs of lips let the cat out of the bag no matter how hard we might try to stop it.

Now is the time for looking them over . . . and this Fall there is lots to see.

Pitt And Tech Are Favored In Opening Battles

Pitt Meets W. & J. At Pittsburgh Saturday — Tech Playing At Geneva

DISTRICT TEAMS ARE IN ACTION

By WARREN (FATS) HELLER
All-American Halfback In 1932
(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Hall king football!

Another collegiate gridiron season dawns and will officially blossom in all its splendor this week end. With it returns the campus football heroes. Many are veterans but in the majority new faces prevail. All have one thing in common—a determined ambition to win all-American honors.

But before this goal will be gained by a select few, a strenuous campaign, complete with thrills and disappointments, must be experienced. Hard work, difficult schedules and stubborn battles will be the order rather than the exception.

Pennsylvania has its stellar players as well as outstanding teams that must be recognized in the race for national honors. Still they will not be judged on past achievements. The merits of their work and accomplishments during the season now opening will be the basis upon which judgment will be passed.

Dukes-Mountaineers

Encouraged by a 39 to 0 victory over Waynesburg, Duquesne university under its new head coach Joe Bach, has no setup here tonight with West Virginia university as its opposition. How well the "Dukes" know it. Although Bach has produced a speedy and aggressive eleven, he admires the determination and "punch" displayed by the Mountaineer Giants in their 10 to 0 triumph over West Virginia Wesleyan.

I hesitate to predict the winner because from all appearances the contest will be a toss-up with "breaks" likely to be a deciding factor.

Making its initial appearance, Bucknell university, also guided by a new coach, "Hooks" Mylin, faces a formidable foe tonight in Davis-Elkins at Lewisburg. Mylin has brought new gridiron tactics and strategy to Bucknell but it is doubtful whether his inexperienced players will be able to make them click against the veteran squad from West Virginia. Davis-Elkins should have a successful night.

Pitt Favored

Saturday's gridiron menu is more extensive and appetizing.

Far better prepared for the opening kick-off against W. & J. than

Cardinals Want Victory Today

Manager Frankie Frisch Will Send "Dizzy" Dean To Mound Against Reds

International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 28—Frankie Frisch, playing manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, awoke bright and early today, more enthusiastic than ever over his club's chances of winning or at least tieing for the national league pennant.

The Cardinals are now only a half game behind the leading New York Giants as the result of their victory over Cincinnati in the first of a four game series yesterday.

Dean To Pitch

By defeating Cincinnati again this afternoon with the great Dizzy Dean pitching the Cardinals will tie the Giants for the lead. Idle yesterday, the Giants have another open date today.

"I was mighty glad that our team won yesterday," Frisch said. "I realize, of course, it is a matter of a day-to-day proposition.

"We have a real chance to win or at least tie for the pennant. I'm not overlooking that, either. today, I'll send Dizzy Dean to take the second game of the series from the Reds.

"Who will pitch the fourth game? That's too far away. We are thinking of today's game.

New Castle Wins Horseshoe Match

New Castle horseshoe pitchers last night defeated the crack Beaver Falls horseshoe team 1,181 to 1,106 in one of the closest matches of the year. New Castle was 828 ringers and Beaver Falls made 905 ringers. The games were 15 for New Castle and 12 for Beaver Falls. A crowd of perhaps 300 watched the matches at the Allen street court.

WOULD LIKE GAMES

Cardinals Defeat Cincinnati As Giants Are Idle, Half-Game Lead Difference

Detroit Tigers Take Things Easy And Lose To White Sox, 11 To 0 — Rowe Pitches

By GENE LAWRENCE
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Suffering untold anguish as they watched their slim National league lead dwindle to still slimmer proportions the New York Giants today faced the prospects of standing by idly for the second day in succession as the St. Louis Cardinals resumed their hostilities with the lowly Cincinnati Reds.

As the Giants had feared, the Cardinals continued their relentless drive to subdue the Reds, 8 to 5, and move another half game closer to the lead and are now one-half game back of the New Yorkers. Another St. Louis triumph today and they will deadlock the Giants who do not play again until tomorrow when they meet the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cardinals Favored.

Sentiment among all but the dyed in the wool Giants' fans has been swinging steadily in favor of the Cardinals because of their garrison finish. Seven games back of the New Yorkers on September 6, the Cards are but a half game removed from the top today through 15 victories in their last 20 games. Meanwhile, the Giants have won nine and lost 11 over the same period.

Three errors by Slade paved the way for the huge early lead of the victors, but the Cincinnati club settled down after that and carried the fight to the invaders, outhitting them 13 to 7, but failing to put them together for enough runs to win.

Cubs Top Pirates.

Pitching a steady game, Bill Lee hung up his 13th victory of the year, hurling the Chicago Cubs to a 4 to 2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. He allowed but nine hits, the same as Ralph Birkofer granted the Cubs.

The Phillies, who found the league leading Giants a fairly soft touch, bowed 7 to 2 before the Boston Braves.

Rowe Pounded.

The Detroit Tigers' pitching ace, Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, dropped a game to the Chicago White Sox 11 to 0. Taking things easily, Rowe was pounded for eight runs and eight hits, but he wasn't taking any chances, apparently saving his arm for the world series games, before Firpo Marberry succeeded him.

Titans Play In Cleveland

Westminster Faces John Carroll Team In Cleveland Stadium Tonight

TITANS TO TRAVEL WIDELY FOR GAMES

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 28.—Two thousand miles will be covered by the Westminster college football team this season, and the Titans take the first 190 miles of this total today as they go to Cleveland to play John Carroll tonight in the Cleveland stadium.

The Titan squad left this morning for Cleveland, will be quartered in a downtown hotel until shortly before game time, and will return by bus to New Wilmington tonight after the game. A squad of 28 players and six managers and coaches made the trip.

Of the 10 games on the Titan card, six are away from home and one so-called home game is to be played in New Castle. This gives Coaches Bill and Tom Gilbane a road team which will cover at least 2,000 miles between now and the last game of the season.

Games are scheduled in New York City, Edinboro, Pa., New Castle, Grove City, Waynesburg and New Concord, O., in addition to tonight's contest in Cleveland.

More than this, the Titans have been selected as the opening opponents for three teams. Last Saturday they opened the season by defeating Slippery Rock 7-0 in the Rockets first game. Tonight's encounter is the first of the season for John Carroll as well as the first under the new coaching regime of Tom Yarr and Mike Koken. Next Saturday, October 6, the Titans travel to New York to open the season for Sleepy Crowley's Fordham Rams.

Being a man of strong convictions is nothing to brag about. The less one knows, the stronger his convictions are.

Falls From Auto; Child Is Injured

Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock David, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Freed of 1025 Court street, fractured his right leg when he fell from the running board of his brother's automobile. The child is in the New Castle hospital.

It was learned this morning that the youngster was jumping on the running board of the auto at the time of the accident. His brother, unaware of the youth's presence, started to back the vehicle, causing the boy to lose his balance and fall from the running board. The youngster's condition today was described as good.

Would Bar Heavy Trucks From Street

Residents of Cedar street, improved with a coat of amiesite recently, today petitioned council at their meeting in city hall to prohibit all heavy trucks from using the thoroughfare between Mahoning avenue and Cherry street. However, the petitioners would not bar heavy trucks which had to furnish service in Cedar street. Indications are that an ordinance will be prepared to conform with the request of the petitioners.

he was last season, Dr. John (Jock) B. Sutherland should not experience a repetition of the anxiety existing before Pitt managed to grab a 9 to 0 victory in 1933. This year, W. & J. is truly a set-up—just what the "Doc" wants to discover the flaws in his combination before stronger opponents — Minnesota, Southern California, Notre Dame—are confronted.

Teach vs. Geneva

Swinging into their second campaign under the tutelage of Howard Harpster, the Tartans of Carnegie Tech go to Beaver Falls to meet Geneva in a "warm-up" game. Fairly successful during his first year at Tech, Harpster should go places with his squad, consisting of many veterans, this fell.

Titans At Cleveland.

The experience gained from its initial tilt with Duquesne should serve Waynesburg well and enable it to score a victory over Slippery Rock Teachers. John Carroll will extend a Cordial welcome to Westminster at Cleveland but the latter should win Friday night's tussle. Lock Haven Teachers hold the edge over California Teachers despite the fact that the game will be played on the latter's field.

Ellwood To Get Big Test With Butler Saturday

Hard Game In Prospect When Blue And White Will Clash With Heinzermen

Locals Hope To Break Butler Jinx At Lincoln High Field Tomorrow

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—One of the largest crowds to gather at Lincoln field is anticipated on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock (D. S. T.) when Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City high gridders will get their second big test of the year when they meet Butler high here.

The locals have put in a week of earnest training in preparation for this titular contest and devising a defense against the Heinzermen. Butler has been a jinx for the blue and white for years and they have never been beaten on the local gridiron. The Benedictmen feel that they can change this on Saturday. The local gridders are in excellent shape for this contest—mentally and physically. They have brushed up on their offense and will spring a number of new plays against the Butlerites.

Great enthusiasm is being evinced here by local followers as to the ability and prospects of the Ellwood high eleven. Optimistic expressions are very free. There is only one question in their minds. An opinion has been proffered that the blue and white played over their heads against New Castle last week, but the majority of fans think that it was a smart brand of football. Nevertheless the game Saturday will settle the question.

Coaches Benedict and Ferrare are only hoping for a dry field for their cohorts, who will depend upon speed and deception against the heavier Butler team. A sample of the blue and white's deception was given last week. The locals should be seen now after an additional week's training and practice. The backfield is very adept in handling the ball and defies the eye to watch it move. Everything has been improved by the Ellwood team. Their shift is a nice spectacle to behold. The same lineup that started last week's game is expected to start on Saturday. Due to the fact that Butler has jerseys similar to Ellwood's, the Benedictmen will wear either all white or all red jerseys, so as to avoid confusion for the fans as well as the players.

By popular demand the price for the remainder of the season has been reduced from 40 to 35 cents for the adults. The student tickets remain the same at 20 cents. Elaborate preparations have been made for the game. The local high school band will perform before the game and between halves. The cheer leaders will be attired in their new uniforms to lead a loud and snappy cheering section. A loud speaking system is expected to be installed again this week, which will aid fans in following the game.

Probable lineups:

V. V. Johnson Is Rotary Speaker

Large Turnout Hears Interesting Talk On Single Tax By Local Man

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28—The Rotary Club met last evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church, with President J. I. Porter, at the keystone position. Novel and highly artistic place cards (it was whispered that President "Jim" himself was the artist) arranged the diners in new and strange groups. This augmented the usual high tide of lively conversation and brilliant repartee. At one table the debate waxed keen over the question as to whether Tugwell's wings were black or white. After daubs of pink and various dark hues were added it was conceded that the color was a dull gray.

Not even the clergyman could give any assurance that this murky hue would be satisfactory to St. Peter.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. V. V. Johnson, who spoke on the subject of the "single tax." Running true to form, Mr. Johnson gave a masterly address on this difficult subject. When he had concluded a barrage of question began to come from many quarters all at once. The president with difficulty controlled the enthusiasm of the neophite single taxers and sent them out not knowing whether they were or were not.

GRANGERS HAVE BOOSTER NIGHT

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—Booster Night was observed at the Pleasant Hill grange last evening when grangers gathered for the regular semi-monthly meeting with a large percentage of their membership in attendance.

Poem—Clair Friday.

Penny March.

Talks—Francis Boak and Mr. Kelso, visiting granges.

Song, "Dwelling in Beulah Land" —grange.

On Thursday evening, October 11, members of the North Beaver grange will bring the traveling gavel to the local grange and on Tuesday evening October 23, the latter's grange will present it to Williard Grange. A program and social time is enjoyed at these meetings.

Plans were made to hold their annual Hallowe'en party on Thursday evening, October 25. Arrangements to be in charge of Dorothy Boots, Anna Weisz, Grace McElwain, Florence McElwain, Lilabell Weingartner, Howard Weisz, Fred Weingartner, James McConnell, Philip Wagner and Chancy Boots.

Dinner Honors Andor Harsanys

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—In honor of Rev. and Mrs. Andor Harsany and family of Ellport, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Callen entertained at a dinner at their home at Ellport on Tuesday evening.

The Harsanys, who have been in charge of the work at the Magyar Presbyterian church for the past several years, will leave next week to enter another field in Yonkers, N. Y.

At a beautifully appointed table centered with garden flowers, the hostess served a most delicious menu. The evening hours were spent informally.

GLEANERS CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—Grace Rossman received members of the Gleaners class of the Wurtemburg Methodist Sunday school at her home in North street last evening with thirteen members participating.

The devotional and business periods were conducted by the president, Mrs. Stella Powell. A social period followed with a dainty repast being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Carl Ketterer and Mrs. Ray Ketterer.

Former Ellwood Resident Dies

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28—Word has been received here today of the passing of Mrs. Julia Grimm, of Sharon, Pa., yesterday. The deceased was 92 years of age and a former resident of this city.

She will be remembered as an old time resident of this city and especially North Sewickley and has visited here annually. She was the daughter of Rev. John Parker, who was pastor of the local Providence Baptist church in 1864. Rev. Parker was a well-known farmer in this vicinity. He had rented the old Knox farm which is now Knox Plan. Mrs. Grimm leaves many descendants and grieved friends in this city.

The accident occurred on the Beaver Falls road near the North Sewickley Grange. According to a report of the accident given State Highway Patrolman F. J. Burns of the Beaver Falls station and the local police, Columbus was on his way to pick some grapes and had some baskets in his arm. Ellwood To Get Big Test With Butler Saturday

Locals Hope To Break Butler Jinx At Lincoln High Field Tomorrow

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—One of the largest crowds to gather at Lincoln field is anticipated on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock (D. S. T.) when Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City high gridders will get their second big test of the year when they meet Butler high here.

The locals have put in a week of earnest training in preparation for this titular contest and devising a defense against the Heinzermen. Butler has been a jinx for the blue and white for years and they have never been beaten on the local gridiron. The Benedictmen feel that they can change this on Saturday. The local gridders are in excellent shape for this contest—mentally and physically. They have brushed up on their offense and will spring a number of new plays against the Butlerites.

Great enthusiasm is being evinced here by local followers as to the ability and prospects of the Ellwood high eleven. Optimistic expressions are very free. There is only one question in their minds. An opinion has been proffered that the blue and white played over their heads against New Castle last week, but the majority of fans think that it was a smart brand of football. Nevertheless the game Saturday will settle the question.

Coaches Benedict and Ferrare are only hoping for a dry field for their cohorts, who will depend upon speed and deception against the heavier Butler team. A sample of the blue and white's deception was given last week. The locals should be seen now after an additional week's training and practice. The backfield is very adept in handling the ball and defies the eye to watch it move. Everything has been improved by the Ellwood team. Their shift is a nice spectacle to behold. The same lineup that started last week's game is expected to start on Saturday. Due to the fact that Butler has jerseys similar to Ellwood's, the Benedictmen will wear either all white or all red jerseys, so as to avoid confusion for the fans as well as the players.

By popular demand the price for the remainder of the season has been reduced from 40 to 35 cents for the adults. The student tickets remain the same at 20 cents. Elaborate preparations have been made for the game. The local high school band will perform before the game and between halves. The cheer leaders will be attired in their new uniforms to lead a loud and snappy cheering section. A loud speaking system is expected to be installed again this week, which will aid fans in following the game.

V. V. Johnson Is Rotary Speaker

Large Turnout Hears Interesting Talk On Single Tax By Local Man

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28—The Rotary Club met last evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church, with President J. I. Porter, at the keystone position. Novel and highly artistic place cards (it was whispered that President "Jim" himself was the artist) arranged the diners in new and strange groups. This augmented the usual high tide of lively conversation and brilliant repartee. At one table the debate waxed keen over the question as to whether Tugwell's wings were black or white. After daubs of pink and various dark hues were added it was conceded that the color was a dull gray.

Not even the clergyman could give any assurance that this murky hue would be satisfactory to St. Peter.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. V. V. Johnson, who spoke on the subject of the "single tax." Running true to form. Mr. Johnson gave a masterly address on this difficult subject. When he had concluded a barrage of question began to come from many quarters all at once. The president with difficulty controlled the enthusiasm of the neophite single taxers and sent them out not knowing whether they were or were not.

THE BIG GAMES

Although many teams are still idle and others are playing colleges below their class, this week end brings us a little closer to the grid battles which thrill the nation during October and November. John Carroll, Bucknell, Duquesne, Waynesburg, Indiana, Northwestern, and Temple are playing host to teams that are determined to carry home victories.

Westminster has already played one game which gives them an advantage over their Cleveland rivals. However, some promising new material at John Carroll may result in a defeat for the New Wilmington team.

Bucknell is expecting a good season but more will be known about that after tonight's game. Davis-Elkins has long been an outfit without regard for opponent's reputations or ambitions.

Duquesne and West Virginia both got off to a sensational start and realize a victory tonight will greatly boost their stock. Duquesne can "shoot the works" since they have a greater breather next week against Ashland. However, the Mountaineers go from "bad to worse" since they meet Pitt on the following Saturday.

Waynesburg and Slippery Rock, both having felt the sting of defeat last week will be out to prove their mettle. The Wolfpack never got started in the Duquesne game, if they can forget that struggle they should win, otherwise, the Teachers will be difficult to beat.

Temple inaugurates their season against Virginia Poly. The Southerners showed scoring power against Roanoke last week but face something tougher in the Owls. Warner should be able to win but it will be close.

The Northwestern-Marquette melee is a question mark. It may be a close battle and it may not: depending on the new blood at the Milwaukee school. If the Golden Avalanche sophomores are as good as they claim it will be a close game, otherwise, Northwestern should cop a victory.

Out at Bloomington, Bo McMillin starts his Indiana coaching career against Don Peden's Ohio U. team. The Bobcats will be out to avenge two previous one point defeats by the Hoosiers who will not have yet reached their full strength—it looks like Ohio's year.

Union Gridders At Bridgeville

Union high school football team departed for Bridgeville early today under the supervision of Coach David M. Boyd. The Unionites hope to knock the frosting off of the Bridgeville cake today. The game this afternoon started at 2:30 o'clock.

The Unions had a lot of snap and dash in their workouts during the past week, and hope to get started on the right track today. Coach Boyd will start a new lineup. Chill and Jaskolka have been moved into the backfield.

Falls From Auto; Child Is Injured

Thursday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock David, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Freed of 1025 Court street, fractured his right leg when he fell from the running board of his brother's automobile. The child is in the New Castle hospital.

It was learned this morning that the youngster was jumping on the running board of the auto at the time of the accident. His brother, unaware of the youth's presence, started to back the vehicle, causing the boy to lose his balance and fall from the running board. The youngster's condition today was described as good.

Would Bar Heavy Trucks From Street

Residents of Cedar street, improved with a coat of amiesite recently, today petitioned council at their meeting in city hall to prohibit all heavy trucks from using the thoroughfare between Mahoning avenue and Cherry street. However, the petitioners would not bar heavy trucks which had to furnish service in Cedar street. Indications are that an ordinance will be prepared to conform with the request of the petitioners.

he was last season, Dr. John (Jock) B. Sutherland should not experience a repetition of the anxiety existing before Pitt managed to grab a 9 to 0 victory in 1933. This year, W. & J. is truly a set-up—just what the "Doc" wants to discover the flaws in his combination before stronger opponents — Minnesota, Southern California, Notre Dame—are confronted.

Teach vs. Geneva

Swinging into their second campaign under the tutelage of Howard Harpster, the Tartans of Carnegie Tech go to Beaver Falls to meet Geneva in a "warm-up" game. Fairly successful during his first year at Tech, Harpster should go places with his squad, consisting of many veterans, this fall.

Titans At Cleveland.

The experience gained from its initial tilt with Duquesne should serve Waynesburg well and enable it to score a victory over Slippery Rock Teachers. John Carroll will extend a Cordial welcome to Westminster at Cleveland but the latter should win Friday night's tussle. Lock Haven Teachers hold the edge over California Teachers despite the fact that the game will be played on the latter's field.

Ellwood To Get Big Test With Butler Saturday

Hard Game In Prospect When Blue And White Will Clash With Heinzermen

Locals Hope To Break Butler Jinx At Lincoln High Field Tomorrow

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—One of the largest crowds to gather at Lincoln field is anticipated on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock (D. S. T.) when Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's Ellwood City high gridders will get their second big test of the year when they meet Butler high here.

The locals have put in a week of earnest training in preparation for this titular contest and devising a defense against the Heinzermen. Butler has been a jinx for the blue and white for years and they have never been beaten on the local gridiron. The Benedictmen feel that they can change this on Saturday. The local gridders are in excellent shape for this contest—mentally and physically. They have brushed up on their offense and will spring a number of new plays against the Butlerites.

Great enthusiasm is being evinced here by local followers as to the ability and prospects of the Ellwood high eleven. Optimistic expressions are very free. There is only one question in their minds. An opinion has been proffered that the blue and white played over their heads against New Castle last week, but the majority of fans think that it was a smart brand of football. Nevertheless the game Saturday will settle the question.

Coaches Benedict and Ferrare are only hoping for a dry field for their cohorts, who will depend upon speed and deception against the heavier Butler team. A sample of the blue and white's deception was given last week. The locals should be seen now after an additional week's training and practice. The backfield is very adept in handling the ball and defies the eye to watch it move. Everything has been improved by the Ellwood team. Their shift is a nice spectacle to behold. The same lineup that started last week's game is expected to start on Saturday. Due to the fact that Butler has jerseys similar to Ellwood's, the Benedictmen will wear either all white or all red jerseys, so as to avoid confusion for the fans as well as the players.

By popular demand the price for the remainder of the season has been reduced from 40 to 35 cents for the adults. The student tickets remain the same at 20 cents. Elaborate preparations have been made for the game. The local high school band will perform before the game and between halves. The cheer leaders will be attired in their new uniforms to lead a loud and snappy cheering section. A loud speaking system is expected to be installed again this week, which will aid fans in following the game.

V. V. Johnson Is Rotary Speaker

Large Turnout Hears Interesting Talk On Single Tax By Local Man

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28—The Rotary Club met last evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church, with President J. I. Porter, at the keystone position. Novel and highly artistic place cards (it was whispered that President "Jim" himself was the artist) arranged the diners in new and strange groups. This augmented the usual high tide of lively conversation and brilliant repartee. At one table the debate waxed keen over the question as to whether Tugwell's wings were black or white. After daubs of pink and various dark hues were added it was conceded that the color was a dull gray.

Not even the clergyman could give any assurance that this murky hue would be satisfactory to St. Peter.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. V. V. Johnson, who spoke on the subject of the "single tax." Running true to form, Mr. Johnson gave a masterly address on this difficult subject. When he had concluded a barrage of question began to come from many quarters all at once. The president with difficulty controlled the enthusiasm of the neophite single taxers and sent them out not knowing whether they were or were not.

Charges Denied By Hauptmann

Accused Lindbergh Ransom Receiver Continues To Claim Innocence

MAKES STATEMENT TO NEWSPAPER MAN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—In his first direct contact with the press since his arrest early last week, Bruno Richard Hauptmann today emphatically reiterated his claim that he is innocent of any connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping.

Hauptmann's statement came when an International News Service reporter submitted a list of questions to the sullen Bronx carpenter in his cell in the Bronx county jail. The questions were delivered to Hauptmann by his attorney, James M. Fawcett, and the latter's assistant, Bernard M. Meisels.

Q. What was your reaction to the extortion indictment?

A. I can't see how the grand jury could accuse me of anything.

Q. Were you as nervous as you appeared to be in court?

A. I was nervous.

Q. What are your thoughts about your wife and child?

A. I love them dearly and hope to return to them soon.

Q. Do you still feel confident of acquittal?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Do you still maintain that you are innocent of extortion?

A. Yes, I do. I am not guilty of anything.

Q. Are you taking Mr. Fawcett into your full confidence?

A. Yes, I am.

Q. What word do you want to send to your mother in Germany?

A. I am innocent. I send her my love.

Q. Did Isidor Fisch, the man whom you describe as the actual owner of the money found in your garage, ever indicate by any hint that he was mixed up in the Lindbergh kidnaping.

A. No.

Q. Did you suffer a leg injury early in 1932?

A. No.

Q. Did you spend this so-called ransom money with the knowledge that it was ransom money?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever see Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon before the kidnaping?

A. No.

Q. After the kidnaping did you see him at any time before he was called down to confront you?

A. No, I never saw Dr. Condon before in my life.

Q. You say you never saw the child dead or alive.

A. I never saw the baby at all.

Indecent Show Is Raided By State Police Troopers

Arrest 140 Men And Owner Of Roadhouse Near Pittsburgh, Girls Dance Nude

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—The musicians had just struck up "Here Come The British" as a party at the Dells in nearby Wildwood road moved toward a climax.

But the melody-makers missed their cue, or something or other, for instead of the "British", in marched a squad of 10 officers from the state police barracks at Butler and proceeded to stop what was termed an alleged indecent show.

More than 150 spectators, 95 per cent of them males, the raiders said, had their eyes glued on a chorus of nude dancing girls when they surprisingly entered, and immediately changed the scene of dancing, singing and drinking to one of hurry-scurry on the parts of the audience.

Arrests of 140 persons, including the dancers, followed. Clarence Faulhauber, while denying any connection with the performance was charged today with conducting an immoral show and held under $1,000 bond. Faulhauber said he had rented the Dells to a veterans' organization for the entertainment.

Love vs. Legacy

Wedding intentions filed in Boston by Dorothea Rose Yallea, Memphis, Tenn., student at Radcliffe College, and Lester J. Carlisle, Jr., Harvard student, have been cancelled because of her belated discovery that she loses legacy if she weds before she's 21. She's 20.

Flower Show At Mahoning School

Students Place Flowers And Vegetables From Their Gardens On Exhibition

A colorful display of flowers and vegetables in the first floor corridor of Mahoning school attracted parents and friends of the students Thursday afternoon.

It was undoubtedly the best flower show Mahoning school has ever had. The large number of exhibits attested to the great interest the students had taken in their gardens this summer.

Scores of vari-colored garden flowers were exhibited. One table was devoted to a display of garden vegetables and included everything from summer squash to huge pumpkins, peppers, potatoes, beets and endive. Another table was devoted to a display of freak vegetables and "garden handcrait." Here an amusing array of potato baby dolls, pepper and squash canoes and tomato porcupines could be seen.

Mrs. William Howley of the Lawrence County Garden club was present and it was the garden club which was responsible for the judging and awarding of the prize ribbons. A list of ribbon winners will appear in these columns Saturday.

The 7A and 9B-2 classes of Mahoning school are leading the junior high school mushball league and will play for the championship next week. Lindora Lauro and Louis Dominick are the captains.
